HUSKERS LEAVE FOR AMES TODAY

LARGE BUNCH OF ROTERS TO ACCOMPANY HUSKERS ON TRIP

HUSKER LINE IN BAD SHAPE

Rutherford and Otoupalik Not in Good Trim For Battle—Captain of Huskers May Remain on Side Lines

Mr. Stiehm and his warriors will depart for Ames on the 4.30 train this afternoon. They will be accompanied to the train by all Nebraskans who live in the vicinity of Lincoln and care enough about giving the Huskers a good send off to accompany them thus far. After they have mounted the train they will be accompanied by all who boast a large income and don't have to work for a living. The train on which the Huskers will leave will follow a course mapped out by the Rock Island railroad track until it reaches Omaha which will occur some time near 6 o'clock. From Omaha, the Huskers will resume their journey and their card games, taking the direction toward Des Moines. They will arrive at the capital city at 10.20 p. m., where they will take dinner (or supper, we like to reach all classes of our readers); after which they will journey to Ames on the Northwestern.

Saturday afternoon the Huskers will attempt to subjugate the Ames football players and please the audience collected, and when this is done to their satisfaction they will mount the first train homeward for Lincoln. Nebraska rooters will accompany the players the full distance, the only difference between the two being that the rooters will incur no risk of broken bones during the game while the players will incur no risk of broken finance.

The Huskers will not be able to put their best game up against the Iowa farmers on account of the dilapidated condition in which the Catholics left them.

Captain Dick Rutherford may not be able to enter the game at all, but if the necessity requires, and it is possible to give him a working out he will probably give the farmers a chance to fall down in front of him.

Otoupalik, star fullback for the Huskers, has several sore spots that are slow to heal and he will not be able to play his best game against the agriculturists.

Statistics on Banks

Regarding rates of interest charged by Nebraska national banks, the following information has been received from John Skelton Williams, controller of the currency, by Director A. E. Sheldon of the Legislative Reference Bureau:

ADDRESSES COMMERCIAL CLUB

Mr. E. E. Smith of the Firm of Speier & Simon Discusses Advertising

"The Psychology of Advertising," was the subject of the address which E. E. Smith, president of the Lincoln Ad Club and advertising manager of Speier & Simon Clothing Co., gave to the University Commercial Club at their regular meeting yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Smith emphasized the necessity of a critical study of human nature for successful advertising. He pointed out the various methods of appeal to prospective customers—through senses, will, habit and intuition. Among the things an "ad" writer must keep in mind are form, as to proportion, spacing and size, distinctiveness, individuality, and above all the power of suggestion.

Mr. Smith's talk was well appreciated by the club.

MUSIC FOR CONVOCATION

Two Year Plan is Outlined by Mrs. Raymond—Few Schools Have Better Public Music

The Music Committee has adopted at Mrs. Raymond's suggestion plans for musical convocations for the next two years which will give Nebraska students unexampled opportunities for training in musical appreciation. It is very much to be doubted if any school in the country has a better program of public music, and certainly few have its equal. Nebraska students who do not avail themselves of it will be neglecting one of the finest opportunities of their school life,—but judging from the past there will be few vacant seats at the musical convocations.

The program as outlined calls for two parallel series of programs. One of these will cover instrumental music of the highest type known in musical evolution—the symphonic music of the orchestra. This series was opened last year with the performance of seven of the nine symphonies of Beethoven, Mrs. Raymond at the pipe organ supplementing the string quartet in a manner to give a truly wonderful impression of the orchestra. The remaining symphonies of Beethoven are to be given this year. In addition to the symphonies, overtures of the famous operas are to be given. Already one such program has been given this fall—namely, the overtures to Von Weber, "Der Freischuetz," Mozart, "Marriage of Figaro," and Beethoven, "Egmont." As planned these are to be followed by Beethoven's Eighth Symphony; Mendelssohn, Overtures to "Fingal's Cave" and "Midsummer Night"; Schumann, Overture to "Manfred," and Schubert, to "Rosamunde"; Liszt, "Les Preludes"—a symphonic poem,—and Dvorak, Overture to "Carnival"; Wagner, the Magic Fire Music from "Die Walkure," Liebestod from "Tristan und Isolde," Waldweben from "Siegfried," and overture, from either "Tannhaeuser" or "Lohengruen"; finally, Tschai-kowsky, "Slav March," Overture to "1812," "Elegie," and the famous 6th Symphony, the "Pathetique." The mere

