GIVE CAVALLERIA RUSTICANA

Miss LeBaron and Mr. Wheatley Soloists—Entertainment Held at the City Auditorium Last Evening

"Cavalleria Rusticana," the first number of the University May Festival, was given by the University chorus, assisted by Miss Louise LeBaron, Miss Lulu Marshall, Mrs. R. O. Hummel, Mr. Walter Wheatley and Mr. Charles L. Bagley, soloists, last night in the Auditorium before a packed house.

Miss LeBaron and Mr. Wheatley took the leading roles of the opera, interpreting them with much feeling and expression in spite of the lack of action. The minor parts were well taken by Mr. Bagley, Miss Marshall and Mrs. Hummel—all well-known local artists.

To Mrs. Carrie B. Raymond is due the success of the evening's concert. Her conduction of the orchestra, composed of Lincoln musicians, together with the direction of the chorus was a fine piece of artistry.

IVY DAY FEATURES

EVERY SENIOR GIRL IN DAISY CHAIN

CROWNING SONG TO QUEEN

May Pole Dance More Elaborate Than Ever Before—Physical Education Girls Will Give a Russian Court Dance

Several unique features are to be carried out in the morning events of the Ivy Day program, May 12. Hitherto the girls' Daisy Chain has been small, only a few girls participating, but this year every girl in the Senior class is to be in the chain, and help carry out several fancy figures. The physical education department has been very good in inventing steps and figures, and in training the Senior girls.

Another new feature is the Crowning Song by the Senior girls. Dr. Hyde and Mrs. Raymond have been directing the chorus of Senior girls, and a beautiful English May song will be sung before the Queen. Later the girls of the physical education department will give a Russian court dance before the Queen, and this promises to be one of the most beautiful and effective parts of the program.

The Senior girls will sing an Ivy song while the Ivy is being planted, and this is something new also. The May Pole dance is of course an established custom, but the rest of the program is new and unexpected. The committee deserves especial praise in inventing new features and still holding to the old traditions. Every loyal student of the University should come out and show his appreciation of the hard work that the committee and the Seniors have done in making this annual holiday so full of pleasurable events.

SENIOR SNEAK DAY

SENIORS TO BE GUESTS OF THE CHANCELLOR

MYSTERY TO UNDER CLASS

Secret Get-a-way Will be in the Near Future—Rumor That Some Seniors Will be Prevented From Going

The Annual Senior Sneak Day is on. Seniors will enjoy the day at Crete as guests of Chancellor and Mrs. Samuel Avery. The time when they will leave as well as other particulars are closely withheld from all but Seniors.

The day originated by the Seniors affecting a secret get-a-way and retiring to some quiet town for a pleasant May picnic. Now the day has become recognized by the University authorities and excuses for absences due to the event are more readily acquired.

It is rumored that the different fraternities are planning to lock up their gay Seniors to prevent them from going. Jim Malone however, has promised to release any so imprisoned.

The following is the letter received by Seniors from the committee in charge:

May 3, 1915.

To the Prospective Grads of 1915.

The Weather Bureau promises a glorious day for... That settles the subject of weather. The Burlington train will leave at 8 o'clock. The whistle will blow and the wheels will actually begin to turn at 8:30, but the hour is set at 8 for the benefit of those who are never happy unless they are late.

Between 7 and 8 Jim Malone will visit all the fraternity and sorority houses and see that no Seniors are in prison. However, Seniors should not relax precautions to guard against surprise and captivity.

Picnic costumes are suggested. In previous years some of the young men have started with laundered collars, but none have returned with them and collars cost 12½ cents.

Lest the Seniors corrupt the innocent natives of Crete and the Blue valley with the prodigal use of their wealth, come to the station with exactly 84 cents in your possession, just enough to satisfy the demands of the soulless railroad corporation.

The train will return to Lincoln at 7:30 o'clock in the evening.

Satisfactory arrangements have been made so that no one will be hungry at 12:30 and 6:30 p. m. Light refreshments will be served between meals for those that desire.

The class will be entertained by water and by land, but the announcement of aerial stunts is suppressed by the censor.

Everybody is ordered to be present except the grouches.

By order of the class committee. Per the Chancellor's Office.
