XANTIPPE REPEATED SATURDAY NIGHT

ANOTHER PERFORMANCE ASKED BECAUSE OF SUCCESS

MISS WILLIAMS TAKES LEAD

DeWitt Foster Impersonates Calloway, the Bad Man—Miss Kimball Takes Part in Second Performance —Other Players

"Believe Me, Xantippe," was presented successfully by the University School of Dramatics before a large audience in the Temple last Friday night. They repeated it for the benefit of the alumni and other visitors Saturday night.

The leading roles were played by Maurice Clark, '17, as George McFarland, and Ella Williams, '15, as Dolly Kamman, the sheriff's daughter. Their talent is well known to the students of the University, and much was expected of them. "Simp" Calloway, the bad man, was impersonated by DeWitt Foster, '18, who has appeared a number of times previous to this in University dramatics. The character of Violet, "Simp's" sweetheart, was interpreted skillfully by Ruth Henniger, '18, who, after an absence of several years, has again taken up an active interest in the dramatic department. Niel Brown, '14, showed much ability as "Buck Kamman," the sheriff. Leon Snyder, '15, Ladelans Kubik, '17, Harold Campbell, '16, and Camille Leyda, '16, are all familiar to the students and did full justice to the parts assigned.

Not only was the work of the individual players unusual, but the cast as a whole worked together to produce a play quite to excel the average amateur production.

Special credit is due Carolyn Kimball, '18, who took the part of Aunt Martha for the second performance at only a few hours' notice.

Faculty Gymnasium Class

Announcements were sent out yesterday by Prof. R. G. Clapp to the effect that a faculty gymnasium class would commence the first Wednesday after Thanksgiving, to meet every Monday, Wednesday and Friday for the rest of the semester.

The class will organize on next Monday afternoon at the class hour. All members of the faculty and officers of the administration are eligible.

THETAS HOLD OPEN HOUSE

The Second Event of Its Kind Bids Fair to Become an Annual Event —Many Attend

A large number of representative students attended the Kappa Alpha Theta open house after the football game Saturday. This is the second of such events, which the Thetas have arranged, and it is thought that it will become an annual affair.

The innovation was started two years ago, when the same sorority held open house at a similar time. The purpose of such an open house is to promote good spirit and afford the other students and opportunity to get acquainted with the hostesses. The success of the event speaks well for the undertaking.

RECEIVES AN IMITATION BILL

Mr. Sheldon Gets What Appears to Be a $500 Note—Is a Political Advertisement

Mr. S. P. Hughes, of Howell, has sent to Director A. E. Sheldon of the Legislative Reference Bureau, a paper which appears to be a $500 note on the Bank of Nebraska, but upon a closer examination it proves to be a political hand-bill. The legend upon it is "Bank of Nebraska will pay on demand at the Slave Pen in Washington, $500 for every white or black slave delivered in Nebraska."

"(Signed)

"STEVE A. DOUBLELASH, Gen. Purse."

One side of the bill has caricature of Douglas smoking a large cigar with a glass of whisky in his hand and on the other side is a caricature of President Franklin Pierce. The vignette in the center represents an enormous owl holding a streamer in its beak on which are the words: "Nebraska—Land of Liberty."

The bill was apparently used by either the Republicans or the Anti-Douglas Democrats in the presidential campaign of 1860 and is the first paper of the sort ever brought to attention in Nebraska.

New York, Nov. 21.—Phillip J. Harrison, a graduate of the University of Nebraska in the class of 1904, and former registrar of that institution, was elected vice president of the Delta Upsilon Greek letter fraternity corporation which governs financially forty-three chapels in as many American colleges and universities. The election was held at the annual meeting here Saturday. John Patterson, Columbia, '92, a New York lawyer, was elected president of the corporation, of which Justice Charles Evans Hughes of the United States supreme court is the honorary president.

