ROBINS CLOSES HIS CAMPAIGN AT KANSAS

Will Arrive in Lincoln Next Wednesday-Campaign Is Part of General eral Movement On in Colleges

The religious campaign under the leadership of Mr. Raymond Robins which begins Wednesday of this week, is a part of a general movement among many of the leading universities in the country. The last number of the "Outlook" has an account of a campaign at Yale, which it describes as one "which in its interest and efficiency has had no parallel in the history of the University except the revival of 1831, at which Horace Bushnell was converted. The manager of the advertising campaign and student organization at Yale was the manager of the victorious Yale crew of last on a university scale, with all the care as to details which Yale is accustomed to associate with a big football match, and it was evident that when religion is presented as a commanding issue on a big scale men are as much interested in it as they are in athletics, if not more so."

Penn State College has also just closed a campaign under the leadership of Doctor Mott, where 1,700 of the 2,500 men in the University attended each of the four meetings. There was also a campaign simultaneously for the faculty, which was conducted by Professor Wright of Yale, and 100 of the faculty (all men) attended regularly for six nights in succession.

Campaigns have also been conduct ed at Vanderbilt University, University of North Carolina, Texas, North Dakota, Michigan, Ohio, Ames, Iowa, and the University of Kansas has just had a big campaign under the leadership of Doctor Mott and Raymond Robins. A press report states that the entire university calendar was kept clear last week, no school day afternoon in the Armory, was a function, social or political, being success. About a hundred Seniors scheduled. The campaign closed last were present. The entertainment be- night. Raymond Robins will come gan with a Virginia reel.
