Agricultural Engineering Building Plans Coming-Court Upholds Appraisers

All construction work on the newer university buildings has had to be stopped for the time being on account of the cold weather, but contractors will be ready to resume operations as soon as the first warm day of spring comes. Superintendent of Construction Chowins will not permit masonry work as long as the cold gives the possibility of the mortar freezing.

Architect Hodgdon has assured the university authorities that the completed plans for the agricultural engineering building will be available within a few days. Bids will be advertised for immediately, and the contract let so that work can start in March. The agricultural engineering building will probably be placed at the end of the present quadrangle of buildings on the farm campus, completing it, although the original plans called for a new quadrangle to be started with the engineering structure.

The construction office is drawing university heating plant, that will be made necessary by the addition of ners of which will meet in the finals, * There were three suitorsthe Bessey and chemistry buildings to the university plant. The old boiler house will still be the center of heat for the school, but the pipe lines will have to be changed to a certain extent.

Across the street from the University of Nebraska, opposite the College of Law, is a business establishment dealing in traction engines. At all seasons of the year-except possibly the coldest days of winter-the engines belonging to this firm are in operation.

The lines of the Lincoln Traction company extend along two sides of the campus, and its cars run about once each six or seven minutes.

The condition of the pavement on all sides of the University is such as to produce the maximum noise from the heavy traffic that is constantly passing through that part of the city. The noise and confusion from these sources makes work in buildings near the streets very difficult, and in some cases almost impossible.

This condition can be remedied.

The firm dealing in traction engines can be removed to a remote part of the city.

The cars of the Lincoln Traction company can be run over other lines without great inconvenience to anyone concerned.

Asphalt or similar pavement can be substituted for that now in use.

The mitigation of these noises is necessary to efficient work at the university.

Lincoln, what are you going to do about it?

GIRLS TO HOLD VOCATIONAL MEETING

The vocational conference committee of the Girls' club met yesterday morning with Dean Mary Graham at the Y. M. C. A. rooms in the Temple. It was decided to hold a series of vocational guidance conferences under the auspices of the Home Economics club and the Girls' club.

The meetings will be held on March 21 and 22 on the campus, beginning with a convocation on March 21. women activities will be on the program and a schedule of individual conferences will be arranged. At these conferences the girls can feel free to discuss their own particular vocational

AG COLLEGE WILL GIVE FARMERS' FAIR

CITY FOLKS TO SEE THE FARM CAMPUS APRIL 7

Two Hundred Dollars in Prizes-Dancing in Horse Barn Loft-

Confetti

The College of Agriculture is preparing to stage its first annual Farmers' Fair, April 7. The custom is already in vogue in eastern agricultural colleges.

The Farmers' Fair offers opportunity to all city people to see the farm. Friday afternoon is set aside for inspecting the campus, while the evening will be devoted to entertainment. The new barn loft is ready for dancing, there being room for six hundred couples. A fifteen-piece orchestra has been engaged, while on the ground floor contests among individuals, fraternities and sororities will be carried on. Two hundred dollars worth of prizes will be given to the highest scorers.

The usual line of side shows, with possibly a few execptions, will be present, with an occasional booth to try one's accuracy and nerve.

200 Home Economics Members

The recent membership campaign of the Home Economics club, which was organied a few weeks ago, was conducted with remarkable success. About two hundred of the three hundred girls registered in the Agricultural college have joined the club, Prominent speakers in all lines of and more are expected as the name of the club spreads among the students.

DRILL BECOMING MORE POPULAR

Two hundred and ninety-nine men have been reprieved from military Nebr. science this semester as against three hundred and seventy-five men last semester, according to figures given out LOYAL AMERICANS by Lieut. S. M. Parker yesterday. Whether or not the decrease is due to President Wilson's preparedness program is a matter of conjecture.

The complete statistics are: Reprieved on account of work, first semester, 225; second semester, 189; on account of physical disability, first, 40; second, 33; botany, second, 4; track, first, 13; second, 26; football, second, 13; miscellaneous, first, 20; second, 19. Permanent excuses, first semester, 77; second, 15. These figures are interesting because they reveal the multiplicity of excuses which are given to get out of drill.

MUST EAT MACARONI

Prof. N. A. Bengston, lecturing to one of his classes yesterday, offered CO-EDS BECOMING a new test for patriotism-the number of miles of macaroni that the citizen eats. The professor went on to explain that he consumption of macaroni was one of the vital things affecting a ready market for the farmers' wheat, Essay Role of Neptune's Daughters at and justified his observation on those grounds.

The names of several landladies who cater to university students have been suggested for medals, as they certainly have added to the patriotism of nations, and do so regulaly every Monday noon and Wednesday night.

SUBSCRIPTION CAM-PAIGN STARTS NOW

The fight is on. The forces are marshalled for the coming fray. With all the equipment the business staff can assemble, The Daily Nebraskan will center its efforts on the trenches of the non-subscribers.

The battlement hardest to take is generally that occupied by the fraternities and sororities. To meet this obstacle, the business staff offers to in gold on the cover. Any organization maintaining a house is eligible The standing will be posted from day to day, and the contest will close at
