Entered at the postoffice at Lincoln, Nebraska, as second class mail matter under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

A Shakespeare Tercentenary program will be given at convocation today. The list of subjects for the program has a wide range and covers a broad field. It will be interesting and instructive and a quite fitting manner in which to do honor to the man who has given so much to English literature.

The campaign for the Prison Relief fund is being carried on in a very systematic way. Every organization in school will be reached by some faculty member, who will explain the conditions in Europe and tell of the great need of the prisoners. According to the modern methods of warfare there is no exchange of prisoners. The men who are captured are kept in these prison camps from the day they are taken till the day the war is ended.

They are fed on the very minimum of food to keep life in a body. They have nothing to do, and sit idle from daybreak till dusk, guarded by enemies and subjected to the greatest misery and privation.

The Thanksgiving season is here. Just one week from tomorrow and this country of ours will be celebrating the prosperity and good fortune it has enjoyed in the past year. In Europe, there will be no thanks giving—only sorrow and misery. The greatest thing for which Americans should be thankful is the fact that they are able to help those who need it so much.

FORUM

To the Editor of The Nebraskan:

With due respect for Mr. V. K. Merlin's knowledge of Bohemian, allow me to offer the following corrections to his generalizations:

The Russian equivalent of Paul is Pavl, not Pavel. Pavl is the Christian name and, in Russian, is practically never used as a family or last name. Pavlov is the family name derived from Pavl and Pavlova is the feminine form of Pavlov. Pavlov is an old possessive form of Pavl, still used colloquially by the Russian peasantry, but replaced in Russian literature by the genitive Pavia. The feminine form does not occur in all last names in Russian, although, as a rule, Russian last names have feminine forms. The endings el and ek are uncommon in Russian and do not usually have a feminine form, where they do occur. The feminine suffix in Russian, moreover, is not ova or eva, but a or aya. The commonest endings of Russian family names (masculine form) are ov, yev, in, sky; less common are iy, oy, a, ovich, yevich, ich.

Respectfully,

D. J. HAYKIN.

N. B.—The feminine form of Haykin would be Haykina not Haykinova.

BRIEF BITS OF NEWS

Professor H. B. Alexander has a poem entitled "All Hallows Eve" in the last number of the Midland magazine.

Prof. W. F. Dann will give a continuation of his descriptive analysis of the third Beethoven Symphony this morning at 11:30 in Art hall.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Teel of Red Cloud, motored to Lincoln last Saturday to attend the football game, and also to visit their daughter, Faye Teel, '17.

F. J. Thompson, '12, instructor in science and mathematics at the Wesleyan college at Miltonville, Kas., visited S. D. Babbitt, rhetoric instructor, here, yesterday.

The class of '16 of the school of agriculture, has presented the school with a large clock which is being placed above the entrance way under the cornice of Agricultural hall.

The committees of the National Electric Light association recently in session in New York, have outlined an ambitious program for the next year, expecting to put a large amount of literature on engineering subjects in the libraries of schools maintaining engineering colleges and to have available a number of distinguished lecturers for the schools that want them.

The subcommittee, of which Professor Ferguson is a member, has undertaken to analyze the research facilities of the electrical engineering schools looking to the installation of experimental stations in land grant colleges as provided in the Newlands' bill. The committee will send data to congress regarding the possibilities of such stations in all of the engineering departments. The stations will be conducted in a manner similar to that of the agricultural engineers in case there seems to be sufficient justification for their establishment.

Y. B. Huffman, '05, and Mrs. Huffman (Martha Cline, '06) of Merna, celebrated homecoming day in Lincoln, Saturday. Mrs. Huffman said that she was very much interested in what was being done for the establishment of Women's dormitories at her alma mater.

TURN YOUR SHIRT-TAILS INTO DRAWERS

OLUS

IN OLUS the outside shirt and underdrawers are one garment.

This means that the shirt can't work out of the trousers, that there are no shirt tails to bunch in seat, that the drawers "stay put," to say nothing of the comfort and economy of saving a garment. OLUS is coat cut, opens all the way down—closed crotch, closed back. See illustration.

For golf, tennis and field wear, we recommend the special attached collar OLUS with regular or short sleeves. Extra sizes for very tall or stout men. All shirt fabrics, in smart designs, including silks—$1.50 to $10.00.

OLUS one-piece PAJAMAS for lounging, evening and comfortable sleep. Made on the same principle as OLUS shirts—cut cut, closed back, closed crotch. No strings to tighten or come loose. $1.50 to $4.50.

Ask your dealer for OLUS. Booklet on request.
