CONTEST AT FARM

AGRICULTURAL STUDENTS JUDGE STOCK FOR PRIZES.

NINE TEAMS OF FIVE EACH

International Stock Show at Chicago Cancelled This Year But Students Given Chance to Test Ability at Home.

A stock judging contest consisting of nine teams of five students was held at the University Farm Saturday in the stock judging pavilion. Thirteen prizes, aggregating $100, were offered. Owing to the fact that the International Stock Show at Chicago has been cancelled this year and no team could be sent to represent the institution, the contest was offered to the students at the farm as a special opportunity to test their ability in competitive stock judging.

Three teams were made up of the fifteen men who were trying out for the team that was to have represented the College of Agriculture at the International Stock Show. Another team was composed of last year's stock judging team that was sent to Chicago. Another team was made up of the students who have represented the College of Agriculture on the stock judging team in previous years. One team each was taken from the Senior, Junior, and Sophomore classes of the School of Agriculture. A group of men who have been on previous dairy teams at the National Dairy Show also entered the competition.

The thirteen prizes aggregating $100 offered by the Union Stockyards Company of South Omaha, were divided as follows: $18 for the student scoring the best in all judging of the 15 classes; $15 for second; $12 for third; $10 for fourth; and $9, $8, $7, $6, $5, $4, $3, $2, and $1 for the remaining places.

Following were the judges for the different classes:

Cattle—W. A. Cochel, head of the department of animal husbandry, Kansas Agricultural College, Manhattan. Alternate, Dean E. A. Burnett.

Horses—John Dalton, retired horse breeder, Lincoln.

Hogs—Elmer Lamb of the Independent Farmer and a breeder of Duroc Jersey hogs.

Sheep—G. W. Hervey, associate editor of the Twentieth Century Farmer and an experienced sheep breeder, feeder, and judge at state fairs.

FRESHMEN GIRLS' PARTY A SUCCESS

Large Enthusiastic Crowd Present—Mock Track Meet—Girls Want More Parties.

The Freshman girls held their first party of the year in the Armory Saturday afternoon. A large crowd was present, all enthusiastic, and all reported a very enjoyable afternoon and a great deal of spirit was shown. The purpose of the party was for the girls to get acquainted with one another. There was a short program and mock track meet and the rest of the afternoon was spent in dancing.

Refreshments were served and the girls all decided that they would like to have more of these parties during the year.

THANKSGIVING CONVOCATION.

Last Convocation Before Thanksgiving to be Featured by Program.

A short program has been arranged for the Convocation tomorrow and it is expected that the students will turn out in such large numbers as to fill the building. Following the reading of the proclamation by the governor, Buck's "Te Deum" will be given by the University chorus with the student quartet. This is a very pretty piece of choral work. In closing the morning hour, "America" will be sung by the chorus and audience.

AGRICULTURE WEEK IS COMING, DECEMBER 7-12

Will Have Charge of Convocation—Big Dance—Fouts Head of Committee.

Agriculture week, December 7-12, will be the most successful college week ever pulled off at Nebraska—so say the "Ags." A varied program has been arranged for. Numerous events will be given which are of interest to everyone in the University.

The farmers will have charge of Convocation for one day. There will be a rousing rally for Ag students only, either in town or at the farm.

For Friday night the Committee has planned a big general Aggie dance, in Rosewilde Hall, and has secured the services of Hagensick's Orchestra for the occasion.

Many other events are now being planned. On the whole the Agricultural students expect to show the rest of the school a very live time.

The committeemen in charge of affairs for the Agriculturists are: Fouts, chairman; Hanly, Whisenend, Partridge, Rice, Possen and Richey.

STUDENTS WERE URGED TO ATTEND CHURCH YESTERDAY

University Pastors and Y. M. C. A. Sent Out Invitations—Was All University Church Day.

The University pastors and Y. M. C. A. secretary sent out invitations asking the students to attend church Sunday. The invitation read as follows:

"The University Federation of Church Workers is asking the student body to observe November 22nd as All University Church Day. While not desiring to place undue emphasis upon any one day, they believe that the Sunday preceding our Thanksgiving festivities would be an especially appropriate time for all who are interested to attend some church service. We believe this is commendable, and trust that the great majority of students will find it possible to be present in some morning service on that day.

"CHAS. E. BESSEY,
"L. A. SHERMAN,
"CARL C. ENBERG,
"CHAS. FORDYCE,
"WM. G. HASTINGS,
"R. H. WOLCOTT,
"G. A. LUCKEY."

In response to this invitation a large per cent of the student body attended the various churches.

A large and appreciative audience of fans heard Bill Kavan read the report of the game from the Star's window.

CORNHUSKER STAFF

MANY APPOINTMENTS MADE AND WORK ALREADY BEGUN.

"HUSKER" OUT BY MAY FIRST

Editorial Staff Complete—Annual to Have Many New Features and Will be the Best Ever.

With the announcement of the following students as members of the editorial staff, Editor Samuelson has begun active work on the 1915 "Cornhusker." As of yore, his one assertion is that the publication is to be out the first day of May. In order to accomplish this end all material must be submitted by the 25th day of March.

While the appointments have been quite numerous, only those who show an active interest in the work will remain on the staff at the final wind-up.

The publication board has decided this year to place the staff, business manager and editor on a purely percentage basis. Consequently there is as much inducement to each member of the staff, from a financial standpoint, to put out a good book as there is to the business manager.