GUY CHAMBERLAIN, IS PEERLESS END

THE CORNHUSKERS GREAT 1915 GROUND GAINER

IS UNEQUALED IN THE WEST

Chamberlain Responsible Largely for the Third All-Victorious Season of Huskers—Ground Gaining Ability Respected

He never has made a gain of over 100 yards on a football field—doubtless, while the present rules hold good he never will—but he has made every kind of a gain under that. His name is Guy Chamberlain; he weighs 194 pounds, and he uses up ten seconds of time in traveling ten times that many yards.

During the last week of September and the first week of October, Nebraska University was one big question mark. And the question was "Will 'Mother' Abbott and Guy Chamberlain be back this year?" Abbott answered in part by pulling in one day and skinning on his war togs, but Chamberlain stayed on the farm till at last, one day when everyone else had given him up, the tall Husker coach turned his rookies over to his assistants and went out to see the young agriculturist.

No one knows, except these two, what the big chief said that day, but result is seen in the defeat of Notre Dame and the tremendous walloping of Kansas and Iowa by the Huskers.

Notre Dame had hope of a victory until Chamberlain exploded their hopes with one beautifully executed zig-zag run; Kansas hoped to hold the Huskers to a low score. Ten thousand Kansans collected to see them do it. They had neglected to figure on the mightily left end the Huskers were using for a pinch hitter. Then the Hawkeyes came and tried to stop him, but he refused to be stopped.

Guy Chamberlain plays football with an ease which smacks of perfection. His opponents know when he is going to carry the ball. He makes no secret of it. Standing well back of the line, he looks coolly over the field, at his own team and at his opponents. He takes the ball, tucks it carefully under his left arm and starts swiftly

Meet Staged for Today

The remaining events of the inter-class track meet, which was begun about two weeks ago, will take place this afternoon on the Athletic field, along with the Senior-Junior football game. The events to be pulled off are the pole vault, high jump, low hurdles and relay race.

Track athletes have given over outdoor work lately on account of the chilly weather, and they will continue their work indoors during the winter.

Hold Regimental Review

The second regimental review of the year was held last evening on the Athletic field. The companies showed considerable improvement in marching since the parade of last week. In the first review, Company E maintained the best line, and in the second Company G was best.

Students Went to Church

All-University church day was observed in Lincoln Sunday. Efforts to get out the University students met with good results. Most of the pastors reported that the number of students at the morning services was noticeably larger than usual, and that the number at the evening services was especially large.

Phi Gamma Delta entertained at a house party Friday evening. The alumni who attended were Clyde Tunberg, Tekamah; S. F. Holmes, Kansas City; Gam Orin, Council Bluffs; R. T. Burdick, Herman, and Alan Dudley, Omaha. Dr. R. T. Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Don Bell were chaperones.

THE THANKSGIVING PROGRAM

Annual Program at 11 O'Clock—Governor Morehead to Speak—University Chorus Will Sing

The annual Thanksgiving program will be given at Convocation this morning, at which time Governor J. H. Morehead will speak and the University Chorus will sing "Te Deum" by Dudley Buck.

It has been the custom for a number of years to have a special program just before the Thanksgiving vacation, and those in charge feel that this year they have been especially fortunate in securing such excellent numbers.

George L. Sheldon, '92, former governor of Nebraska and now a plantation owner at Wayside, Miss., arrived in Lincoln Sunday and will remain over Thanksgiving day with friends. Each time he returns to Lincoln his friends remark that he looks more and more like the southern plantation owner of old times. He is now as brown as a nut and that, added to his broad hat and his broad stride, is more than enough to attract attention. While admitting that he still takes a lot of interest in politics, Mr. Sheldon declined last evening to comment on any of the things that are uppermost in the minds of Nebraska statesmen. Not even the Nebraska attempt to draw Justice Hughes into the presidential race was sufficient to elicit a word from the ex-governor.

The Silver Lynx fraternity entertained Saturday evening at a dance at the Commercial club. The following were chaperones: Prof. and Mrs. G. W. Rood, Prof. Gorman and Walter Rogers. Among the alumni members of the fraternity were Robert Finley, William Baumann, Richard Lyman and James McLafferty, of Omaha.
