

The Daily Nebraskan

VOL. XVI. NO. 30.

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA, LINCOLN, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1916.

PRICE FIVE CENTS

SECOND MIXER HALLOWE'EN-AGGIE CELEBRATION PARTY

FRIDAY NIGHT THE TIME—
ARMORY THE PLACE
Hallowe'en Games and Food—Students
Will Show Joy Because of Saturday's Victory

The second great all-University mixer of the present school year will be held at the Armory this coming Friday night. It will be notable for two reasons—it will be a Hallowe'en mixer, and it will be a joy festival over the victory over the Oregon Aggies last Saturday.

All summer the cornstalks at the state farm campus have been growing so that a part of the decorations for Friday night would not be lacking. All summer the pumpkins in the fields have been ripening, in hopes that they might be used for pies for the Hallowe'en mixer.

And so the apples on the trees have been budding for the cider that might be served, and the lemons in the citrus groves have been developing so that they, too, might aid. And the flour in the sack in the pantry has been hoping that it might do its share in doughnuts.

Committee Mum on Food
Not that the mixer committee has decided that this kind of refreshments will be served. Far from it, they have said not a word, but they have announced that this will be a Hallowe'en party, and it is a good guess that some, at least, of these edibles will answer the roll call Friday night.

The mixer will be the first gathering of the entire student body since the rally the night the football team left to meet the Oregon Aggies on Multnomah field. Then the greatest enthusiasm ever displayed before a game was shown by the thousands of students who packed the chapel, and then marched to the depot to bid the team farewell. It is a safe guess that with the victory safely tucked away, the students will not let the occasion go by to give vent to their exultation over the victory, and to show it by another great enthusiastic outburst at Friday's mixer.

Never before has a mixer been held near the great holiday so dear to the hearts of young America—Hallowe'en. It is a known fact that at least 500 of the most bewitching witches on the campus will be at the party, and they will tell fortunes, too, as witches ever do.

Armory Floor Slicked
The Armory floor will be slicked up again for the benefit of the dancers, who must have their swing around the circle. Dancing, however, will not be the principal means of entertainment; in fact the committee is plotting a group of Hallowe'en stunts that will put the tango into the discard, relatively speaking.

The mixer will precede the game with Wesleyan university. Now Wesleyan is rather figuring on beating Nebraska this trip, realizing that the long coast jaunt, with absence of real hard scrimmage work, is bound to make itself felt in the condition of the men. So the mixer will endeavor to show the team that while the University is happy because the Aggies were downed, there are other worlds yet to conquer, and even the Methodists must be reckoned among them.

FORTY TONS STEEL FOR UNIVERSITY HALL

Building Needs that Much Reinforcement to Stand Up

Forty tons of steel have been ordered to reinforce the walls of University hall, found to be slowly sinking.

It will take this much backbone, according to the estimates of the architect, to make University hall good for fifty more years of service.

Scarcity of steel will delay for a short time the work of reinforcing the hall. Three-quarter-inch braces will be run through the building, probably a little above the floor and below the ceiling of each landing. They will be fastened by channel iron, shaped semi-circularly and placed in the walls.

To make sure that there would be no danger during the delay ensuing

CONGRESSMAN REAVIS AT CONVOCACTION TODAY

Congressman C. F. Reavis, representative in the house from this district, will address the student body at convocation this morning, speaking of the work of congress and in favor of his re-election, for which he is a candidate on November 7. Later John A. Maguire, democratic candidate, will be given an opportunity to speak.

The speech of Mr. Reavis will be interesting not only in the light of his work in Washington, but more so because he has been intimately connected with the University. Two of his sons, Frank and David, were students here, taking an active part in athletics. David was captain of the varsity track team in 1914. Frank represented Nebraska in the pole vault in all her valley meets in 1915, but entered Cornell this fall.

before the steel arrives, measurements were taken of the building again Saturday. It was found that there had been no further sinking.

Faculty Women, Too, Can Have Their Good Times

If the men of the University faculty have interesting times at their dinners, with learned programs to entertain them afterwards, the women of the faculty have no less interesting times at theirs. At least the notices recently sent out by the committee sound as though things would not be "slow" when the women of the faculty get together for their first annual meeting, Wednesday night.

The notices sent out, one of which fell under the eye of a reporter, read as follows:

"Every woman on the faculty is not only urged, but requested to appear at Faculty hall, October 25, at 6 o'clock, to partake of one of 'Miller's' delicious picnic suppers. "All those remaining away will be lonesome. It is rumored that a "Darling Diabolical Drama" will be depicted—the same designated "The Secret Sin." This will be preceded by other interesting numbers, poetic and terpsichorean.

"Standing room only can be furnished by the committee after 6 p. m. sharp.

ESTHER WARNER,
MARGARET HANNAH,
ETHEL BEATTY,
ETHEL RUNGE,
MARIE CLARK.
Committee.

