With the hats of an alumnus and a professor in the ring we are wondering what the finals will bring.

Along comes a recent graduate with an offer of two medals to the sharp shooters. Takes Nebraska graduates to show prosperity.

Governor Morehead is to preside at the debate Friday night. Always in the lime light, that is what keeps men up.

Whatever the conditions, we are pleased to note that "Bill" Noble is on his way to Europe.

The question now is, will the freshmen defeat the seniors this afternoon?

Even if it was not the proper caper, the action of DeFord places him in line for a newspaper reportership or shows that he is fitted to become a great "Sherlocko."

In regard to the Wisconsin football coach, Gilmour Dobie, one of the strong candidates sent a telegram containing the following words: "Wisconsin has first call." Short but sweet.

You will notice that the big sport writers are not forgetting Chamberlain.

FORUM

Does Student Opinion at Nebraska censor such a performance as that of Which George De Ford was guilty, Friday night? As I have talked with other people concerning it, and have heard it discussed by both men and women, I conclude that Student Opinion will not stand for a recurrence of such an act. A statement of what ought to be the punishment and who ought to be punished or blamed is not the purpose of this article.

I would like to have it felt, though, that the things that are done or are not done at Nebraska, are because Student Sentiment wills it so, and not because Chancellor Avery or Dean Engberg or Dean Graham have laid down a rule. Here Student Opinion has come into play. Perhaps George De Ford and the girls who were in the "bunch" thought they were playing a huge joke. Student Sentiment has failed to see it in that light. It has judged it as a deed disloyal to Nebraska spirit. Here was an all-University girls' party—the one time of all the year when the girls have the opportunity of getting together alone for a good time, such as girls in Girls' Colleges often have. Here for the first time was that marred—perhaps, not that night, but the afterthoughts of it. What will be the effect on next year's party?

This is the time for us all to wake up and do things, because they are right, not because some law demands that we do them or do not do them.

DORIS SLATER.

There has been some discussion since the beginning of the school year as to whether or not there should be a University Glee club here this year, whether the benefits obtained by the members and the University are commensurate with the time, energy and money expended by the members and those in charge. In view of the fact that the success of the club depends to a large degree upon the spirit shown by the students themselves, this is undoubtedly a debatable question, but as the time is near when the club can get in its best work, the question should be decided now.

In the first place, a well organized Glee club may be considered as necessary to the University. Other large universities have them, and they are given and made to have an important place in student activities. Then, too, a Glee club affords training in a line not touched by any other branch of study. Many universities have both men's and ladies' clubs. But the most important factor at present is the near approach of University Extension Week. Last year, the club played an important part in the program of that week, and was well received at every point and its work spoken of in highly favorable terms. It is expected out over the state to take the same active part again this year, and the need of this week alone is sufficient reason why the University needs a Glee club.

On the other hand, the advantages to be gained by the members are many. Training is given under highly competent leadership in the study and presentation of good music. The men get in touch with people who know good music and meet many worth-while people, whom they perhaps otherwise would not know. They also know that they are helping to boost the University, and the association of the men themselves is no small factor. These and many other things accrue.

Now in this particular instance, we may safely say that the success of the club depends wholly upon the students. The music committee and Mrs. Raymond are ready and willing to do their part. The managers of the Extension Week program are anxious to have the assistance of the club. The towns asking for dates are expecting it. It is up to the students to put it across. However, this is not a matter of one or two practices, but of steady consistent practice from the time of organization till the trip begins. Tryouts will soon be held and it is hoped that a large number will try, as in a school of this size there must be plenty of talent. Selectoins will be made by competent judges. Men who have talent in that line should be willing to make a little sacrifice along other lines in order to take advantage of the offer and to help boost the University.
