"WE'RE GOING TO WIN," COREY'S LAST WORDS

CORNHUSKERS SAY DOPE WILL BE UPSET SATURDAY

Twenty-three Men Taken on Trip—
No Gloom Among Team Members—Stewart Confident

"We're going over there to wipe the earth up with those guys, and stage a regular comeback," said Captain Corey as he boarded the train for Iowa yesterday afternoon.

"The dope points to Iowa to win, but we are going over there to out-fight them. It's the team that fights the harder that will win," was the statement given out by Coach Stewart just before he left.

The spirit of the team was the same as that expressed by the two leaders. Full of the real kind of confidence and fight, they are going to give all they have to beat the Hawkeyes.

Forward Pass Work

A long signal practice and forward pass scrimmage was held yesterday afternoon. All the team were in fine shape except Moser, who will not get into the game at all, due to his sore shoulder.

The lineup as used yesterday afternoon was as follows: Riddell and Corey at the ends; Kositzky and Shaw at tackle; Rhodes and Wilder at guard; Cameron at center; Caley and Cook, halves, and Dobson and Otoupalik at fullback.

Rhodes at Guard
Rhodes, at guard, is rather inexperienced at that position, but he has shown especial ability to play tackle, and the shift to guard will be but a slight change. Although there will be a loss of weight, through his substitution for Dale, there will be a gain in speed.

Cook and Caley have been showing up in fine style in practice this week and are expected to help a great deal in the scoring. Otoupalik and Dobson have been tearing the scrub line to shreds in the practices of the week and ought to cause the Iowa forwards a lot of worry.

Team in Good Shape
The rest of the team, Riddell, Corey, Shaw, Kositzky, Wilder and Cameron, are all in fine shape and, judging from Wednesday night's hard battle with the scrubs, they will do terrible things to Iowa's backfield.

A few men were taken along on the trip as a reward for the fine work they have been doing on the scrubs. Donnegan, Fuchs and Henry are the men who are to be rewarded in this way.

The men who were taken on the trip are as follows: Corey, Riddell, Shaw, Kositzky, Rhodes, Wilder, Cameron, Caley, Cook, Dobson, Otoupalik, Norris, Moser, Dale, Donnegan, Maloney Hoadley, Fuchs, Selzer, Gardner, Henry, Doyle and Porter.

JOURNALISM MUST APPEAL TO MILLIONS

ITS SUCCESS RESTS ON THIS, SAID
LINCOLN STEFFENS

New York Newspaper Man Talked on
His Profession to Members of Fogg's Class

Lincoln Steffens of New York, addressed the journalism students in the music room of the Temple last evening on the subject, "The Secret Service of Journalism."

Prof. M. M. Fogg was the presiding officer and with a few remarks as to Mr. Steffens' place in the journalistic world introduced the speaker.

"Journalism is a business, it is a profession, it is an art," said Mr. Steffens. "Literature is the art of expression, and journalism is the democratized form of literature. All arts are being gradually democratized. They are being molded by the demands of the great body or mass of the people."

Must Appeal to Millions

Journalism, to be successful, must appeal to the understanding of those millions, according to Mr. Steffens. It must have a feeling and a sympathy for wrongs of the people. "Reporting today must go back of the apparent cause or motive to the fundamental fact or cause that provoked the action. It must present it with human understanding and economic understanding. The reporter to render this so-called 'secret service,' must 'go to

INDUSTRIAL SERVICE INSTITUTE SATURDAY

Problem of the Foreigner in Lincoln
Will Be Presented to University People

A social service institute, to present to University people the problem of the foreigners in Lincoln, will be held in Music hall of the Temple tomorrow afternoon, starting promptly at 1:30. It will end in time for the Daily Nebraskan football party in Memorial hall, starting at 2:30.

Able speakers will present to the University folk the opportunity for social service that Lincoln affords. One-sixteenth of the population of Lincoln is made up of people born on alien soil, or whose parents are foreign born.

The Y. M. C. A. last year met the problem partially by teaching section hands English at noon hour and other spare periods. Any students interested in furthering the work are invited to attend the institute tomorrow afternoon.