POLICE WERE NOT ASKED TO LOOK FOR STUDENTS—ENGBERG

Dean Carl Christian Engberg yesterday said that he does not wish to be placed in the light of asking police authorities to assist the University in locating students who, at the beginning of the semester, have dropped from classes without notifying the University.

Dean Engberg objected to the statement in The Nebraskan last week that he had asked police aid in locating one such student. He said: "It is the usual thing at the beginning of each semester for a number of students to drop from classes without notifying us. I was asked whether or not I had asked aid in locating one such student and said that there were not extraordinary cases."

THIEVES AT WORK IN UNIVERSITY

ISABELLE DERBY LOSES $20;
SUSIE SCOTT $10

All Found Articles Should be Returned to the Student Activities Office

Two pocketbooks belonging to University students, containing over $30, have been kered up in University hall and so far not returned to their owners in the past few days.

Yesterday Isabelle Derby, '19, left a black handbag containing a $20 bill and some small change hanging over the arm of a desk chair in U-11, a German recitation room, at 10 o'clock, and went to a class in another part of the building. Noticing that she had lost her bag, and remembering where she had left it, she returned after class to find it gone. The newly established lost and found bureau in the office of student activities was notified, but up to 6 o'clock last night, the bag had not been turned in.

$10 Bill Gone
Susie Scott, '20, left a small purse containing over $10 on a radiator in Miss Alice Howell's office during recitation hour. The purse was gone when she came to look for it.

T. A. Williams, agent of student activities, said yesterday that there had been no decrease in the proportion of lost and found articles reported to the bureau. Broken fountain pens are found and turned in; good pens are more often lost than found. "It is a deplorable situation," he said.

CONVOCACTION

Congressman C. F. Reavis, candidate for re-election on the republican ticket, will address the students in Memorial hall at 11 a. m. today.

FAVORS LITERACY TEST FOR VOTERS

Prof. Aylsworth Believes in Restricted Right of Suffrage, He Tells Class

Prof. Leon Emmons Aylsworth, lecturing the students in political science, has expressed the belief that only persons who can read and write should be given the right of suffrage in a nation governed by a republican form of government. Professor Aylsworth said:

"I do not say that every person who does not read or write is ignorant, not by any means. I know one man who is illiterate, but by conversation and observation he has a knowledge of current affairs that is remarkable. He is qualified, I believe, to vote on ques-

(Continued to Page Two)

MORE STITCHES MIGHT HAVE MADE MORE YARDS GAINED

Crowds who watched the progress of the Nebraska-Oregon Aggie football game at The Daily Star bulletin board Saturday, were told by the announcer during the second quarter that fifteen stitches had to be taken to mend Johnny Cook's uniform, torn when the Nebraska back was tackled while making a line plunge.

"Cook makes eighteen yards around left end," was the next announcement. "Take some more stitches," shouted football fans in the crowd.

Whether or not more stitches were taken was not announced, but Johnny continued to gain.

SOUNDS WARNING TO HIGH SCHOOL MEN

PROF. BUCK RECALLS THE RULE AGAINST SECONDARY FRATS

No High School Fraternity Men May Become Members of University Societies

A statement in the nature of a warning to high school men has been issued by Prof. Philo M. Buck, chairman of the interfraternity council, calling attention to the ruling made by the council last year that after September, 1919, no men who had been initiated into a secondary high school greey letter society would be eligible for membership in fraternities at the University of Nebraska.

The statement was made after the reported activity of fraternities in Lincoln high school, despite the fact that a law enacted by the legislature several years ago forbids their existence. Professor Buck said that he did not know personally whether the fraternities were active or not, but merely called the ruling of the council, to mind.

N. Z. Snell, president of the board of education in Lincoln, would not discuss the situation. That there are seven active chapters in the Lincoln high school is the statement made by several students, who also say that the seventh chapter, Phi Sigma Chi, was installed only a year ago. The other chapters which are said to be active are: Beta Phi Sigma, Phi Lambda Epsilon, Delta Sigma, Kappa Alpha Pi, Theta Sigma, Delta Phi Omega, and T. F. A. (local).

No Philanthropy
In discussing the situation, Professor Buck emphasized the fact that the ruling of the council was not prompted by a philanthropic motive. "We are not trying to help the secondary schools enforce a state law," said Professor Buck. "That is out of our province."

"The reason why the ruling was

(Continued to Page Two)

JESSIE WELLS HAS REACHED HER HOME IN GERING SAFELY

Miss Jessie Wells, the University girl whose disappearance a week ago caused her family and the Lincoln police to set out upon a fruitless search, has reached her home in Gering, Neb., safely, Police Captain Hall declared yesterday.

Miss Wells left a note at her boarding house a week ago yesterday, saying she was going home. When she did not appear at her house, the local police started a search that continued until Saturday night without result.