The "Cornhusker" this year, will not only be a representation of the two upper classes but of the entire University student body. The features of the book are numerous and no little time and expense will be spared according to Business Manager Poteet to produce an annual that will show the decided advancement along literary lines which the student body has made.

Work has already begun and a general get-together-and-get-acquainted meeting will be held in the near future. Office hours will be published at once and anyone desiring to offer his assistance will be shown due consideration.

The editor asks the co-operation of the entire student body in his efforts to publish a true representative annual.

Study Kansas Advertising.

Members of the class in advertising are working on a survey of Kansas newspapers to determine the amount and the class of advertising they carry. When this information has been obtained it will be filed in card catalog and placed at the disposal of the Kansas editors. By referring to this catalog the editor may determine whether an advertiser is reliable or not instead of running a chance of getting the money.—Daily Kansan.

OBSERVATORY OPEN TONIGHT.

A View of the Moon Will be Given—Lecture on World's Greatest Telescope.

The observatory will be open to the public Monday, November 23, from 8 to 10, if the skies are clear for a view of the moon. A short talk illustrated by lantern slides, will be given at 9 p. m., on the topic, "The Greatest Telescope in the World."

The observatory is open on the second and fourth Mondays of each month and lectures are regularly given on interesting subjects. The popularity of these talks is shown by the large attendance on nearly every occasion.

NO PRIVATE SIGNS ALLOWED ON CAMPUS

All Posters Must be Confined to Bulletin Boards and Must Have Approval of Registrar.

As a result of continued violations of the rules regulating the placing of announcements on the University campus a notice was issued from the Registrar's office last week confining all bills to the bulletin boards.

The notice is as follows:

"All signs, posters and announcements will be confined to the bulletin boards and must be approved by the Registrar. No signs, posters or announcements of any sort will be permitted on the fences in or surrounding the campus, on doors of buildings, on the benches or on any other University property except the bulletin boards. Red lettered signs, posters and announcements or private advertising matter of any sort is not permitted on the campus (cf. Rules and Regulations No. 40, General Catalog, p. 64, 1914-15). Nor is it permissible to give out hand bills or cards of any kind at the gates of the campus."

JUNIORS AND SENIORS WILL CLASH TOMORROW

Juniors Are Lighter But Very Aggressive—Game Called For 3:30 O'Clock.

The annual Senior-Junior football game will be staged at 3:30 tomorrow afternoon on the Nebraska field. Only about fifteen Juniors have been consistently reporting for practice, but these men have the interest of the class at heart, have trained hard, and it is likely that they will spring a surprise or two on their heavier opponents in tomorrow's game.

The Junior line averages about one hundred and fifty pounds per man, the Senior line is much heavier. In spite of this handicap the Juniors are confident that they will be able to cope successfully with their more bulky opponents and are strong in their statement that they have an even break for victory. The Junior ends and backfield are fast and aggressive and it is expected that they will use the open style of play for their best gains.

It has been rumored about the campus that the Seniors intend to play a former Cornhusker, namely, Clint Ross, in their line-up against the Juniors. The position the Juniors take is, that since the members of the Freshman squad are to be barred, Ross should be barred also.

Members of the varsity squad or Sophomores will be secured to act as officials of the game.

SEASON NOW OVER

HUSKERS ARE VICTORIOUS IN FINAL GAME, 16-7.

HAWKEYES LOSE HARD GAME

Capt. Halligan Scores Ten of Nebraska's Points, Making Three Place-Kicks and Kicking Goal.

By H. I. Kyle.

The greatest football team that ever donned the Scarlet and Cream, and one of the best that ever carried the pigskin for any school, closed a season that will shine in the annals of football history for years to come by defeating the powerful Iowa machine on her own field 16 to 7. It was the same old story; a great team once more went down to defeat before an eleven that has proved itself well-nigh invincible. The score appears to be a fair indication of the relative strength of the two aggregations. At covering the ground each side seemed to meet with about the same success but the toe of the mighty Halligan added a weapon to Nebraska's scoring machine that kicked the props from beneath the Hawkeyes' hopes and shattered their chances to win by the touchdown route. Of the Cornhuskers' sixteen points, ten must be credited to the skill of the great All-American's boot. Four times during the game he dropped back for a place kick and three times the tiny brown dirigible sailed squarely between the goal posts and filled the camp of the enemy with consternation and dismay. Mr. Halligan has been called the "Brickley of the West" but we personally fail to see where Brickley has earned the compliment. Throughout the season Halligan's kicking has been an important feature of the Cornhusker offense but in no game did his prowess in the aerial attack shine with the refulgent splendor that it displayed in the Iowa battle.

As in the other games of the season, however, it is impossible to attribute the result to the work of any particular man or men. The only compliment high enough to do justice to the team is to say that every man played his usual game. At every phase of the melee the western Trojans showed themselves consummate masters, and, incidentally, in no game of the season was there greater need of it. The

FEEDING EXPERIMENT CONDUCTED AT FARM

Experiment on Lambs—Similar Experiment Being Conducted at North Platte.

For the first time in several years, the Nebraska Experiment Station is conducting an experiment with sheep. A consignment of 250 western lambs has been received and divided into five lots of 50 each. The experiment will last 100 days and will be for the purpose of comparing a ration of alfalfa hay with one of corn silage and also a medium with a heavy feed of corn in connection with alfalfa and corn silage.

At the North Platte station a similar experiment has been started with 300 western lambs to show the results under western Nebraska conditions.
