TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1915

The University of Nebraska celebrated its forty-sixth birthday in the usual fashion yesterday. It is no doubt more prosperous and flourishing today than at any other time in its history. But the spell of uncertainty that has for so long hindered the normal development of our school is over and we may now expect progress that will outshine all previous records.

The Charter Day program was a decided success and was a marked improvement over that of former years. The track meet was well attended and the novelty of an afternoon "mixer" attracted many. Some of the candidates made good use of the occasion to press their claims on the unsuspecting despite the attempts on the part of those in charge to prevent such work. But aside from that disagreeable feature, and the same old story that it was too crowded, everything was favorable and all seemed to enjoy the occasion.

VOTERS

It is your duty to go to the polls today and express your preference of candidates. Furthermore, it is your duty to vote intelligently and not because some one told you to vote "so and so." One of the principal things that you should take into consideration in measuring the qualifications of any candidate is the sort of campaign they have been carrying on. In what manner have they attempted to get your vote? Did they seek your support on the ground that they were a "barb" or "frat" candidate? Did they attempt to swing you into line by means of a political machine? Or did they or their friends ask you to consider the merits of the different candidates and simply give their candidates fair consideration? University men and women ought to have a mind of their own, and today is a good time to use it.

THE FORUM

The University Directory fills a need of the students and is, in fact, quite indispensable. But its value decreases during the year because so many students change their residence. When the directory has been out a semester we doubt that the address given is correct. This condition could be remedied quite easily if those who have changed their residence would write their name and correct address in a book (placed in U. Hall) and the list published in the Daily Nebraskan. We could then change our directory accordingly. If such a list were given out, say, each month, the directory would be kept up to date. If the list were too long, why not get out a new directory the second semester, or a supplement to the old one? At any rate, the University Directory should be made more reliable. E. F. B.

rough, and fouls frequent, although neither side took much advantage of foul-line opportunities. The first half closed with the score 11-4. The second half was a good repetition of the first, and at the close of the game Ames had won, 25-11. Rutherford and Campbell each scored two goals for Nebraska, which, with three free throws by Hugg, completed Nebraska's scoring.

Friday night's game was all Nebraska's. Just as Ames outrushed and outguarded Nebraska in Saturday afternoon's encounter, Nebraska outguarded and outrushed Ames the night before. Nebraska had little trouble in sending the ball through the Ames defense and finally into the basket. Campbell, Rutherford and Gardner were the particular stars for the Huskers. Campbell scored five goals, while Rutherford and Gardner each contributed two goals toward Nebraska's total count. The Nebraska defense was impregnable, and their offense effective. The Cyclones' main weakness was their inability to shoot baskets, both from the floor and from the foul line. Scoring started for Nebraska when Gardner shot a long goal, which was followed soon after by two goals by Campbell. The first half ended 11-5.

The Ames defense tightened up a little during the second half and Nebraska did not score quite so promiscuously. The Huskers scored consistently enough, however, to make the total count 24-12 in their favor.

The last engagement with the Drake Bulldogs, that of Thursday evening, proved to be a much better exhibition of basketball than the first game of the series, although Nebraska established her superiority early in the contest, when Campbell got away with five successive goals. The first half ended 14-4 with the Huskers on the long end. In the second half Drake scored three goals within the space of a few minutes, but Nebraska easily maintained their lead and the game ended 23-14.

ROBERSON'S LECTURES

BEGAN YESTERDAY

Majority of Pictures Shown Will Be of War-Stricken Territory—Admission Price Reduced

Frank R Roberson began his lectures in Lincoln yesterday. His program for the week will be as follows: Tonight, "England."

Wednesday evening, "Belgium and Holland."

Thursday evening, "The Golden West" (from the Rockies to the Pacific).

Friday evening, "France."

Saturday afternoon, "The Alps."

Saturday evening (to be announced).

Yesterday evening, as the program shows, the world-famous traveler began his series of lectures. The major part of them are on the war-stricken countries. Mr. Roberson is a keen observer who states the facts about the countries he lectures on without bias. For that reason his lectures should be of very great interest to University students who are anxious to get the facts about our European neighbors' countries.

By an arrangement with the Journal-News Company, the admission has been reduced to the exceedingly low price of ten cents. This low rate should be taken advantage of by students. For detailed news of the lectures the students should consult the Journal or the News.
