Who says viris aren't curious? Have you heard any of them say, "I just wonder who it's going to be?"

The shrubs and trees recently planted about the Temple building have made a decided improvement in that corner. This was a real Argor Day for the University.

Few will question Dean Engberg's statement that the heavy demands of social affairs is responsible for the decrease in the standing of the fraternities. It is not unlikely that the average grades of the non-fraternity men will reveal a similar state of affairs. It is a common expression among students "that there is too much going on." The students realize conditions as much as any one. They feel that many times they are slighting their school work but human-like they don't care to miss the things that they are interested in. Social affairs are, however, not wholly to blame—that is if we are to include only dances, banquets, and parties in that term. There are other school activities such as athletics, plays, and organization meetings that are in a considerable way responsible. Then this year the sudden culmination of the University Week proposition made considerable demands upon many of the students' time. All of these things are of course essential in a certain degree but "too much of anything is too much."

It is the people belonging to several organizations or participating in many different school activities who find so little time for study. Perhaps the University could best help solve the problem by discouraging the innumerable small group activities and social functions and by encouraging All-University events.

The introduction of the point system might help some. Under this system it might even be possible to allow credit for certain outside work carried on under departmental supervision thus relieving the strain upon the student's time.

But regulation by the University authorities must necessarily be limited. In the final analysis the regulation must come from the students themselves. It is the individual who is primarily responsible and he alone can make the proper adjustment. For many of our students the overcoming of the mania to belong to a dozen different organizations or the mastery of the desire to become famous in several different school activities would be the proper solution of the problem.

The Menace of Sunday Theaters

There has been considerable increase in delinquency over the first semester of a year ago. There has also been a general lowering of the scholastic average.

This lowering of studies is due to a very great extent to the ever increasing desire for amusement, and the recent increase in social life of the University. This tendency is just now in the ascendancy and should the proposition of Sunday theaters carry at the coming election we can look for a decrease of at least 15 per cent in the scholarship of the University for the coming year.

What is needed more than anything else at present is to get back to the solid facts and the realization of the opportunities of University life.

Executive Dean.

DEPARTMENTAL BASEBALL LEAGUE

Academics Defeat the Engineers on Nebraska Field by a Score of 8 to 2

Standing of the Teams	Won	Lost	P. C.
Academics	2	0	1.000
Engineers	1	1	.500
Laws	1	1	.500
Freshmen	0	2	.000

The Academics got the jump on the Engineers yesterday, getting away with a lead of six scores in the first inning, which they maintained to the end. The consistent work of Chamberlain, who struck out twelve men, was easily the feature of the game.

Tomorrow the Aggies will show themselves in their first game when they play the Freshmen on Nebraska Field at 3 o'clock.

NOTICES

Unions

The weekly meeting of the Union Society will be held Saturday, May 1, in place of Friday, April 30. All members are urged to be present as a very important business meeting will be held after a social time. Visitors welcome.

Palladian Literary Society

The annual boys' program of the Palladian Literary Society was given Friday night. It consisted of music and a "Palladian Police Court." This was especially interesting and very cleverly worked-out. Ice cream and wafers were served.

Commercial Club

The University Commercial Club has been very fortunate in securing Mr. Dougal, salesmanager of the Lincoln Paint and Color Company, to speak at its Thursday afternoon meeting this week, which will be held in U. 102 at 4 o'clock. All members of the club are requested to be present, for there will be important announcements made.

Junior Committee Meets

The Juniors mentioned in another place in this issue are urgently requested to be at the meeting to be held in Law 201.

Mystic Fish

Mystic Fish dance postponed to May 8 to be held at the Alpha Xi Delta house.

Scandinavian Club

Scandinavian Club meets Wednesday at 8 o'clock in Art Hall. Dr. F. M. Fling addresses the society on "Scandinavia, Past, Present and Future." Visitors are welcome.

"GARDEN OF EDEN"
EDITION OF AWGWAN

Cartoon Depicts the Fact That the Ford Was a Feature in the Palmy Days

The Garden of Eden edition of the Awgwan was distributed yesterday. It is an unique edition and it is evident that the Ford is not a new invention but a relic of the days of Adam and Eve, who are pictured as enjoying its comforts. It is certain that if Adam and Eve could have had a glimpse of this number they would have felt highly honored at the attention given them.

Athletic Board Election

The election for the Athletic Board will be held May 10. All who wish to be candidates must file at Dr. Clapp's office before May 3, and announce themselves as candidates. Further announcements will be made later.

STOLEN—Party who stole bicycle from in front of City Y. M. C. A. building, the night of April 26, is known to the owner. He will return same to Daily Nebraskan office and avoid further trouble. V. F. S. 86-120-132
