FRESHMEN GAVE PROGRAM AT Y. W. C. A. VESPERS TUESDAY

The subject, "Are You Triangular or Round," was discussed from several different viewpoints at the freshman vesper services, Tuesday evening at 5 o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. rooms. Gladys Rohrbaugh, in her opening talk on "Shapes and Personalities," spoke of the many sharp angles which were continually hitting one another and getting marred. This trouble, she said, could not be overcome in a short time, but the start should be made in the freshman year so that at the end of the four years the character will be well rounded.

The second speaker, Erna Driftmeier, mentioned a number of "Acute Angles to Be Avoided," such as egotism, indifference, timidity and pessimism. She quoted the Japanese proverb, "Be not lenient with your own faults, but save your pardon for others."

Betty Brown told of "The Value of Some Angles" in the rounding of character. The chief thing to be cultivated is sincerity in everything that we do and say. She also warned against "crabbing" if a round character was desired. May Conn spoke last on "The Bigness of the Circle," and told to what extent one might better their personality and become perfectly rounded. The meeting closed with a solo by Exietta Burgess.

Robert Prouditt, Frank Carpenter, Harlan Catlin, Fred Walrath, A. J. Covert and W. Thompson went to Omaha, Sunday.

Lucille Leyda, '16, and Jeanette Teagarden, ex-'18, were luncheon guests of the football team when the football special train was at Walla Walla, Wn.

Gertrude Munger, '19, was one of the soloists at the community singing, which was held at the auditorium, Sunday, under the direction of Mr. Wheatley.

The following were visitors at the Delta Chi house, Sunday: John McGowan, Ray Higgins, '15, Porter Allen, Omaha; Patrick Frondell, Crete; Cloyd Lancaster, Beatrice; Elbert Beardslee, Grand Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Brandon Howell arrived in Lincoln yesterday on their way from California to Omaha. Mr. and Mrs. Howell were married last month and took the motor trip as a honeymoon. Mrs. Howell, who was formerly Margaret Rustin, ex-'17, is a Delta Gamma.

Oregon people think the score should have been a tie and Nebraska people think the score should have been 30 to 0. Is it the difference in the attitude?

The Kansas Aggies were driven to the depths of ignominy Saturday when the puny little team which represents K. U. held them to a scoreless tie.

Missouri's claim to a tie with Nebraska for the championship of the Missouri valley is like the claim some fellows put up for a credit at the end of a semester when they have been to class twice during that time.

Help Fight Fire
Forestry students at the University of Washington will probably be called out to help state foresters fight a large fire in the Olympic national forest. Practical experience thus obtained would be invaluable according to the dean of the forestry school. All those

ATHLETICS IN FAVOR

Not Harmful to Young Men Is Opinion of Many Experts.

Authorities Practically Unanimous in Asserting Question Is to Be Answered in Negative If Properly Safeguarded.

"Are track athletics harmful to young men?" is a query that has been answered by such notables as Dr. John W. Bowler, professor and director of the gymnasium at Dartmouth college; Dr. George L. Meylan, professor of physical education at Columbia university; Dr. D. A. Sargent, president of the Sargent School for Physical Education; Dr. Albert H. Sharpe, athletic coach at Cornell; Dr. C. Ward Crampton, director of physical training in the New York city schools; Dr. William G. Anderson, director of Yale university, and others.

These authorities are practically unanimous in asserting that the question is to be answered in the negative, if athletics are carried on with proper safeguards. Doctor Anderson of Yale has prepared a table of statistics on the lives of Yale athletes covering a period of 50 years which shows that the Yale athlete does not die young, nor is heart disease the leading cause of the greatest number of deaths, and that the percentage is not higher than that expected among non-athletes from similar causes, and that a comparison based on the statistics of insurance companies is favorable to the athlete. Doctor Anderson says, however, that although the average athlete is not short lived, there is no adequate proof that he owes his longevity to athletics.

Sharpe's Opinion.
Doctor Sharpe, better known as Al Sharpe, the famous football coach, who brought about such an improvement in the Cornell eleven last season, is emphatically outspoken in favor of track athletics. He not only says they are not harmful, but he asserts that they are decidedly beneficial. He gives several instances of the favorable results in serious sickness of a strong heart action developed by members of the Cornell track team, under the care of John Moakley.

The only rational claim that can be advanced against collegiate athletics, according to Doctor Sharpe, is that the environment of a college athlete, after his graduation, does not generally afford him an opportunity to carry on his usual physical activities and no other form is substituted.

"Dr. C. Ward Crampton says that athletics conducted in a manner that satisfies the competitive spirit of the participants and their competent supervision are distinctly beneficial in serving the ends of physical education."

Little Danger.
Doctor Lambert of the University of Virginia says there is a little danger in modern athletics, conducted under proper supervision, as there is in going to church or digging potatoes. On the contrary, he thinks that feeble-minded boys often build up their constitutions through athletics.
Individual excess is the main objection to be considered against track athletics, according to Doctor Sargent of the Sargent school.
