SORENSEN MADE PRESIDENT

Halligan, Vice President; Poteet, Secretary, and Price, Treasurer—Locke and Gilligan Spoke.

At a meeting held at the University Temple the other night, a non-partisan Howell Club was formed with an initial membership of one hundred and forty University students. C. A. Sorensen, '13, "Wilson republican," a student in the law college, well known as a University debater, and editor of the Daily Nebraskan, was elected president. Other officers are: Victor Halligan, democrat, captain of the football team, vice president; Marcus Poteet, republican, secretary; Harold Prince, republican, treasurer. Of the 140 charter members of the organization, fifty were democrats, two registered as socialists, nine as progressives, and eighty-nine republicans. Of the republicans, twenty-five designated themselves as "Wilson republicans."

Mr. Sorensen called the meeting to order. The forming of such an organization, he said, is of profound significance, signifying the downfall of the pernicious party loyalty which has bound voters to unfit politicians and candidates. These democrats, republicans, progressives and socialists found themselves agreeing in supporting R. B. Howell for governor because he stands for the better things in politics. He is able, honest and fights for his convictions.

W. L. Locke discussed Howell's qualifications for governor and pronounced him by far the most promising political figure now on the Nebraska horizon. He illustrated the candidate's character by instances in his labors for municipal ownership in Omaha, his efficient defense of the municipal water plant before Nebraska legislatures, his businesslike management of that enterprise in Omaha.

