Still achieving, still pursuing,
Learn to labor and to wait.
—Longfellow.

Ten complimentaries have been issued for the Sophomore Hop. Isn't this poor policy? Isn't it hard enough to make a dance pay without distributing comps right and left? And, again, why should members of the Sophomore class pay for the tickets of the presidents of the other classes? Doesn't it smell a little bit of petty graft?

PARTY LOYALTY.

It is worth the time to read Washington Irving's opinion of party labels and loyalty. He notes with Hesiod that mankind may be divided into three classes—those who think for themselves, those who think as others think, and those who do not think at all. After observing that the second kind make up the great mass, he declares that he wishes to take notice of "the great benefit of party distinctions in saving the people at large the trouble of thinking."

To him a party "means a large body of people, some few of whom think and all the rest talk." The politicians lead the way, "prescribing what they must say, what they must approve, what they must hoot at, whom they must support, but, above all, whom they must hate; for no one can be a right good partisan who is not a thoroughgoing hater."

After all, was he not right in condemning the putting of party loyalty ahead of one's own power of reasoning?

STUDENTS ON PROBATION.

Celebrated Too Much After Saturday's Game—Must Not Occur Again.

The practice indulged in by some students to "celebrate" after football victories by trying to drink the town dry is frowned at by the University authorities. Several students who did that after the last game have been put on probation and any future offense will be punished by suspension.

MID-SEMESTER EXAMS WILL SOON BE HERE

Will Take Place During Eighth Week of the Term—New Students Want to Join P. B. K.

The mid-semester examinations will be held in the near future and they are destined to strike fear into the hearts of the verdant Frosh and the great and wise Sophomore. The exams will be held during the eighth week of the term, that is from November 9 to 14.

Already the students are beginning to inquire into their standings as aspirants to the great and dignified P. B. K., which may be a new "frat" for all the Frosh knows. The Soph however, tells his younger brother who is a Frosh here that it is a frat and that he was "rushed" by them when he was a Frosh. The aspirants to this honorable society are now beginning to make the start on the grand "cram" and to pray fervently that they will be successful in their efforts.

Missouri Maids Wear Derbies. Women students at the University of Missouri are not allowing feminism to affect their personal adornment. Stylish velvet turbans with their crowning glory, a spraying bird-of-paradise plume, have gradually been replaced by felts, derbies Stetsons and English knockabout hats. Columbia haberdashers have sold so many men's hats to women they feel confident the style has come to stay.

GOOD CO-ED CHEERER AT FOOTBALL GAMES

Attends All Practices and Follows the Game All the Time—Also a Tennis Player.

How many Co-eds at Nebraska, who cheer the football team at the games really know how much effort and time it has taken on the part of the men in the game and those on the sidelines, to get into shape to play a great game and win it? At least one. Those who have followed the team in its daily practice, have day after day noticed that one lone co-ed is always on hand to watch the practice. Whether it be running signals or punting, or tackling or scrimmage she lends encouragement by her presence. Not only has the admiration of the men on the field been aroused by this rare exhibition of loyalty but the male contingent on the bleachers is loud in its praises of this one co-ed who stands by the team all the time.

PAINTING LECTURE NOT GIVEN TUESDAY

Paintings Have Been Removed, So Lecture Was Postponed—Good Talk Missed.

The lecture which was to have been given in Art Hall by Kaoru Kobayashi, Tuesday at 5 o'clock, was dispensed with owing to the fact that the Japanese paintings had been removed and the lecture would have been of little interest without them.

Mr. Kobayashi is a graduate of the Imperial University in Tokio, and a graduate student of the department of sociology in the University of Chicago. The students feel that in missing this lecture they have been deprived of a very interesting and helpful talk.
