Entered at the postoffice at Lincoln, Nebraska, as second-class mail matter, under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 6, 1916

There can be no question but what the students are pleased to learn that a reduction has been made in the price of pictures for the Cornhusker. No one would want to see the earnings of the Cornhusker staff reduced at the cost of the book but every student interested in his book is pleased to see a staff that is willing to reduce costs in order to lighten the burden shouldered by the student body.

How the management has been able to do away with the former $15.00 charge for each military company represented in the Cornhusker is not of as much consequence as the fact that the charge has been eliminated and that the military men appreciate the action taken.

The Daily Nebraskan staff also has something to be thankful for in this connection; the exchequer of the business manager will be $75.00 "to the good" and the reporters may now get the pay we have so long been trying to get for them and to which they are, without question, entitled.

The university employment bureau has always been of service to the students and from present appearances, with a broadened field, it will be a greater benefactor. One question which has always caused difficulty in this connection has been the fact that students would never report to the bureau when they had filled a position and the management would consequently send others down to the aggravation of the employer. Watch this from now on, you who benefit through the services of this bureau, for you owe that much courtesy at least. As a matter of fact, you could not blame anyone except yourself if you were not aided in the future if you failed to comply with the rules.
