TAYLOR IS DEFEATED

MOTION TO RECONSIDER TAYLOR'S BILL LOSES

HIS RESIGNATION FOLLOWS

Firm in Statement That Regents Are Ignorant—Three Weeks Fight is Finally Ended by Yesterday's Vote in House

"I am not going to hold any more conferences with the University Regents because they don't know anything," Mr. Taylor said before the state legislature yesterday afternoon. "The regents appear to consider themselves as the supreme authority in University matters, whereas they are merely an administrative board subject to whatever direction the legislature sees fit to make."

Mr. Reisner's motion to reconsider Mr. Taylor's bill demanding itemized accounts of expenditures and separate appropriations for the University and State Farm was defeated in the lower house of the state legislature by a vote of fifty-one to forty-one, yesterday afternoon. Mr. Taylor realizing himself defeated by this final decision handed in his written resignation as chairman of the committee having charge of the appropriation bills for the University State Farm and normal schools.

Thus ended a three weeks fight in which the finances of the University were in constant danger of changing hands.

Mr. Taylor's bill as amended by Mr. Reisner called for: Submission by the board of regents or the head of any department, a report concerning any or all activities thereof as called for by the committee, a summary of which should be submitted to the house in considering appropriations. Minimum appropriations shall be made for the University and the State Farm, and a specific appropriation to be used by either institutions at the discretion of the board of regents. The point at which Mr. Reisner differs with Mr. Taylor is that he desires the board of regents to retain control of expenditures.

The vote was as follows:

To reconsider—Anderson, Boyd, Anderson (Phelps), Barker, Barrett, Chambers, Thurston, Clayburn, Conley, Crinklaw, Dan, Elmeland, Fox, Fries, Fultz, Gormley, Greenwalt, Hornby, Howard, Hynek, Lindsey, Meysenburg, Naylor, Neff, Orr, Osterman, Patterson Reisner, Rutter, Reynolds, Rudzell, Sass, Seivers, Sindelar, Sorenson, Sterns, Steinhilber, Stevenson, Taylor, Trumbull, VanDeusen, Ward, Woodhurst.

Not to reconsider—Anley, Bates, Brant, Broome, Burgess, Chambers, Douglas, Cox, Cronin, Dalby, Druesdow, Eberman, Evans, Foster, Fuller, Harris, Hoffmeister, Hostetler, Hunter, Hutton, Jerry, Kaufman, LaBounty, Lanigan, Larsen, Liggitt, Lundgren, Matteson, Meres, Meredith, Miner, Mockett, Moseley, Negly, Nelson, Nichols, Norton, Nutzman, Palmer, Parkinson, Parriott, Peterson, Reagan, Reffenrath, Reynolds (Lincoln), Richmond, Reischek, Scudder, Snyder, Stebbins, Tibbets, Speaker Jackson.

MAXEY'S FAMOUS ONES REFUSED BY AWGWAN

Legal Issue of Awgwan Will Not Contain Any Jokes From Hand or Tongue of Famous Artist

"Doc Maxey is to be absolutely barred in the Legal Issue of the Awgwan," said one of the recently elected law editors, yesterday. "We have been flooded with whole reams of his puns and witticisms, but we can't use them at all, don't bring any more of them in, he's outside, see? We're also getting more jokes than we need on the Button land case. Some of you fellows will be wanting your credit in contracts, you know."

"But we can use anything good you may have on the quality of Prof. Pope's examinations. Don't lose this golden opportunity to express yourself. We want this to be the peppiest, the keenest Awgwan ever printed, and if we can judge by the quality of the stuff already turned in, it will be. Get your stuff in early to Williams, Moenert, or Kyle. And remember what we said in the beginning: this is to be an absolutely clean Awgwan."

SYMPHONY IN C WILL BE GIVEN NEXT WEEK

Beethoven Symphony That is Most Widely Known—Parts Will be Played in Art Hall Saturday

Beethoven Symphony No. 5 in C Minor which will be given at convocation next Tuesday is perhaps the most widely known of all of the Beethoven music. It is said of it that the C Minor Symphony "always fills the room." It is the one Mendelssohn chose to be played before Goethe in Weimar. At the promenade concerts of M. Jullien in England it was played week after week. When first published it received the warmest kind of welcome and Beethoven's name soon became a familiar one all over the world. Saturday at 5 p. m. in Art Hall there will be given one more opportunity to hear it before convocation.

