OUR DEEDS.

Our deeds still travel with us from afar.

And what we have been makes us what we are.

—George Eliot.

We wonder if the Senior committee will also give comps to the presidents of the other classes. If it does, our worst suspicions are confirmed.

Hixenbaugh wants to know when we are going to write another war editorial. We beg to say that we are tired of the whole mess. Our present interest is wholly in the coming conflict between the Nebraska Germans and the Russian Iowa farmers.

A NEW EPOCH.

Four or five days ago we proposed that a new University committee be appointed to have for its work the arranging of all-University social functions. Yesterday afternoon Chancellor Avery appointed such a committee.

It is an event of some significance. It marks, we hope, the beginning of the end of that sharp, unnatural, un-called-for, undemocratic social cleavage between the wearers and non-wearers of Greek pins.

Here is the beginning of good social times for all University people. It makes possible wholesome enjoyment for all students and under University auspices. Under Miss Graham's direction we may well expect this committee to plan excellent things along the line of all-University social gatherings.

MOVING PICTURES OF FARM WORK TAKEN

Will be Shown Throughout the State—Shows the Ag Students in All Departments of His Work.

A new innovation is being carried on out at the College of Agriculture. It is a moving picture affair. The idea of the School of Agriculture is to show the people over the state what they are doing in that institution. The state motion picture machine is being used in the work and the films will be sent over the state when finished.

In the film we see the agriculture student in every phase of his college life. The pictures start with his being on the farm and receiving a circular from the school of agriculture at Lincoln and how he and the folks talk it over and finally decide to send the lad to school here. He packs his grips and leaves for Lincoln; he is met at the train and taken out to the farm. He is next shown registering and then finally lined up in his work. After this we see him in his work at the forge and the various other kinds of work that the Ag students do.

He is next shown in the social life of the institution and in his room, and in fact, everywhere he goes. At Xmas he will go home and not be worth a "durn" for a while and then he will buckle in and work like everything. He will come back after the vacation and attend to his studies again. He finally completes his course and goes home to put into use his education. He becomes a very successful farmer and owes it to the training he got in the agricultural college here.

The films will be sent to the various picture shows to be shown especially to the children in the grades and to the farmer lads. This is to be under the direction of the superintendent of the School of Agriculture, Bradford, and Dr. Condra. The doctor is highly enthused over the plan and is quite sure of the ultimate success of it.

E. L. TROYER.

In asking you students for your vote November 3d, for County Coroner, I feel assured that I will receive same after you know the circumstances.

I have been in business and paid taxes in Lancaster county for over twenty years. My policy is to fill the office in a straightforward, business-like and economical way, saving all the expense possible. My opponent has had this office three and one-half terms, or seven years, and when he ran for this office he said his opponent had had this office long enough, and he was elected for that reason. Now, may I have your support?

Yours truly,

E. L. TROYER.

For County Coroner.

ATTENDANCE GROWS AT SYMPHONY TALKS

Meeting Held Every Saturday in Preparation For the Coming Symphony Held in Art Hall.

All who are interested in music will be glad to learn that special symphony meetings are held in Art Hall every Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock. These meetings held in preparation for the symphony programs given are very informal and simple and are open to anyone who wishes to take advantage of them. The numbers attending are steadily increasing and anyone who has attended once feels that he cannot afford to miss any of them.

The meeting for the coming Saturday will be on the second Symphony concert to be given at Convocation next Thursday. Professor Dann has promised at that time to play over the whole symphony taking it apart, explaining the themes and motives of the composition. This will enable people to understand the music better when played on Thursday and is sure to be very helpful and interesting.

Loeb's orchestra, L-9896, 325 So. 17.

POLITICAL ADV.

WILLIS E. REED.

In the selection of an attorney general the people of the state have a doubly grave duty before them this year. The problem is rendered acute because the duties of the office have increased perceptibly in the past two years, and the desire of big interests to control this office are whetted. Willis E. Reed of Madison is the democratic nominee. He has a record un-sullied by association with the extreme corporation business. He possesses a sense of justice that will enable him to give all persons and all corporations a wholesome and square deal. His alignment is so strongly with the people that they are assured their interests will be most ably protected. And his sense of justice is so marked that corporations themselves will be assured of fair treatment—though not to the disadvantage of the greatest good of the greatest number.—Advertising.
