Alpha Theta Chi eliminated Delta Upsilon from the fraternity basketball scrap last night by the score of 23 to 19. The game was hard and bitterly fought, but stern refereeing by Paul Shields prevented unsportsmanlike play. The Alpha Theta forwards, Speier and Witte, threw the most baskets for the victors, while Owen and Kimball fought for honors with the D. U.'s.

The line-up:
Alpha Theta Chi Delta Upsilon
 Henryc..... Noran
 Speierf..... Owen
 Wittef..... Kimball
 Israelg..... Hasbruck
 Holcombg..... Fuchs
 Substitutes: Alpha Thets, Tinkcum, Austin and Nelson; Delta Upsilon, Hascall and Weaver.

Delta Taus Beat Acacias
 The Delta Taus beat the Acacias 16 to 12 in the first game of the interfraternity basketball league. The game was close throughout. At the end of the first half Acacia led by one point. A spurt by the Delts in the first part of the second half netted them four baskets. The Acacias were unable to overcome this lead although they secured a couple of baskets in the last few minutes of play.
 The line-ups were:

Delta Tau Delta—Flynn (c), Grant (f), Erwin (f), Mulligan (f), Kline (g), Hager (g).
 Acacia—Kline (f), Ganz (f), Beck (g), Overman (c), Beck (g), Heller (g).

"THE MELTING POT" WELL PRESENTED

misunderstands the newly created American.

Quixano comes under the influence of Vera Revendal, a social worker in New York city, who interests her millionaire friend, Quincy Davenport, in the young artist with a view to send him to Germany for further study. Herr Pappelmeister, premier orchestra conductor, pronounces Quixano's American symphony a masterpiece, and offers to have it produced before the elite of the metropolis. This offer the artist spurns, alienating the rich patron, Davenport.

When the Baron and Baroness Revendal visit their daughter Vera in New York, Quixano discovers that the Baron was in command of the soldiers who killed his family, and severely wounded him in the massacre of Ishneff. His Hebrew blood revolts against association with this Russian girl whom he has found he loves. True love dominates finally, and Vera and David face life together, led on by the vision of America, the melting pot of nations.

The work of Maurice Clark, as David Quixano, showed an artistic finish and ease so lacking in most amateur theatricals. With a heavy characterization part to carry, he did not once allow his personality to overshadow that of David Quixano. The Jewish dialect was handled in admirable style.

Able supporting Maurice Clark, the work of Miss Reeder was one of the strong points of the play. Miss Reeder's voice is good, but her work in the dramatic climax in the third act was a bit too rough and unfinished to favorably compare with that of Mr. Clark.

Mr. Marcellus, in a particularly hard role at times allowed his off-stage personality to dominate his part in the production. Katherine O'Reilly, portrayed by Miss Ella Williams, furnished the comedy element of the play. Miss Camille Leyda, the charming Russian wife of Baron Revendal, furnished spirit to the brief scenes in which she appeared. Mr. Horne, as Quincy Davenport, was a trifle too dapper, but carried his part well. Herr Pappelmeister, orchestra conductor, was played well above the ordinary by Mr. Kubik. The imagined leading of an orchestra through the American symphony was a classic piece of artistry.

One More Week for Pictures

Only a little over a week is left before the closing date for organization Cornhusker pictures, and even this time is pretty well reserved.

There are still a few organizations which have not scheduled dates with Mr. Townsend, and it is up to these few to act immediately if they care to have their pictures in the annual.

The management does not want it felt that they are arbitrary in setting a closing day for pictures, or that they have a desire to keep any organization out of the book. But if the book is to be out May 1 these dates must be lived up to.

Musselman for Soph Boss

Beachey Musselman has announced himself as a candidate for sophomore president.

POPULARITY OR ABILITY?

The question of the purification of campus politics is by no means a dead issue with the completion of last autumn's class elections. The dean's offices in Cobb will again soon assume the guise of polling places, and votes will be cast for candidates for the Undergraduate council and Honor commission. The movement begun last quarter to eliminate the trading of support and the agreements on combinations—insofar as so abstract a campaign may be judged—was beneficial not only to the ballot on class officers, but to the entire plane of student affairs. The Maroon believes that an agreement of all candidates for all offices to do everything in their power toward the discontinuance of election evils will aid in the propaganda for cleaner tactics in student competition. The most dangerous result of "log-rolling" and similar ruses, is that men and women are chosen to office, not because of their capacity to serve the university, but because they are liked with a greater number of friends.—Daily Maroon (Chicago.)
