S. R. MCKELVIE,

Publisher The Nebraska Farmer, Lincoln.

Since Mr. McKelvie left the Clay county farm, where he was born and raised, his business has kept him in the closest touch with the people of the state. He is better prepared than any other candidate to know the needs of the state, and his large acquaintance insures for him a large vote at the Republican primaries, April 18th. He was elected Lieutenant Governor by a majority of 15,000, and is now seeking the nomination

FOR VICE PRESIDENT

MR. GRANT WEBSTER OF ILLINOIS

ka delegation in congress in favor of warning American citizens against traveling on belligerent armed vessels.

"I favor a law forbidding federal reserve banks from subscribing to foreign war loans.

"I stand for national preparedness.

"I favor a permanent tariff commission.

"The United States could gain nothing by war with Germany. We should be prepared, however, to profit by any sudden change in the fortunes of the warring powers. We should permanently extend our commerce with neutrals in preference to a transitory trade with belligerents in munitions of war, and we should be prepared to take over Canada if necessary to our own safety.

"A word as to myself. I was born in Kingston, Ill., where my father was a minister of the Methodist Episcopal church. My parents were born in Ohio. I lived ten years of my boyhood in Iowa. I graduate from Harvard and from the Columbia law school. Later I became associated with the law office of Robert T. Lincoln, in Chicago, shortly after Mr. Lincoln's retirement as minister to Great Britain.

"I am well known in Illinois, where I have been three times a candidate for United States senator; and where, in the primary of 1914, as a candidate for congressman at large, I carried Chicago and Cook county, with its ten congressional districts. If I become vice president I will not be afraid to act."

IT'S KEITH NEVILLE

SCENES OF ACTIVITY AT HIS CAMPAIGN HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH PLATTE

LETTERS FROM OVER STATE

Favorite Candidate for Governor on the Democratic Side is Meeting the Voters, Making Speeches and is Becoming a Seasoned Campaigner.

North Platte, Neb., March 29.—There is not a busier place in Nebraska than the Neville Campaign Headquarters

Forsooth, there is not a busier man than Keith Neville—speaking, writing, hand-shaking, meeting old friends and making new ones—there is no moment of rest for him when home, and he strikes a strenuous gait when on his speaking trips. But, he takes to it all like a duck to water, and it is freely said that he has already become a seasoned campaigner.

Like his distinguished father, the late Congressman Neville, he likes it. Not even the Mexican war excitement tends to divert the popular west Nebraska candidate from his determination to win the gubernatorial nomination April 18. He keeps right at it, by word and by letter, saying to the constant string of callers—stockmen, farmers, business men, fellow democrats and friendly republicans—that he is making a frank, clean, honorable campaign, backed by no special interests and shackled to no faction—firmly resolved if elected, to ENFORCE THE LAWS TO THE LETTER.

Speaking engagements will prevent Mr. Neville from meeting his old friend, W. J. Bryan, who comes here to speak for his brother, Charley, on the eve of next Tuesday's election. Mr. Neville is being supported here by those having divergent views on the license question. The result of the contest will therefore have no bearing upon his campaign.

It is plain that one quality of Keith Neville impresses everybody—frankness. He don't say one thing in the western part of the state and another thing in the eastern. He is firm, but not dictatorial, and is considerate of those who take issue with him.

In the stream of letters which come pouring in from democrats over the state, most of them warmly commend Mr. Neville's position on the issues of the day. Many of them begin, "I admire your frank and candid manner." Others, "Your statement shows that you have the courage to be governor." And still others: "I can use all the literature you will send me—because it rings true"; and hundreds say, "I was just waiting for a man like you." But most of his letters, from far and near, enthusiastically applaud his now famous declaration: "I am for WOODROW WILSON WITHOUT APOLOGY OR EXPLANATION."

HUGINS NOT TO SPEAK

Roland Hugins of Cornell university, who was to have addressed the World Polity club tonight, has telegraphed that he will not be able to come to Lincoln today. He will speak before the club later in April, however.

A YOUNG MAN FOR GOVERNOR

This is an age when young men are being placed in positions of great importance and responsibility, both in business and politics. Many of the most conspicuous successes in public life stand recorded to the credit of young men. Young men who have graduated from the Nebraska State University are holding many important positions all over the country.

To attain such an important position it is not only necessary for a young man to have an education, but he must be morally clean and ggressive.

Just such a man is S. R. McKelvie, who now aspires to become the republican nominee for governor of our great state. Mr. McKelvie has all of the above qualifications. After attending the Nebraska State University he engaged in the publishing business, which he has conducted successfully ever since. His paper, the Nebraska Farmer, has been and is yet an important factor in the development of Nebraska. Mr. McKelvie has made a success of everything he has undertaken. He has served in the Lincoln city council. He was elected to the state legislature while yet in his twenties. His next step was into the office of lieutenant governor, at the age of thirty-one, at which time he carried all but sixteen counties of the state. His rise has been rapid, and now at the age of thirty-five he seeks the nomination for governor on the republican ticket, and many of his friends predict that he will win with even more ease than that with which he secured the office of lieutenant governor.

Mr. McKelvie is frank in stating his position on all important questions, so that all may know before casting their votes just where he stands. He is for the prohibition amendment, and in his formal announcement covers many other important issues in which the people are interested.—Political Adv.

Harold Mulligan, Delta Tau Delta, was in Lincoln Friday.
