POWER.

Give me a lever long enough
And a prop strong enough,
I can single-handed move the world.
—Archimedes.

News item: Several French grand opera stars are at the front.

No wonder the Germans are re-treating.

While remaining strictly neutral, we maintain that any country that would name a city "Przemysl" ought not to be allowed to exist.

This is the night for the church receptions to students. These gatherings are always largely attended, especially by new students, as they furnish an excellent opportunity to get acquainted. If you have no pronounced convictions against churches, select one and attend. It is always good to meet together in social gatherings.

A GOOD MOVE.

The fraternities have been adversely criticised on the grounds of indirectly discouraging scholarship, and of directly encouraging extravagance and snobbishness. That this criticism has some foundation in fact thoughtful observers will not deny.

The mass meeting last evening was a refutation in part of these ugly charges. It was the beginning of a movement of the fraternities to square themselves in the eyes of the public. The Freshmen were told that scholarship is the foundation of a successful college career; that society doors do not necessarily open because of heavy pocketbooks; and that snobbishness is an attribute of mediocre and petty minds. The meeting seemed charged with a spirit of desire to make the fraternities of positive value to the University.

It is to be hoped that the Greeks are in earnest. If the advice of the older fraternity men is not heeded, if the fraternities continue to hold a position of doubtful value to the University, then the end is not far off. What is incompatible with college efficiency and democracy will not long be tolerated.

Football Among Our Rivals

Clyde Williams, Director of Athletics at Ames writes that their football prospects are a great deal better than last year.

Pictures of the Washburn huskies are on exhibition in one of the downtown store fronts. All day yesterday the crowds were gathered admiring the leaf which loomed up before them.

South Dakota plays freshmen. From all reports that bunch of freshmen they have this year makes the remains from their 'varsity of last year look sick. They are reported to lack the greenness of ordinary freshmen.

Director of Athletics Hamilton of Kansas writes modestly that, "It begins to look as though we would have a fairly good team." Nebraska will have all the competition she desires when the Jayhawkers line up on Nebraska Field.

All of our rivals are supporting a hospital list almost as long as ours. The strain of early training is felt more at this time than any other. Give the huskies another two weeks and the strained ligaments and 'Charley Horses' will disappear.

There was a Michigan man on the campus the other day who had a great many wild tales to tell about that bunch from the Michigan Aggie campus. "I think they will wallop Michigan," he remarked. A good chance to put another feather in our cap.

Ames is to have a new hotel. This news will be a source of delight to all athletic teams who have the pleasure of competing with the Iowa State College. Any manager who has ever visited Ames will tell you of the trials he has undergone in obtaining food and shelter for his proteges.

Have you met a citizen of Iowa recently? He isn't bashful at all in telling you what the huskies of his state are going to do to us when we journey to Iowa City November 21. That determination means that everybody must begin to save sheekles for a little ride. We may run two special trains.

Swearing has been prohibited on McCook Field by the new University of Kansas coach. He issued the order Tuesday and says that it must be enforced. The sentiment of making the game a gentleman's game is rapidly developing. The initiative of cleaning the game has been taken by the players on Nebraska Field.

THIRD FRESHMAN OUT.

Kenneth Martin From Omaha Has Entered—Close Race Expected in Battle—Final.

The final outcome of the Freshmen battle is still more doubtful with Kenneth Martin of Omaha in the race. Gerrie, the Omaha man already mentioned in the Nebraskan, and Jack Lyons, who has also announced himself, are his opponents.
