BEAUTIFUL GIRLS

THIRTY GIRLS CHOSEN FOR THE BEAUTY SECTION OF ANNUAL

CORNHUSKER SALE THURSDAY

Gold and Sepia Background for Portraits—Senior Section in Color and Gold—All Orders Must Be in This Week

At last the beautiful girls at Nebraska are to receive their due praise! After forty years of oblivion, their comeliness is to be displayed before the admiring public.

The 1915 Cornhusker is to have a section in colors dedicated to the thirty most beautiful women of prominence in the upper classes. No expense is being spared on this section and it is anticipated as one of the big features of the coming annual.

Who these thirty chosen ones are, only the editor knows. Your friends are there if they are good-looking and have ever done anything of value for Nebraska. Weeks of anxiety preceded their selection and the friends of these picked beauties will enthusiastically agree with the editor when this section is seen.

Townsend has been posing these fair damsels for ten days and several of them have remarked afterward, "I never knew I was so good-looking." Even the employees at the studio have been sworn to secrecy, and there is absolutely no way of finding out who they are.

A clever original design executed in gold and sepia will be used as a background for the fifteen pages of full-length portraits of Nebraska's fair women.

Seventy-five pages are devoted to an athletic section and an individual cut of every man who has won his letter this past year. Two hundred pages comprise the "School Year" and Joke section, of which seventy-five per cent is filled with cartoons and spicy snapshots. Ivy Day, the May Queen, and all the traditional happenings at Nebraska, will appear as never before in beautiful engravings.

The Senior section will be in color and gold and will show a most unique design as a background. It is intended to make the upperclass section a gem in the annual.

Every class will have its section with the most prominent men and women shown through the camera. Football teams, representatives in athletic events of every kind will be given their due prominence.

Today will be taken the last two companies' pictures for the military section. This part of the book is full of neat snapshots and is receiving particular attention.

Better paper and better leather binding than ever used before will mark the one popular-priced edition of the 1915 Cornhusker. The general sale will be March the fourth, Thursday of this week, and no more copies will be printed than are ordered at that time, with the deposit paid.

This Athlete Prefers to Study
Because of his studies at Harvard, R. Norris Williams 2nd, winner of the National tennis tournament last year, has been obliged to forego playing in the National indoor championship now being held on the courts of the Seventh Regiment Armory.

Probability or Possibility
When in the history of man there is a shortage in the amount that the impoverished solicitor pays the collector it is due to the physical impossibility of a reconciliation of the forces of good and evil and the result of the encounter is always disastrous for the ultimate consumer whom the inevitable conclusion oppresses till his grave. SO "MOTE" IT BE.

JUNIOR CLASS MEETS TODAY AT ELEVEN

Important Class Meeting Will Discuss Junior Play—"The Road to Yesterday" Progressing Swiftly

The Juniors will hold an important class meeting Thursday at 11:30 in Memorial Hall, at which every Junior is urged to be present.

The chief object of this meeting is to make arrangements for the financing of the Junior Class Play, which will be given March 19 at the Oliver. About one hundred dollars has been received so far from the advance sale of tickets. The receipts will increase during the next few days. The management is especially anxious to secure the earnest co-operation of all Juniors in making the coming play the most successful one ever staged by a third year class.

"The Road to Yesterday," a comedy in four acts, is the name of the play chosen. That its production will be an entire success cannot be doubted by anyone who has seen the cast in action and noticed the rapid progress being made by the players under the watchful eye and careful guidance of Miss Howell, who has criticized and approved at four rehearsals a week for some time past.

The costumes, which are of the early seventeenth century, are very good and have been procured at considerable expense. No less can be said for the scenery, which changes six times.

Novel stunts will be used in advertising "The Road to Yesterday," and the committee urgently requests all Juniors to assist in every way possible in putting before the public the time, the place and the quality of this play.

The advisability of a Senior-Junior mixer for some time in the near future will also be considered at the class meeting Thursday.

SALES MANAGER ADDRESSED CLASS

Sales Manager of Cushman Motor Works Spoke Before Class in Business Organization

Mr. Williams, sales manager of the Cushman Motor Works, spoke before the class in Business Organization yesterday morning. His subject was that of "The Sales Force of a Manufacturing Concern." Mr. Williams first took up his subject from the economic standpoint and finished with a practical discussion of the practical side of the work of a sales manager. Many questions were asked by members of the class and Mr. Williams seemed pleased to have an opportunity to explain them thoroughly.

The officers of the University Commercial Club have made arrangements to have Mr. Williams speak before that body some time in April. All weekly meeting dates of the club have been filled up to the time.

WONDERFUL MUSIC

FIFTH SYMPHONY LOUDLY APPLAUDED BY STUDENTS

MEMORIAL HALL AGAIN FILLED

Symphony Recitals Seem to Be Only Convocational Exercises Able to Draw University Students From Work

The C minor Beethoven Symphony was given yesterday morning at Convocation to a good-sized crowd of University people. Printed slips were handed out at the door telling something of the theme and the composer. This Symphony was written during the period when Beethoven was greatly depressed over the termination of his engagement to the Countess Theresa, and his emotions were expressed by the words "Fate is knocking at the door."

