OPEN MEETING OF SIGMA DELTA CHI

"The News Story" Ably Discussed by Mr. W. O. Jones of the State Journal

Sigma Delta Chi, the honorary journalistic fraternity, held an open meeting at the Phi Psi house last evening. There were about thirty present and a most enjoyable time was had by all. The subject of the evening, "The News Story," was discussed most ably by Mr. W. O. Jones of the State Journal. In his talk Mr. Jones pointed out the most common forms of errors found in the average newspaper.

The difficulties were shown in a manner that was self-explanatory. Many questions that a newspaper man has to face were brought out; various aspects of the business were discussed and possible remedies were suggested for these faults. In the newspaper world the editor has to decide between two policies, either have a sensational paper and not a true expression of facts, or have a true expression of facts and leave sensationalism out of the paper. All of these things were discussed by Mr. Jones and questions were asked and answered in the open discussion. The problems of the editor were made most plain by the editor of one of the best papers in the state, whose experience certainly justifies consideration of his opinion. The reportorial part of the paper, the typographical aspect, and the very heart of the paper itself was taken up in a way that every reporter on the staff of the Daily Nebraskan will remember. This study will, it is hoped, add to the attractiveness of this paper from this time on.

Professors Buck and Fogg added many valuable suggestions to the discussion and aided materially in the picking out of the rhetorical incor-

Tonight at the Oliver

The great pageant-play, "Joseph and His Brethren," which comes to the Oliver Theatre for three nights beginning tonight at 8 o'clock, contains elements that will furnish room for study to almost all classes of people. People who are interested in education are always interested in this scholarly work of Louis Napoleon Parker, and also in the elocution and correct delivery of dramatic lines that is exhibited by the Liebler Company's seasoned company of players. To the churchgoer the story of Joseph is always interesting and wonderful, and to hear James O'Neill, as Pharaoh, relate the story of his dream in the beautiful sentence of Genesis, and then the interpretation of the dream by Brandon Tynan as Joseph is a rare treat. The work of both these actors, as well as that of the other eminent members of the cast, is rich in educational instruction. The entertainment in Pharaoh's palace, before that monarch, in which the Egyptian dancing girls are introduced, is one of gorgeous splendor. The four acts and twelve scenes of "Joseph and His Brethren" furnish feasts for the mind, for the ear and for the eyes.

DOCTOR CONDRA GIVES LECTURES IN OMAHA

Speaks There Tonight and Tomorrow —is Making Many Trips Out Over the State

Doctor Condra is now in Omaha, where he will lecture tonight. The doctor left Lincoln yesterday evening in time to get to the metropolis to deliver his first lecture last night. From Omaha he will continue through the state on another lecturing tour, which will occupy a week.

Quite like the Irish railroad man, it is with Doctor Condra—a case of "On again. Off again. Gone again. Condra." Returning from his last "over the state," he immediately left on the one which is at present occupying his time. While out in the state last week he spent a day in Chadron, and while in that city delivered no less than seven lectures. And, what is worse, the schedule for the other cities was equally crowded. The doctor says that he "manages to keep busy" and "has, so far, lost no weight."