Before he has finished his course David Ohlsen a Junior in the Forestry Department has accepted a position of responsibility. He is to be at the head of the Forest Nursery at Missoula, Mont., and to receive for his first services a salary of $1,100.00 and expenses.

LAWS ARRIVE AT CLASS IN A JITNEY BUS

New Conveyances Have Many Friends—May be Popular With Those Who Frequent Formals

The "jitney bus," a demand of the times, is here. The impecunious college lad needs no longer fear the dreaded formal with its cab. Only five cents, the price of a street car ticket is necessary, and you don't have to hold to straps or run the risk of losing your seat, but instead you may sit on soft leather covered seats, alone, to enjoy the company of your friend. As to its patronage it holds no discrimination. Yesterday morning one suddenly stopped in front of the law building and turned loose two anxious laws, who were hurrying to make a dreaded 8 o'clock and avoid the delinquency list of Dr. Maxey.

Imagine such a simple formal, where price withholds no one, where the less fortunate "boobs" can enjoy the aristocracy of the Lincoln and the Lindell. What a splendid innovation this is to further the democratic spirit of Nebraska.

FORESTRY STUDENTS DO PRACTICAL WORK

Would be Advisable For Students in Other Departments to Follow This Plan

Each year many of the Forestry students spend their summers working in some forest reserves, and in this way they get actual experience in the work that they intend to follow. If this method was followed by more students during their vacations, we might have more changes of registrations, but the chances are we would have fewer changes of occupations after the students have spent four years in preparation.

ANOTHER SUCGUMBS

MILLIKEN ADDED TO LIST OF CRIPPLES

TEAM IS IN POOR CONDITION

Huskies May Lose Last Game—Scrubs and Varsity Indulge in Practice Session—Coyotes Expectant

Another member of the Husker basketball quintet has been added to the list of non-combatants because of injuries. Milliken, the little guard, who has done such splendid work in breaking up opponents' teamwork since his first regular appearance, is in very bad condition and in all probabilities will play no more basketball this year. He has been bothered all season by a bad Charley horse which has threatened at numerous times to take, and yesterday the threat was carried out. Neither the baking out process administered for several hours by Doctor Jack Best, nor the persuasive influence of treatment at a sanitarium could induce the muscles to loosen, and Milliken is barely able to hobble about.

The loss of Milliken adds another phase to the Husker's already complicated problem of how to prepare the team for victory. The men must be shifted to fill the vacancy, but Coach Stiehm has made no definite statement as to just who will fill the guard position. It is possible that Shields may go into the game in Milliken's place, but it is not known as yet whether his knee will be in condition. If Shields is not able to participate in the fray, either Rutherford will be shifted to guard and Thiesen or Campbell fill his place at forward, or Sheldon will go in place of Milliken.

The Coyotes, who will endeavor to make it one and when they meet the Huskers Saturday night, are all in splendid condition. Johnson, the husky Coyote guard, is fully recovered from a slight injury to his side which he sustained during their Iowa trip, and will probably prove a serious block to Nebraska's attack. Captain Viquain and Hughes, the other two of the Coyote's dependables, have been making wonderful individual records in their late games.

Practice last night consisted of a forty minute struggle between the varsity and freshmen. Kelfer, Hugg, Sheldon, Campbell, Rutherford, and Thiesen filled the varsity's position at different times during the evening. The freshmen had the better of the contest during the early moments, but the regulars gradually overcame their lead and finished strong. Kelfer and Thiesen were the only regulars able to locate the basket to any advantage. Jim Gardner, freshman center, a majority of the first year team's points, and showed amazing accuracy in locating the hoop.

Junior Play is Well Under Way

There are many rumors concerning the Junior play, but even Dame Rumor slips occasionally. The tryouts were held two weeks ago or to be more correct have been held during the past two weeks. However, after two weeks of big tryouts, little tryouts and private tryouts the play is going good. In a very early issues of the Nebraskan the cast will be announced. In the meanwhile—remember the date—March 19.
