WISE AND OTHERWISE

Art is a jealous thing: It requires the whole and entire man.—Michael Angelo.

What the Puritans gave the world was not thought, but action.—Wendell Phillips.

It is better to do the idlest thing in the world than to sit idle for half an hour.—Goethe.

No man can be a good critic who is not well versed in human nature.—Lord Palmerston.

Smith (conducting amateur singers)—"Now, boys, do sing this more heartily. I want you all to join in. I do not want to hear one silent voice."—Boy's Life.

A Scotchman visiting in America stood gazing at a fine statue of George Washington, when an American approached.

"That was a great and good man, Sandy," said the American; "a lie never passed his lips."

"Weel," said the Scot, "I praysume he talked through his nose like the rest of ye."

Excellent Reason—The railroad station at Meridian, Texas, is about a mile from the business part of the town. One night a sleepy, weary traveling man said to the darky who was driving him to the hotel:

"Old man, why did they put this depot so far from town?"

The darky scratched his head in thought and replied:

"Well boss, I's fo'ced to admit dat I hasn't give de matter s'ficient cogitation, but jes' jumped up for a answer like this, I 'spose dey done dat so as to have de depot as near as possible to the railroad."—Mother's Magazine.

Minnesota Freshman Rebel on Prep Caps

Whether the engineering freshmen or the entire body of upper classmen are going to have the upper hand, will no doubt be decided soon at the university of Minnesota. Although the orders for the new "frosh" headgear, has not been sent in to the makers as yet, and though the design has not been completed, the engineering freshmen have drawn up a "declaration of independence," and will, they say, fight the matter out to a finish.

The following paragraphs give the sentiments of the various factions concerned:

"We, the undersigned, members of the freshman engineering class, and citizens of a nation which stands for 'Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness,' do hereby refuse to wear any insignia indicating submission to the dictates of any organization in this University."

Signed by all Freshman Engineers. Senior Engineer's Reply:

"Without hesitation or delay the upper class engineers prove themselves capable of handling the situation. The sentiment of the upper classes is expressed below by a senior engineer, and the air round about the Main Engineering building fairly crackles!

"The All-University Council has decided that all freshmen shall wear the regulation caps when they are designed. This includes the freshman engineers, and they will abide by the dictates of the student body. This regulation will be enforced by all upper classmen on the campus. All upper class engineers will see that their freshmen wear the caps or go bareheaded while on the campus. Lay on Mac Duff!"

"A SENIOR ENGINEER."

STUDENTS WILL GO TO STATE CONVENTION

Convention to be Held in Hastings—About Forty Students Will go From University

Friday, Saturday and Sunday the state convention of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. will be held at Hastings, Nebraska. All the colleges, and normals of the state will be represented there, about forty students will represent the University of Nebraska. The cost of the trip, including the cost of board while there will be about four dollars and a half. The committee guarantees all who may care to go a royal time. Some of the speakers will be Dr. W. T. Emore, H. L. Heinzelman, J. P. Bally and R. L. Ewing.

Is Against Paid Coaches

President John Grier Hibben, of Princeton University, in his annual report to the Board of Trustees, expresses the hope that paid coaches in athletics would soon disappear. "Athletics are suffering from an over-organized system of coaching," he said, and he believed that more responsibility should be placed on team captains. If undergraduates should be released from "unnatural domination of their sports by graduate coaches," he said, "inter-collegiate sport would be liberated from the abnormal incubus of a superimposed system which tends to make puppets of the players."

President Hibben continued. "Particularly in the game of football the captain of the team should be the sole responsible person for the management of his men, devising and directing their play in practice games so that in the critical situations of a great contest he and his team will rise to the occasion and win or lose with honor. It is quite absurd when one comes to think of it, that the control of the team in all preliminary games should be in the hands of a body of men who are relegated to the side line wheel play is on.

"After all, it is an undergraduate affair, and the game should be played by undergraduates. If you place upon them the responsibility they will respond to it, for it is certain that responsibility always provokes efficiency. That men may be resourceful in emergency they must be schooled in the art of resourcefulness by some stimulation of their latent powers of ingenuity. If we release our undergraduates from the unnatural domination of their sports by graduate coaches and from the confusion of many minds and voices in the direction of their activities we will simplify the whole athletic situation and eliminate inter-collegiate sport from the abnormal incubus of a superimposed system which tends to make puppets of the players, limiting the spontaneity and free play of their natural initiative."

Expelled Student Sues University of Illinois

Urbana, Ill.—Whether or not the University of Illinois has the right to drop from the rolls all students not doing satisfactory work, will be decided at the spring term at the Illinois court when the suit of Miss Marie Seebach against the University of Illinois trustees will be heard. Miss Seebach was dropped from the university in 1908, when her work was unsatisfactory to the faculty. She had been in attendance at the university two years and had expected to get a teachers' certificate at the time of her dismissal.
