KNOW THE UNIVERSITY

It can now be said that the new method of holding Convocation occasionally in the various buildings about the campus is a good one. The number of students that were present to listen to Professor Barbour yesterday proves that they like to see the things they hear about. Just a lecture alone is often not interesting but when one can follow a speaker and see what he is telling about, the subject at once becomes very interesting. So with the new method.

Wouldn't Walker's scheme, presented in today's Forum, be worth trying?

THINK WELL OF YOURSELF

Think well of yourself. Be good to yourself. You are very important to YOU. In you are all the elements of a successful man. You have within you the latent force that will life you "successward." Don't pity yourself. Don't lessen your own value in your own eyes. Have confidence in yourself. Believe in your own ability to do big things. Only by having faith in yourself can you compel others to have faith in you. Treat yourself as a man of worth. Demand much of yourself. Be your own hardest taskmaster. Be determined to better the work you are doing. Show how you can produce more at less cost of mental and physical energy. Think big thoughts and back them up with big deeds. You can when you will. You will.

Raymond Robins—the man of great influence who was here last year—is making his way westward and it seems that he will not miss the University of Nebraska.

Last, but not least—some of the politicians seem satisfied. Of course, it is hard to please everyone.

FORUM

The University Directory
 To the Editor of the Nebraskan:

Now that it is about time for the annual University directory to be begun, the writer wishes to make a suggestion in regard to its form.

Immediately after a student enters his name and address on the University records, his address is liable to change. And that there are many changes in addresses during the University year everyone knows. As soon as a student changes his address the directory fails to be of much use in locating him quickly. Then why not have a perpetual directory somewhat after this fashion: Place a large blank book in University hall in some conspicuous place, and whenever a student changes his address, let him write his name and new address therein. And at intervals of a week or so the Nebraskan would render a distinct service by printing the change in addresses for that period. The book, of course, would remain as a guide to be referred to at any time.

As for the change in the directory itself, the writer suggests that a margin be left on each page headed "Changes in Addresses" for the convenience of those who wish to copy the changes as they take place. The change would require but little more space for the margin than that commonly left and consequently would require very little more material. The space should at least be sufficient for two changes to be made.

If the plan as outlined cannot be carried out, let some other plan be followed, and let's have an up-to-the-minute directory.

R. H. WALKER.

Word has been received by Lincoln friends from Mr. and Mrs. William Beutenmuller of New York City, announcing the birth of a son. They already had two little daughters. Mrs. Beutenmuller was formerly Miss Edna Hyatt of this city and one of the early alumnae of the University.

A sorority wedding took place Saturday at the Pi Beta Phi chapter house, when Miss Margaret Helen Price, daughter of Mrs. J. G. Price, was united in marriage to Mr. Clay H. Thomas, of Omaha. The marriage vows were exchanged at four o'clock with Dr. Leon D. Young, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating. Miss Clara Powers played the wedding music, using the Lohengrin bridal chorus as the wedding party entered the room of ceremony.

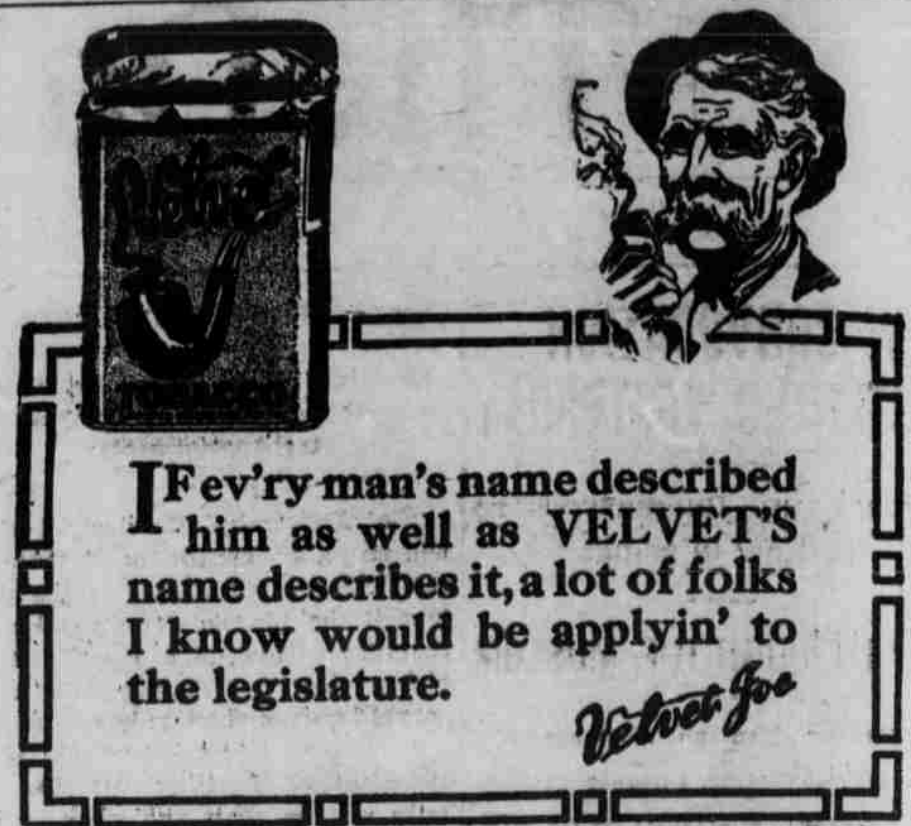

The bride was attended by Miss Florinda Young and Miss Esther Thomas, sister of the groom. Before the ceremony, Harry M. Cooper sang "Because."

The bride formerly lived in Iowa City. Since her mother has resided in Lincoln she has spent part of the time here the past two years.

Mr. Thomas is a member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity and his "frat" brothers were included in the guest list for the wedding. He is engaged in business in Omaha where he and his bride will reside at 5020 Nicholas street. The honeymoon will be spent in the east.

The guest list for the wedding included the following from out of town: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thomas, and son, Donald, parents and brother of the groom; Miss Mary Phillipi, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Beardsley and daughters Ruth and Margaret, of Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hughes, Roy Ward, Council Bluffs; Miss Rachel Kellogg, Percival, Iowa; Leah Shaw, Osceola; Mrs. R. IF every man's name described him as well as VELVET'S name describes it, a lot of folks I know would be applyin' to the legislature.

Student Efficiency
 Attainment of efficiency will be the design to which the University man of tomorrow will devote practically every hour of his time. He will be so engrossed in his purpose that his favorite recreation will be that which aids him in his quest, and only those amusements that further his efficiency will be chosen.
