BLANCHE RING COMING
Direct from Los Angeles where she has just closed a long and successful season in "Nobody Home," Blanche Ring, who must be classed among the most popular musical comedy artists of the day, will play a very short tour in Orpheum vaudeville beginning in Salt Lake City the week of November 7th. She will be seen at the Orpheum Theatre in this city a part of the week of November 21.

Miss Ring will be supported by a company of four people, including Charles J. Winninger, an excellent comedian who is, incidentally, Miss Ring's husband. Her vaudeville vehicle will be a new arrangement of her many successes and she will, of course, introduce many songs.

As is well known Miss Ring is one of the beauties of the American stage, and besides her beauty, she has the great advantage of being especially talented. She is a delightful actress and an attractive comedienne. She can always be relied upon to score a tremendous personal success. She was in vaudeville for a few months last season but her appearances were all too few for vaudeville fans. As soon as she finished the Los Angeles run of "Nobody Home," the Orpheum Circuit immediately made inducements to her to headline throughout the circuit. She could not consent to this but she agreed to play just four weeks in Orpheum houses. The Orpheum Theatre in this city is being congratulated and envied for its good fortune in being among the chosen ones in which Miss Ring will appear.

The name of Miss Ring will be forever associated with certain songs that have been sung and whistled throughout the world. She possesses a peculiar happy knack of popularizing songs. Everybody has heard "Bedelia." Miss Ring was the first to introduce that song. She was also responsible for the popularity of "Waltz Me Around Again Willie," "Yip-I-Addy," "In the Good Old Summer Time," "Why is the Ocean so Near the Shore?" and a score of others. When she appeared in vaudeville last season, she was the first singer to introduce "It's a Long Way to Tipperary" in this country. She happened to hear the tune before the words had reached this side of the Atlantic so she cabled to England for the words. So many other performers later sang the song that Miss Ring abandoned it. For her engagement on the Orpheum Circuit, Miss Ring promises to introduce several new songs as well as sing some of the old favorites.

Though the skies were threatening and the field was heavy with the rain a good sized crowd of rooters gathered at the Athletic Field yesterday evening to participate in the first open-air football rally in the history of Nebraska.

The band was present and played a number of selections before the crowd came under the direction of U. S. Harkson and Burke Taylor, the official cheer leaders, for its vocal activities. The cadets were all present and the leaders had the battalions cheering against each other to give them an idea what they would have to do when an opposing cheer team was met.

One or two yells were tried out on which the crowd did nobly in an effort to cheer the Varsity on and help them get a touchdown against the Freshmen.

The cheer leaders were pleased with the results of the innovation and it is thought that the proceedings will be repeated again before the Iowa game. The yells printed above are the ones which Nebraska will use most in the battle with Kansas and Iowa.

AN ODD CONCEPTION OF A REAL FOOTBALL CROWD

The suggestion that Nebraska and Oklahoma may clash in a post-season game, providing the Cornhuskers escape a hiding in their scheduled battles with Kansas and Iowa, has excited the interest of Wichita, Kansas, which has a hunch that it should file a bid for the game. As originally outlined, the post-season engagement was booked for Kansas City, which undoubtedly would turn out 15,000 to 20,000 strong. Kansas City has a massive stadium, built several years ago for the Kansas-Missouri game, and the K. C. football bugs are confident that a conflict between the Huskers and the Sooners would jam the big field to the gates. However, Wichita expects to "horn in" on K. C. by offering a field with a stingy seating capacity of 6,000. Witness the following from a Wichita newspaper: Wichita would be the logical place for the football game between Nebraska and Oklahoma if arrangements can be made for the two teams meeting. With the game played in Wichita it would be within easy distance for hundreds of Oklahomans to make the trip.

Island Park is an ideal location for the game and with bleacher seats along the east side of the field a crowd of 6,000 could be handled easily.—Lincoln Daily Star.