The movements of the symphony are very impressive and unique in its intensity, especially in the first part. There is something about this selection, the Fifth Symphony, that when once heard is not easily forgotten, and those in attendance this morning will undoubtedly remember for a long time the tranquil and beautiful melody so skillfully rendered yesterday in Memorial Hall.

The audience showed their appreciation of the efforts put forth for their benefit by a large attendance and by the vigorous applause tendered the musicians. These musical programs have been able to draw large crowds right along and seem to be one of the few Convocations that the students will leave their work to attend.

Tickets can be obtained at the hotel.

It is requested that all planning on attending mail their acceptances this morning.

Doctor Mez is a very able speaker and his address should be of much more interest than the various discussions upon the cause of the war together with the present standing of the combatants.

ECONOMICS COURSE GIVEN IN TEMPLE

Course Arranged for by State Journal—Lessons Conducted by Culinary Expert

A school in home economics is being conducted by the State Journal in the Temple Theater this week under the direction of Miss Florence Peets. The demonstrations and lectures held every afternoon and evening have been well attended and enjoyed by the women of Lincoln. No admission has been charged at any time.

Miss Peet has made many valuable suggestions concerning what should be cooked and how to obtain the best results at a very moderate cost. She is a culinary expert graduated from Drexel Institute, Philadelphia, Pa., and has been on the lecture platform for twelve years both in America and Europe. Her work in many places has been so much appreciated that they are trying to get her to return. The women of Lincoln hope that the enthusiastic reception which they have shown her will insure her return here.

Come Early Tonight

It is rumored that the Wesleyan rooters are planning to come to the Armory at 7 o'clock tonight in order to get seats. There will be several hundred of them and Nebraska students who are going to the game need to be on the scene early if they want a seat. One hundred seats have been reserved for Wesleyan and one hundred for Nebraska. The remainder will be occupied by those who get there first. If you want a seat, don't fail to be there by seven o'clock.

Girls' Party Saturday

The Girls' Club party is scheduled for Saturday at 2:30 o'clock in the Temple. A program in the theater, dancing, and games assures entertainment for all. Admission, 10 cents.

PROFESSOR LOSES ADMIRABLE RECORD

Statement of His Failure in Game Made by Other Players—Professor Still Claims Supremacy

Dr. Edwin Maxey's reputation as a whist player is on the wane. C. A. Sorensen, George Russell Mann, and Dr. Edwin Maxey are said to have taken a card deck with them on their trip to Exeter to judge the Exeter-Geneva debate. It is further stated on good authority that the Law College faculty representative was unmercifully defeated. Doctor Maxey, however, denies this and alleges that Sorensen cheated. Mann declares that only once did Sorensen keep back an ace and that Doctor Maxey was fairly swept off his feet by the scientific playing of his two opponents. Other papers are asked not to copy this, as the Daily Nebraskan has no desire to add to the humiliation of the doctor.

WESLEYAN TONIGHT

LAST BASKETBALL GAME TO BE PLAYED ON HUSKER FLOOR

METHODISTS ARE CONFIDENT

Will Attempt to Avenge Humiliating Defeat Administered by Nebraska a Month Ago—Large Crowd Expected to Attend

The last episode in the history of the 1915 Cornhusker basketball team will be enacted in the Armory tonight when Nebraska and Wesleyan meet for the second time this season. At their first meeting, something like a month ago, Nebraska achieved a decisive victory and placed the only blot on Wesleyan's record. Tonight they will be given an opportunity to retrieve their defeat and thereby erase half the blot from their fair record, which is good foundation for prophesying that the last game of the season will be filled with all the thrills and dramatic situations accorded to such episodes.

No thought of defeat lies in the minds of Wesleyan students. They are certain that their wonderful team will successfully overcome the Huskers. Every possible preparation has been made to insure the enacting of a sweeping victory. The team itself has been eagerly awaiting the chance to even the Husker score, and have built up a whirlwind attack around Captain Vifquain, Kine and Hughes. At least three hundred Wesleyan rooters will accompany the team to town and will do their part in trying to bring victory to the Coyote cause.

Nebraska faces her last game in poor condition. Milliken is out of the game, it is not known yet whether Shields will be able to play, Campbell was injured in Monday's practice, and Rutherford's right eye was almost put out of commission in the same session. The team is pepful and full of fight, and has no evil forebodings as to the result of the game in spite of the handicap under which they find themselves. Nebraska decisively trimmed the Coyotes with Captain Hawkins and Myers, veterans of three years, out of the game, but even Madame Dope can not foretell just how much these recent injuries will handicap the Huskers.

The Huskers practiced for a short while yesterday afternoon. Kiefer was at center, Shields and Gardner at guards, and Sheldon and Hugg at guards. This is the tentative lineup for tonight's game. Teamwork was remarkably effective, considering the shifting of the players and the absence of regulars from the lineup, and Shields played a god game at forward. Sheldon, at Rutherford's game, played the floor and guarded consistently.

The Wesleyan supporters, in the anticipation of a victory tonight, are wont to pass over the defeat which Nebraska, with their Captain Hawkins and Myers, both veterans of three years, administered to the Coyotes
