The annual basketball tournament of Nebraska high schools opened last night with eleven fast games between Class B teams. Elmwood, Seward, Shelton, Friend, Hampton, Hebron, Bethany, Hartington, West Point, Osceola and Arlington climbed the first rung of the ladder, defeating their opponents in the first round of the elimination contests. This morning the first round in Class B will be completed, and this afternoon and tonight will witness the opening of Class A contests.

From half past seven until eleven a game was in progress constantly in the Armory and Chapel. The contests for the most part lacked the slowness and erraticness which are likely to accompany opening games, and several times the final whistle found ties to be removed.

Shelton and Kimball staged a fast game which ended 11-11. In the additional three minutes allowed, Shelton scored two baskets and Kimball one, giving Shelton the victory. There was little to choose between the two teams.

Hampton defeated Genoa 10-6, but it required an extra three minutes to do it. Genoa displayed better form at shooting baskets, but Hampton made up for this disadvantage by her teamwork.

Hartington defeated Alexandria in a fast contest features by the floorwork of both teams. Friend was awarded the scheduled contest with Wahoo by forfeit. Elmwood had little trouble in trimming the N. M. A. recruits 9-4. Seward outshot and outmaneuvered the Wynore team, winning 14-4. The Hebron team, showing the best teamwork of the evening, defeated Madison 17-7. Creighton lost to Bethany 12-8 in a game which belonged to first one and then the other of the contestants. West Point took an interesting contest from Falls City 15-6, while her ancient rival, Pawnee City, lost to Osceola 14-5. Arlington and Harvard engaged in an exciting struggle which ended with Arlington on the long end of a 15-10 score.

With the opening of the Class A games this afternoon, when the tournament will be going at full tilt, the campus is thronged with capable dopsters overflowing with approximate calculations as to just how many chances any of the other teams have against the boys from the home town. Omaha, Lincoln, and Hastings have all been picked as easy winners in Class A. A dark horse which is the subject of many heated debates is the strong Pierce team, which defeated the Sioux City High School on the Pierce floor not long ago. York and Wilber also have been predicted to win over competition.
