STAY OVER!

Alumni festivities in most universities are considered of enough importance that every undergraduate not only feels it a duty but a great privilege to remain and take part. This year the program is elaborate enough to make it impossible for a student to leave the campus unless matters of great moment make it necessary.

What the old grad likes to see is not a campus divested of its life, but one which revives the old days for him. A deserted campus is about as inspiring as a dead and leafless tree. Let's make the old halls ring! Examinations will be over and there will be an opportunity to celebrate unchecked by the consciousness that we should be somewhere "plugging." The pageant, of course, everyone will attend. The alumni carnival can be appreciated by all. There will be dancing in the Armory; there will be stunts on the campus green; there will be eats in the Chapel; there will be gay crowds everywhere. No one can afford to miss this great climax of the school year.

GOOD BYE

With this issue the present management bids adieu to the readers of the Nebraskan. We have had a pleasant stay. It has meant hard work and considerable sacrifice, but we have enjoyed it. The paper could have been better, but considering everything, we are satisfied, and hope you are. There are many unpleasant features connected with publishing a college daily, but they are forgotten in the joy and satisfaction of giving each morning to a thousand or more students a written summary of the happenings and near happenings that are of interest to them.

Our chief aims have been to make the Nebraskan as representative as possible and to make it stand for the best things in school. As to what degree we have succeeded in carrying out those aims we are willing to let you judge. Some have liked the paper; some have not. Let us hope that the latter will be better pleased in the future. As to the former, we regret our leave-taking—your encouragement.

An Appreciation

My fourth year of service with the Band closed last Thursday. The members of this year's organization have shown a spirit of loyalty combined with musicianship which have placed the present band on a much higher plane than that of previous years. It is hoped that this effort is appreciated by the University public. I am happy to take advantage of the editor's suggestion to publicly thank the members of the Band for their enthusiastic co-operation, as well as the student body for its kindly support. C. B. CORNELL.
