Post-Thanksgiving Dinner

A post-Thanksgiving dinner will be given by the University Students' guild of the First Presbyterian church in the chapel on Thirteenth and M streets, Saturday evening at 6 o'clock. This dinner is arranged for those who remain in the city during the Thanksgiving recess. Some of the Home Economics students have prepared a menu for that occasion, such as "Mother used to make." It is a "co-operative" meal, that it is to say, it will be given at cost.

Those interested are to call Miss Eva Scriven, B-2452, or M. H. Powers, L-5456, so that enough will be prepared for everyone.

A recent vote taken among the students of the "Big Nine" universities resulted in an overwhelming majority against the summer baseball rule. This rule at present makes college athletes ineligible for football who have played baseball during the summer.

GIRLS' CORNHUSKER PARTY

Will Be Given Dec. 3 in the Armory—Costumes Will Impersonate University Life

The Girls' Cornhusker party, which has developed into an annual event for the girls in the University of Nebraska, will be held Friday evening, December 3, in the Armory. It is to be a costume party, and the committee in charge is making preparations for the best and biggest party of the year.

Last year over 300 girls attended. Much time and thought was devoted weeks beforehand to the attire. Some very clever costumes and representatives were there, such as Coach Stihm and his mighty warriors, the yell leaders on the side lines, cadets, Prof. H. W. Caldwell, George and Martha Washington, clowns, dudes and small children.

Several organizations are planning to put on "stunts" this year. The whole evening will be devoted to fun and merriment.

GOVERNOR READS PROCLAMATION

SPECIAL THANKSGIVING CONVOCATION WAS HELD TUESDAY

NEBRASKA SEES PROSPERITY

Chorus Furnishes Thanksgiving Music for the Occasion—Governor Points Out Many Reasons for Nebraska's Prosperity

A special Thanksgiving Convocation was held Tuesday in Memorial hall. Governor Morehead read his Thanksgiving proclamation, and the University chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Carrie B. Raymond, sang special Thanksgiving songs.

"I am not especially proud of anything I might make in the form of a proclamation for I feel I cannot express my feelings in words," said Governor John H. Morehead, as an introduction to the reading of his Thanksgiving proclamation to the University students.

Thanksgiving Proclamation

In a government of a free and independent people, prosperous by reason of their devotion to their daily toll, blessed beyond measure by the outpouring of the gifts of God; it is most appropriate that a day of general Thanksgiving be observed. In setting apart a day for this purpose, I deem it expedient to mention some very important facts for which the people of this state have reason to be grateful.

This is an annual custom, and I feel that no day of the year should be more conscientiously and sincerely observed. Everyone should give thanks to the Great Creator of all things, for the blessings of health, prosperity and peace with all nations of the earth.

We have reached a period in the history of our nation with the education and intelligence of our people, that we are fully qualified to pass in an impassioned way upon all questions pertaining to the good of our country. The people are no longer carried away by sensational leaders, but think calmly and sanely before they act. While Europe is being depopulated of her young men in the most destructive war in the history of the world, our people have shown a conservative attitude in helping the men who serve them in a public way to keep out of foreign complications and to adjust our differences without resort to force.

The people of Nebraska have many reasons to congratulate themselves on the bountiful crop of 1915. The industrial conditions of the state are splendid, and the state has no financial obligations unpaid; we have nearly ten millions of good securities in our state treasury, drawing 5 per cent interest, bringing an annual income of $500,000 into our public schools and educating our children and qualifying them for citizenship; guaranteeing to the state the administration of our public affairs in an intelligent way as it will be governed by an intelligent people.

As chairman of the Banking Board, I can report a splendid condition of nearly eight hundred state banks, with a deposit of more than a hundred million dollars, and but a very few failures, and these for a small amount, within the past fifteen years, a record which is not equalled by any state in the union. The condition of the banks is a barometer to the real industrial conditions of the country.

Also as chairman of the Board of Educational Lands and Funds, I can report an increased value of the many acres of school lands, and many new substantial school buildings in most all of the counties of the state.

With the state institutions in splendid financial condition and in control of superintendents who are ever mindful of the great responsibility to the unfortunate people under their charge, the united efforts of all the people to raise the moral standard and to better conditions, I feel that of all the years, none have been more prosperous or more deserving of the united thanks of all the people, than 1915.

Therefore, I ask the people of our great and beloved state to stop on the day designated, and realizing their good fortune in being citizens of such a noble country and such a splendid state, to remove hate and jealousy from their hearts and give thanks to the Creator for these blessings.

In accordance with the proclamation of the President of the United States, a custom long established and by the power vested in me, I set apart the 25th day of November, as Thanksgiving day.

JOHN H. MOREHEAD,
Governor.

By the Governor:

CHARLES W. POOL,
Secretary of State.
Executive Office, Lincoln, Nebraska,
November 12, 1915.

FIRST DEBATE SINCE 1904

Nebraska Has Not Met Kansas for Eleven Years—Business Managers Appointed

Kansas meets Nebraska in the first debate between the two schools since 1904 on December 10, when the most timely question of the hour—Armament—will be argued by representatives of the two institutions.

The affirmative Nebraska team will uphold its side of the proposition, "Resolved, that the United States should immediately increase its armament (armament being taken to mean both forces and equipment)" at the Temple theatre, while the negative team is arguing the same question at Lawrence.

The debate is under the management of Darrel Lane, who has appointed as his assistants Roy Harney and Ivan Beede. The business manager has started preparations with the announcement that the admission price will be materially reduced—the first step toward filling the theatre with students who are anxious to see Nebraska uphold in forensics the reputation won on the football field.

MANY STUDENTS HOMEWARD BOUND

EVERYONE IS DISTRACTED BY THOUGHTS OF HOME

CLASSES FAST DWINDLING

All Trains Carrying Students Away—Freshmen Grateful for Having Escaped the Delinquency Committee—Return Monday

For the last week the Freshmen's dreams have been filled with visions of turkey, puddings, cranberries and pumpkin pies. Everywhere he goes he can see them floating before him. He has scarcely been able to study or even sleep for thoughts of home and turkey. At last the time has come when those dreams are almost a reality. No more boiled beef, no more boarding-house fare, for a few blissful days. Is the Freshman the only one to think these thoughts? Oh, no; but whisper it! For the older students are older and sterner and their pride forbids them to entertain such childish visions.

Already classes are beginning to dwindle and behind every day, and in every corner of the campus one may find a bulging suitcase or a well worn traveling bag. What do classes matter when one is going home (that is, any classes except European History and Psychology, and a few others of equally great importance?)

To most people, particularly the Freshman, there is much to give thanks for tomorrow, for they have escaped safely the dread hand of Dean Engberg. Yet no matter how glad they are to go home, they are even gladder to know that they can also come back.