JUNIOR CLASS MEETING

Decisions Are All Unanimous—President Haggart Urges All Juniors to Work for the Class

The Junior class unanimously elected the following officers Thursday morning at 11 o'clock in Law 101:

Vice President—Marguerite Kauffman.
Secretary—Sam Grenstone.
Treasurer—Harry T. Presley.
Sergeants-at-Arms—Louise Coe and Mary Heller.

Virgil Haggart thanked the class for electing him and urged that each individual should consider himself a member of a large committee to help in the betterment of the Junior class. Each of the officers responded to the usual cry of "speech, speech."

Following the precedent of the Junior Laws, Bob Waring, Al Bryson and Albert Covert were nominated for chaplain. After they had each made a few remarks it was decided not to have a chaplain.

PROTEST TRACK VIGOROUSLY

Proposed University Switch Track Is Meeting with a Great Many Objections

Charles Hammond has filed a communication with the city clerk in which he protested vigorously to Mayor Bryan and the city Commissioners against the granting of a permit to place a switch track across Tenth street in front of the viaduct. Mr. Hammond thinks that another means may be secured of getting a track into the University campus.

Mr. Hammond said:

"I have seen a good deal of discussion in newspapers about the Northwestern and Missouri Pacific railway crossing Tenth street with a track into the University grounds, and your honorable body directed to fully investigate the trackage proposition before acting. I, as a taxpayer and citizen of Lincoln, for more than thirty years, am opposed to granting any such privilege of or to the railroads. They with other lines of railroads virtually closed Ninth and Tenth streets by constant use of trains running over same. These streets were the only ones for farmers to get to Lincoln from the northwest and it was dangerous to life and teams of farmers to get over grade crossings, as but little attention was given to the safety of those desiring to cross the tracks, as the cars were always in motion or expected to move without notice.

"John E. Miller, the merchant prince, is quoted as saying that Tenth street was only for railroad purposes. He forgets his comparative humble start was made on Tenth street, and we not all, think that it is a good business street yet. If a switch track is needed from the Northwestern and the Missouri Pacific it can be run south from their main line freight tracks south between Tenth and where Eleventh would run through or Twelfth street to east of Eleventh, only having to cross Vine street which would answer the needs of the University grounds trackage and do no injury to the people desiring the use of the viaduct and Tenth street for travel."

NEBRASKA WILL DEBATE KANSAS

DUAL LEAGUE FORMED WITH JAYHAWKERS

AN INCREASE IN ARMAMENT

Announcement by Professor Fogg—Candidates Called Out for Dec. 10 Battles—Teams in "University Week" Program

Nebraska's intercollegiate debaters will this year battle with representatives of the University of Kansas in two simultaneous contests, at Lincoln and at Lawrence, on Friday evening, December 10, on what the half dozen Nebraska professors on the University Debating Board are said to regard as the most important question just now before the country—the question of immediately and substantially increasing its armament, military and naval.

Formal announcement of the conclusion of arrangements for a dual league with Kansas was made last evening by Professor M. M. Fogg, professor of rhetoric, the secretary of the Debating Board, in a notice on the Intercollegiate Debate bulletin-board on the first floor of University Hall. The professors on the Board are: Professor H. W. Caldwell, American History; Professor F. M. Fling, European History; Professor M. M. Fogg, Rhetoric; Professor G. E. Howard, Political Science and Sociology; Dean W. G. Hastings, Law; Professor J. E. LeRossignol, Economics and Commerce; and Professor H. K. Wolfe, Philosophy.

All students who are candidates for membership in the Argumentation and Debate Seminary and for the eight places on the two teams are requested by Professor Fogg to communicate with him at once.

The work of preparing for these debates—only six weeks off—which begins immediately, will not involve such intensive study and training as was the case in the 1907-1913 debates in the now disbanded Central Debating League. The short time would not permit that, and furthermore for these contests Nebraska and Kansas have arranged to decrease faculty training, before the debates, and to make it more informal.