POLITICAL FIGHT ON TOMORROW

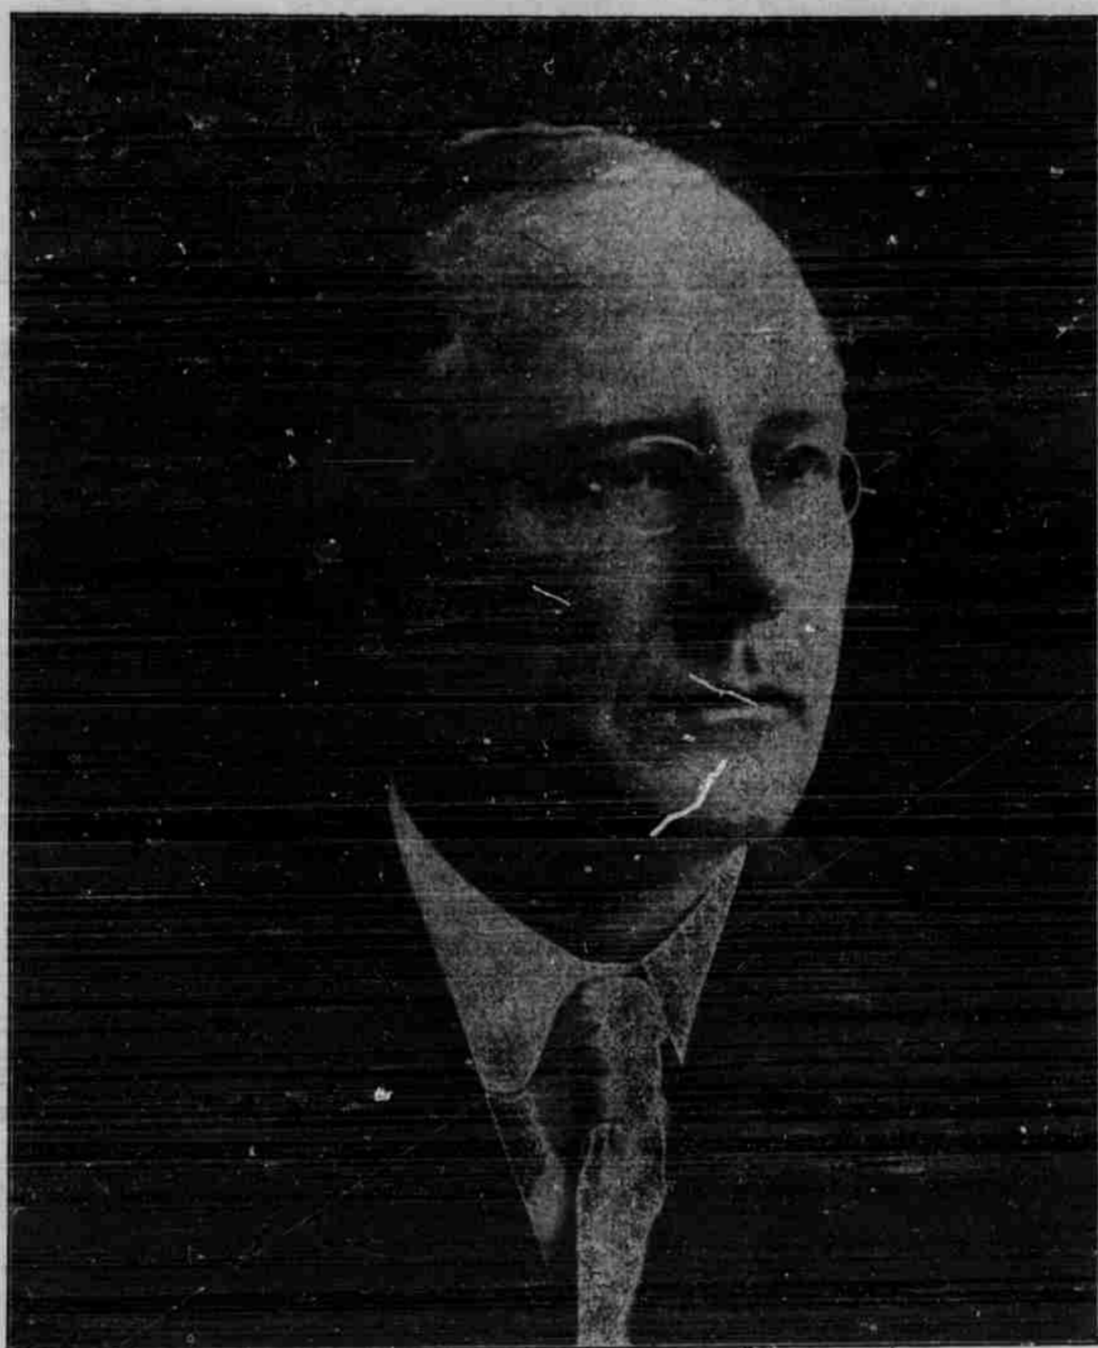

Eight Men in Race—Lanz Has No Opposition—Ganz and Halligan for Senior Honor.

The fight is on. At five o'clock Friday evening registration closed with a list of promising candidates. The past few days has added decided changes to the political situation. A number of men who had been lying low did not announce themselves until the last few hours of registration.

Tomorrow the polls are open from 9 to 12 and from 2 to 5. The following named students have filed as candidates for the presidencies of the various classes indicated:

Freshman—Kenneth K. Martin, Wallace A. Gerrie, and John A. Lyons.
Sophomore—Harry K. Grainger and Roy J. Harney.
Junior—John E. Lanz.
Senior—Carl D. Ganz and Victor Halligan.

WHO'S WHO

CHANCELLOR AVERY

Chancellor Samuel Avery was born in LaMoille, Illinois, in 1865, and received his early education in the schools of that place. Coming to Nebraska in the early '80's, he settled on a farm near Unadilla. He soon concluded, however, that a college education was a desirable asset, so he entered Doane College in 1883 and graduated in 1887. Having decided to make educational work his life calling, he came to the University of Nebraska and took a Bachelor of Science degree in 1892, and a Master of Arts degree in 1894. By that time he had become a confirmed specialist in chemistry, and following the example of many other eminent men who have won distinction in the scientific field, he decided to go to Germany for further study. He took his doctor's degree from Heidelberg in 1896.

He began his life work as teacher of chemistry in the Nebraska Agricultural Experiment Station in 1896. In 1899 he accepted a call to the Chemistry department of the University of Idaho, in which place he remained until 1901. In that year he returned to the University of Nebraska and again became connected with our department of Chemistry. His promotion was rapid, and in 1905 he was made head of the department. Upon the resignation of Chancellor Emeritus Andrews in 1908, he was selected as Acting Chancellor to serve until a regular chief was formally appointed. In 1909 this temporary appointment was made permanent, and he became Chancellor of the University of Nebraska, which position he has since held.

