SENIORS

The Lincoln Commercial Club have extended a very cordial invitation to the Seniors of the University to be their guests at a banquet Saturday evening. This will be the last big social event for the Senior class and none should fail to take advantage of this last opportunity to mingle with the men and women who have been associated during the last four years.

A CAMPUS BAND CONCERT

Now that we have come down to the closing days of the school year, it would be a delightful thing if we could have two or three band concerts on the campus. An hour on the campus in the evening from seven to eight, mingling in good fellowship and enjoying the music, would make these last days more pleasant and also strengthen Nebraska spirit. Let's have the band and quartet for a couple of evening concert!

THE FORUM

To the Editor of the Nebraskan:

I hope you will permit me to express my indignation at the libelous and insulting attack upon the Military department which you so inconsiderately printed last Thursday.

It is desirable that the columns of the Nebraskan should be open to the expression in proper form of all sorts of opinion, but it is not customary for a reputable paper to print indiscriminately all letters that come to its office. The law will hold you responsible for any libel that you may circulate in this manner and your readers have just grounds for complaint when you thrust before them a communication both libelous and offensive.

I will not express my opinion of your correspondent, whose name should be charitably unmentioned and forgotten. I appeal to you because you are in a position of responsibility. It is your duty to maintain the dignity of a University publication. In my opinion you have been guilty of a serious error of judgment which can only be atoned by an apology to the Military department and to your readers.

Yours very truly,

GUERNSEY JONES.

noon, interested audiences hearing the papers and discussing the subjects treated by the lecturers.

Sections B, C, and E, earth sciences, physical and exact sciences and engineering met in the Temple theater, Prof. G. D. Swezey presiding. Following was the program given in this sectional meeting:

"Why Timber Does Not Shrink as Much Endwise as Sidewise—A Theory," Prof. G. R. Chatburn.

"Sharks Teeth and Spines from the Carboniferous of Nebraska," Carrie A. Barbour, state museum.

"Notes on Lightning," O. J. Ferguson.

"Loess Plains Outliers in Gage County, Nebraska," N. A. Bengtson.

"High School Physics Teaching in Nebraska," B. Clifford Hendricks, Peru normal.

"The Trail of a Meteor (with lantern)," George A. Loveland.

"Recent Development in Indirect Lighting," (with lantern), I. M. Kerlin.

"The Phenomenon of the Steam Loop Applied to Steam Heating," J. D. Hoffman.

"Some of the Pedagogy of General Science," Herbert Brownell.

Mr. Kerlin displayed pictures of many interiors of public buildings and private homes, explaining the improvements which have been made by installation of indirect lighting systems and explaining the method of installation to obtain the greatest efficiency at the least cost.

The biology and medicine, ethnology and folk lore sections met in the faculty room at the Temple building at 2 p. m., H. B. Latimer presiding.

The following program was given: "The Invasion of a Planted Prairie Grove," Raymond J. Pool.

"A New Sand Hill at Grand Island and Its Flora," C. J. Elmore, Grand Island college.

"Prevention of Disease," H. H. Waite, University of Nebraska.

"Parasites Found in Nebraska Muskrats" (with lantern), Franklin D. Barker.

"The Legend of Pahuk," Meivin R. Gilmore, state historical society.

"Progress in Nebraska Folk Lore," Louise Pound.
