RUTHERFORD GOES TO COACH INDIANA

WILL ASSIST COACH STIEHM AT THE EASTERN SCHOOL

ANNOUNCEMENT A SURPRISE

Some Criticism Falls on Mr. Stiehm and He Issues a Statement as to His Mind—Reed to Have Charge of Business End

Two important developments in the coaching situation put in their appearance yesterday, starting things going again after the lull which followed the storm accompanying Coach Stiehm's jump to Indiana. It first became known that the committee having under its consideration the successor for Stiehm had reached a decision and had recommended a man for election. The same afternoon Coach Stiehm announced that Dick Rutherford, captain of the 1915 Huskers, had accepted the job of assistant coach at Indiana.

The announcement that Rutherford would go to Indiana came after the committee had held its meeting, but before its recommendations had been announced. The committee also recommended a change in the usual policy, suggesting the election of a younger man as assistant coach at a salary of $2,000, and the retention of Guy Reed as assistant director with complete charge of the business end of the department, also at a salary of $2,000. The proposed successor to Coach Jumbo's shoes will get $3,000 a year, if he accepts. It is understood that the board has already acted upon these recommendations.

The man selected for athletic director is well known in eastern and western football, and has had a wide experience in coaching in both sections. His teams have been for the most part successful. If he comes to Nebraska he will have better material to work with and his ability to turn out elevens capable of holding up the standard set by past Cornhusker methods is assured.

The announcement by Coach Stiehm that Captain Rutherford had accepted the job under him at Indiana brought down a storm of criticism upon the already heavy-burdened shoulders of the present coach. The criticism for the most part has been hit-and-miss, lacking good foundation, in fact. Both Stiehm and Rutherford declare that the coach brought no influence to bear upon the case, and that the captain took this step of his own free will.

Statement from Jumbo

Coach Stiehm issued the following statement in answer to his critics: "Rutherford was to have been my assistant at Nebraska if I had stayed here. He knew that a year ago and those who worked with me this fall knew it. When I was considering going to Indiana he told me he would like to go with me. "He was offered the position at Indiana over a month ago and had been putting off a definite answer. There was no pressure brought to bear whatever. I never tried to prejudice him in any way, way or manner against Nebraska or a job at Nebraska. He came to me of his own will and said he wanted to close the deal. He wired Indiana and they approved. If I influenced him in any way it was a silent influence and I am proud to think that he would like to go with me and work with me.

"I can't see that there is any discredit in taking Rutherford with me if he wants to go. There is no proselyting in that. He will be a graduate and is a free man. I think he will bear me out in saying that I never tried to prejudice him against Nebraska. He asked me for advice and I put it up to him to do as he thought best.

"There's a story out that I am going to take some Nebraska boys with me to Indiana. You can say for me that no player now in the University and no one there eligible for the team will ever play under me at Indiana.

"The facts are I am for Nebraska. I hated to break away after being there longer than at any other school in any capacity. I'll always look upon my stay here as most pleasant"

LEARN MILITARY EFFICIENCY

Cadets Have Classes in University Hall to Study the Question of Preparedness

Nearly 600 men being prepared for a volunteer army is the sight a visitor would see if he should walk into some of the class rooms in U hall at 5 o'clock. Seniors, Juniors, Sophomores and Freshman all trying to help out Secretary of War Garrison in his fight for preparedness.

Our own great Nebraskan might hold up his hands in horror at the way Lieutenant Samuel Parker and the regimental officers are drilling into Sophomore and Freshman cadets the value of military efficiency.

Everything is discussed. Movements, rifle practice, sighting and other regulation are brought out and the Students' heads are crammed full of facts concerning the military policy of the United States. When the foe invades Omaha or a hostile gunboat steams up the Platte, Nebraska will be prepared.

TAG DAY FOR RELIEF FUND

Nebraska Students Expected to Contribute to European Students Serving in War

Today is Tag day for the European Students' Relief Fund. How much is the University of Nebraska going to give to their brother students who are in the warring countries?

The money the students give today will go for the relief of those students who are either cut off from home or are in active service in the field. There are thousands of students in Paris and Swiss university towns who are entirely cut off from home.

If every student at Nebraska gives 25 cents, it will total enough to help out a great number of these students who are either "down and out" or out in active service. Let everybody give their mite and it is sure to be appreciated.

This campaign is being conducted by the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. There will be six people on the campus selling tags all day.

PARTY'S MISSION IS FAILURE

Many Believe It Was Instrumental in Beating President's Program—Split Among Democrats

The University sent a couple of representatives in "Papa" Ford's peace party to help get in the way of the war engine in Europe and side-track the rumpus. From all reports, the expedition into the heart of the war stricken countries, as far as those countries are concerned, was a failure.

The following report from Washington, D. C., however, leads many to think that the Ford party had something to do with arousing sentiment in the United States against the president's preparedness program:

Washington, Jan. 5.—Unless materially modified, President Wilson's preparedness plan is beaten. This is the opinion, authoritatively learned today, of the administration itself.

Defection of Senator Kern, senate democratic leader, from the forces working for the great army and navy program outlined by the president in his message to congress was the final proof to the White House that its plans will not carry. Kern's decision that he cannot support the program became known today. That the people of Indiana are opposed is Kern's chief reason, it is said.

This leaves the preparedness program unsupported by the leaders in both houses.

Kitchin, house majority leader, has

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU TO ASSIST STUDENTS

NEW OFFICE WILL MAKE WORK EASIER TO LOCATE

T. A. WILLIAMS APPROVES IT

Many Students Have Free Hours that Could Profitably Be Spent in Outside Work—To Meet on Friday at 5 P. M.

Gradually the office of Student Activities is becoming to be the headquarters for all Student Activities. T. A. Williams has deemed it advisable to locate the University Employment Bureau, which no doubt is a very important activity, in the basement of the Administration building.

Recently positions have been somewhat scarce and an effort is being made to let the people of Lincoln know that a phone call to the University Employment Bureau will bring to them the employee desired.

As a rule there are plenty of students with free hours to fill positions if notice is given in time to locate them. In order to be able to locate the students more easily the application blanks filled out by them will be revised. In case you are a student seeking employment be sure to have your card checked up before the beginning of next semester. A chance to do this checking up will be given at a meeting to be held in the Students' Activity office, Friday at 5 p. m. If you are seeking employment at odd hours, be on hand at this time.

held off from the first, but Kern, warm Wilson admirer, has been expected to lead the administration's senate fight.

The wave of sentiment for a great preparedness program, which a few weeks ago was sweeping the country, has reached its crest some administration leaders think. Today President Wilson is receiving many discouraging reports. The opposition centers upon Secretary Garrison's army plan.

The people "back home" don't like it, many congressmen report.

An indication today that the Austrian crisis might reflect strength to the administration program, came in a telegram to the White House from the democratic state central committee of Mississippi, telling that Venable had been elected to congress after making an out and out fight for preparedness.

That material navy increases can be obtained is not doubted. Administration officials still are confident that battleships and a large number of auxiliaries will be authorized by congress.

Preparedness hearings, which promise to last for months were begun by the house naval committee today. Tomorrow the army program will be taken up by the house military commission with Secretary Garrison, the first witness.

Rear Admiral H. R. Stanford, chief of the navy bureau of yards and docks, was the first witness. Need for more government docks, where battleships and smaller warcraft can be built was the tenor of Admiral Stanford's statements today.