Word has come to the police, however, that the missing co-ed is home. It is presumed that she stopped on the way to visit relatives.

CORNHUSKERS TURN THEIR FACES TOWARD NEBRASKA

UNIVERSITY SPECIAL TRAIN IS NEARING NEBRASKA LINE

All Are Happy on Board—Crowds Meet Team at Stations—Ready for Wesleyan

The Nebraska University Cornhuskers, the laurels still encircling their brows as a result of the clean victory over the Oregon Aggies at Portland last Saturday, have turned their faces toward Nebraska. The team and band are coming home.

With some misgivings in the hearts of the coaches, some doubts as to whether the team could emerge from the Saturday game victorious, the outgoing trip had an air of seriousness that is pleasantly lacking on the return. For Nebraska the team won, and the men are looking forward to the rest of the season with more assurance.

No Bad Injuries
Saturday's game was a hard one, but none of the men on the squad were knocked out by the encounter with the coast bunch. Stewart is keeping the men in light daily workouts on the return, and the team will reach Lincoln in good physical trim. Wesleyan university is counting upon an exhausted opponent for next Saturday, but Wesleyan is likely to be surprised.

If the trip out was a success, the return is a triumph. Alumni who met the outgoing squad with best wishes, are replaced by old-grads anxious to congratulate the team. The band, glowing in hopes of victory before, has redoubled its wind with the consciousness of victory. The rooters aboard are happy.

The train will pull into the Lincoln station Wednesday afternoon. Word has gone out to the team that it will be given a hearty welcome by the home folks. The innocents will be in charge of the welcome, and it will exceed even the farewell, if present plans and the desires of every man on the campus do not miscarry.

TREASURERS OF ALL STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS TO MEET THIS MORNING

All treasurers and business managers of student organizations will meet this morning at 11:30 in S-102. The meeting has been called by T. A. Williams, agent of student activities, who will explain the relation of his office to the student organizations.

HOME EC. CLUB COMMITTEES NAMED

May Youngson, President, Makes Appointments for Semester

May Youngson, president of the Home Economics club, has announced the committees for the coming semester. Leah Schofield, Ada Johnson and Olive Loughridge have been given the important committee in charge of the programs.

A council meeting of the club will be held Thursday at 7:15 in Art hall. The list of committees follows:

- Program
Leah Schofield, Ada Johnson, Olive Loughridge.
- Entertainment
Esther Ord, Kate Helzer, Clarissa Delano.
- Finance
Lila Drollinger, May Shertz, Eunice Taylor.
- Membership
Mabel Webber, Mildred Lufkin, Clara Cunley.
- Publicity
Mabel Thompson, Edith Youngblut, Hester Dickinson.
- Posters
Elizabeth Boch, Louise Enochs, Margaret Scherwin.

GRASSHOPPERS ARE EXCELLENT FOOD

Prof. Bruner's Declaration Seconded by Prof. Bliss of Ohio

The declaration last summer by Prof. Lawrence Bruner, entomologist of the University of Nebraska, that grasshoppers are excellent food, is born out in experiment by L. Chester Bliss, assistant curator of the Sandusky, O., high school museum.

According to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Mr. Bliss enjoyed a grasshopper sandwich the other day. He caught grasshoppers, removed their heads and wings, toasted them over a slow fire, seasoned them with salt and pepper and placed them between two slices of thin bread.

Mr. Bliss said of his sandwich:

The Sandwich
"The grasshoppers turned red like lobsters. They had a nutty flavor and I enjoyed them very much. Some day grasshoppers will be a choice morsel in leading hotels and restaurants."

Professor Bruner has pointed out that several million United States citizens live largely on a grasshopper diet. These citizens live in the Philippines. He did not predict what effect the introduction of stewed grasshoppers, fried grasshoppers, canned grasshoppers, grasshoppers au gratin or pickled will have on the cost of living, but hopes that it will lower it.

The freshman class of Cornell university, by a vote of nine to one, decided to adopt the custom of wearing green caps.—Exchange.

There Are A Few Yet Who Don't Know The Editor-In-Chief

E. J. Althouse acts as news dispenser for the University Commercial club, and that furnished him an excuse to enter the Rag office yesterday afternoon.

Two of the young women on the staff of the paper were working when Althouse entered. One of them came up to the counter to learn the visitor's business.

Althouse had a little story about the Commercial club, and he asked the young woman to give it to the news editor. She said she would.

It was a cold day outside, so our hero tarried. Smiling engagingly at the young woman, he asked:

"Are you one of the flunkies around here?"

Answer: "I hope not."

Althouse: "Well, that's what I call these news gatherers, you know."

Come-back: "Well, what would you call the editor?"

Althouse mumbled and beat a hasty and inglorious retreat.

Call at Student Activities Office for Lost articles

LOST OR FOUND

Bring all Found articles Student Activities Office