Doctor Avery is the holder of many honors and prizes in scholarship and science, is the author of several chemical publications, and has lectured widely on scientific subjects. In 1909 the University of Idaho conferred upon him the degree Doctor of Laws.

ALL CHURCHES HOLD RECEPTIONS FRIDAY

Hundreds of Students Visit at Their Respective Churches—Freshmen Become Acquainted.

Friday evening the various churches of Lincoln held student receptions in their church parlors. It has been the custom for several years for the different churches to entertain the students some time during the first few weeks of school, but this year the Chancellor urged the churches to all have their receptions on the same evening. Acting upon this suggestion, the date was fixed for October 2. The meetings were all of an informal nature and after short programs the evening was spent in various amusements designed to acquaint the old and new students with the people of the church. The churches are making concentrated efforts to make students feel at home in the church of their choice and the student reception is the initial step in this process.

HARLEY WITHDRAWN.

One of the earliest candidates for the senior presidency, Robert Harley, withdrew his filing late Friday afternoon. He declares that the reason for his withdrawal is the candidacy of Victor Halligan, to whom Mr. Harley has pledged his hearty support. This leaves only two men in the race for the senior presidency, Captain Halligan of the 1914 team and Carl Ganz.

APPOINTMENTS MADE TO FILL VACANCIES

Allison, Ewing and Grainger Lucky Ones—No More Changes This Year.

On the 29th of last May, fifty-three men were given commissions to officer the Cadet Regiment for the ensuing year. To date there have been twenty new appointments to fill the places of those who have dropped out or have been moved up. This moving up process has left the regiment almost bare of second and third lieutenants.

An order was published Friday making J. E. Allison, former captain of Company M, major of the Third battalion, and L. L. Ewing of Company D, captain of Company M. By the same order Harry K. Grainger was advanced to the first lieutenancy of Company D. It is thought that, with the exception of a few minor adjustments from time to time, there will be no more changes this year.

MUCH FUMBLING MARS GAME

Nebraska Team Shows Promise for Another Missouri Valley Championship, But Are Sadly in Need of Experience.

(By H. I. Kyle.)

In a game marked by many brilliant gains and marred by many costly fumbles, the Cornhuskers initiated the season by defeating the whirlwind Ichabods by the score of 14 to 7. On Nebraska's side the game was an exhibition of brilliant individual playing, coupled with miserable team work, while Washburn's game was the epitome of both.

Statistics of the game show that Nebraska carried the ball for a total of 481 yards, making first down seventeen times, as against 173 yards and only one first down for her opponents. Rutherford, Halligan, Chamberlain, Howard, Norris, Corey, not one but gained handsomely and consistently. Time and again they tore down the field, leaving a jumble of "Blue Devils" in their wake, only to lose the ball on a fumble when in sight of their goal. Practically the only time the Ichabods succeeded in getting an explorer into Nebraska territory was when Beales, their ruddy little left halfback, got away for his spectacular fifty-yard run around left end for a touchdown.

Nebraska was penalized four times for a total of forty yards; Washburn was set back once for five yards. Nebraska was especially unfortunate in fumbling the ball at critical times. Of her eight muffs, Nebraska recovered only one, while Washburn recovered two or her four fumbles. In returning punts, Howard had considerable edge on his rival, carrying the ball back eighty-seven yards in eight trials, while Ream, for Washburn, returned the ball for a total of only ten yards in his three chances.

Chamberlain was Nebraska's star

FARMER ENGINEERS HOLD FIRST MEETING

Dean Stout Speaks on Drainage Project—All Engineers Urged to Attend These Meetings.

The first meeting of the Agricultural Engineering Society, which was held last Thursday evening, was well attended. Dean Stout gave an interesting talk on the Elkhorn and Missouri valley drainage project. He also read portions of Mr. Toole's report. Mr. Toole of Omaha was engineer in charge of investigations. Dean Stout, who acted in the capacity of consulting engineer, also gave a general summary of his own report. He emphasized the importance of being able to make out a good report, as a large number of engineers are lacking in this respect.

All agricultural engineers are advised to come out to these meetings, which are instructive as well as interesting.
