BASKETBALL

A mere handful of rooters took the trouble to spend a dime and go to University Place to help the team defeat our husky rivals in basketball. There seems to be a decided lack of spirit among students with regard to the indoor game. Important games on our own floor arouse but little enthusiasm, though the players work hard and consistently and are deserving of loyal support. It is a question, however, whether it is justifiable to spend the profits of the football season to support a game that so few students are interested in and in which so few students participate. Think it over.

ELECTION NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the general election for selecting the presidents of the four respective University classes (Freshman, Sophomore, Junior and Senior), the Ivy Day orator, and editor-in-chief, managing editor and business manager of the Cornhusker, will be held on Tuesday, February 16th, in Memorial Hall. The polls will be open from 9 to 12 a. m. and from 2 to 5 p. m. Each candidate is required to file a written statement of his candidacy with the Registrar before 5 p. m., Friday, February 12th. No candidate shall be entitled to election whose name is not printed on the ballot. There shall be no soliciting of votes by cards or otherwise at or near the polls.

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR KEARNEY CLUB

Evening Spent With Social Hour and Business Meeting—Miss Jane Lindsay President

A large number of the members of the Kearney Club gathered in the Y. W. C. A. rooms in the Temple, Friday evening. A short business meeting was held at which several important matters were discussed and the following officers elected: President, Miss Jane Lindsay; vice-president, Miss Bertha Jansen, and secretary and treasurer, Miss Inez Clark. The playing of games and a general social hour completed the program for the evening.

HUSKERS AVENGED

Pastors by his race-horse plunges into the thick of the Wesleyan van.

Captain Vifquain and Hughes were the particular stars in the Wesleyan lineup. Vifquain played hard, clean basketball and scored one of Wesleyan's three goals. Hughes was the biggest point maker for the Coyotes, registering four points. Johnson, the bear who was predicted to play havoc with the Nebraska attack, covered the floor in wonderful style, but his value to his team was lost in his effort to play havoc with individual members of the Cornhusker aggregation. The Wesleyan team as a whole, although outclassed in every department, played strong, virile basketball.

Wesleyan scored first with a free throw by Hughes. Hugg soon followed with a free throw, tying the score. The Wesleyan team worked the ball up near the Nebraska goal, from where Hughes shot a pretty basket. Nebraska came back immediately, Shields shooting a wonderful goal from the center of the field.

After a few minutes of fast and rough play, Vifquain scored for Wesleyan, and Gardner threw a long one for Nebraska. Shields soon followed by two field goals, ending the Huskers' scoring for the first half. The rest of the half was filled with thrills and fists, and in the elapsing time Wesleyan scored three points, a free throw by Hughes and a goal by Hussey. The half ended 9-8 for the Huskers.

The second half was not productive of much scoring. Nebraska scored four points during this half, a goal by Gardner and two free throws, one by Rutherford and one by Hugg. Wesleyan scored one point from a free throw by Vifquain. The game grew rougher and rougher as the end drew near. Several of the Wesleyan team, seeing the chances for victory fading into nothingness, abandoned basketball and resorted to half-nelsons, diving tackles and right uppercuts. Both teams showed a great desire to subordinate basketball to the satisfying of personal animosity. Fouls were frequent, but had little effect.

An immense crowd of Wesleyan supporters packed the new gymnasium, filling the air with Coyote songs and yells. President Wilson's neutrality proclamation was enthusiastically violated by a little group of Cornhusker fans who gathered beneath the Wesleyan goal and cheered the Huskers on to victory. The lineup and score follows:

Nebraska	Wesleyan
Rutherford..... l. f.	Kline
Gardner..... r. f.	Hussey, Cozier
Shields, Kiefer... c.	Hughes
Hugg..... l. g.	Vifquain (C.)
Milliken..... r. g.	Johnson
Goals—Nebraska, Gardner 2, Shields 3; Wesleyan, Hussey, Hughes, Vifquain. Free throws—Rutherford (Nebraska), Hugg (Nebraska) 2, Hughes (Wesleyan) 2, Vifquain (Wesleyan).
Total score—Nebraska 13, Wesleyan 9. Referee—Willhite, Lincoln Y. M. C. A.

STORY REGARDING COUPONS RECALLED

Purchase of Photo Coupons O. K.—Misunderstanding Adjusted—Students Not Stung

The Nebraskan wishes to acknowledge an error in regard to the story in Friday's issue concerning the purchasing of photo coupons by three University students. In fairness to these men and to the salesman, we wish to state that the misunderstanding which led to the published statement in the Lincoln Daily News that the studio was not responsible for the coupons has been adjusted and that the salesman was acting in good faith and the students were not stung.