Nebraska is a step behind other universities in the country in this matter, but it is felt that with the new year the University can assume more of its share of helping these people rise to a fuller understanding of America, and more especially of the opportunities for them in Nebraska and in Lincoln.

James E. Allen, ex. '15, with the troops at Llano Grande, has just been appointed first lieutenant in the regular army.

NEW LEGISLATORS WANT HONOR OF INTRODUCING BILL

The legislative reference bureau has received many inquiries by newly elected legislators about what House Roll No. 1 will contain and who will introduce it. Everyone wants to introduce the bill that will be known as House Roll No. 1, and it promises to be a lively fight for the honor since only one man can have it.

There are many tricks to be learned about getting this bill introduced and the successful one will probably be some experienced politician.

OMICRON NU SING'S CORNELL'S NEBRASKA HYMN

Dr. C. B. Cornell gave a talk on "Community Service and Community Singing," at the Omicron Nu meeting Wednesday evening, November 22, at 8 o'clock, at the home of Della Kolb, 1342 South Eleventh street.

In closing, he said that he wished to give a practical demonstration of community singing, and asked all to join in the singing of some familiar folk songs, which was done.

Omicron Nu was given the honor of being the first ones, outside of the immediate family of Dr. Cornell, to sing his new Hymn to Nebraska.

HAWKEYES PLAY INDOORS BECAUSE OF BAD WEATHER

BRIEF SCRIMMAGE WITH FRESH-MEN USING NEBRASKA PLAYS

Iowa Wants Firm Field so Her Backs
Can Get Away on Fast

Runs

(Special to The Daily Nebraskan)

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 23.—Cold, rainy weather all but resulted yesterday afternoon in football practice being done indoors by the Hawkeyes. As it was, Coach Jones made the workout on the gridiron short, but full of life.

Brief scrimmage was instituted in which the freshmen, using Nebraska plays, charged the varsity line. Grubb at guard made such a showing as to earn the praise of the coach, Jones intimating that if he continued to perform at the clip which he showed yesterday he would start the Nebraska game at the position. Grubb has been playing on the scrub team since the first of the season, when he was varsity man for a time. Most of the linemen of the first and second string, with the exception of Tackle Becker, got practice against the Cornhusker plays, which were run off with fluctuating success.

Brief Signal Practice

With the men already well saturated, Jones closed the drill with a brief signal practice, sending his squad to the gymnasium early. Becker participated in the signal work and Triplett was at left tackle. Fullback Scott was out in a suit for the day, but contented himself with walking briskly about the field to limber up his bum leg. Van Pelt acted in his place, but it is practically certain that Scott will be in shape to start against Nebraska.

A firm field on which the fast Iowa backs may perform is desired for Saturday by the Hawkeyes, but unless the ground freezes it is improbable that they will be favored with solid footing.

FOURNIER ART EXHIBIT PLACED

Shown in University Art Gallery

The exhibit of Fournier pictures in the Art gallery is now in place. It consists entirely of landscape pictures. Mr. Fournier is an exponent of the Barbizon school.

The entire exhibit, including work from the Philadelphia School of Industrial Art, the Art Students' league and the Teachers' college at Columbia university, will probably be sent from here to the normal schools of the state. It is expected that it will go to Kearney, Peru and Wayne.

The art exhibit which was given in the Art gallery earlier in the fall was sent from here to the North Dakota

Who Killed Cock Robin? Is Question for Moot Court

Who killed Cock Robin? That's a mighty question, but a mightier one is to be decided in Moot court, College of Law county, holding session this afternoon in Law 294.

Murder is what Prosecuting Attorney Albert Bryson terms the cause of the case to be decided, but the attorney for the defense, Ted Metcalfe, insists it is justifiable homicide.

The case of the State vs. Dan Kavanaugh, charging him with the murder of one Hezekiah Nation, will be heard before a jury and Judge John Loder of the College of Law county at 1 o'clock this afternoon. So much interest has been aroused by the particusans of the prosecuting attorney and the attorney for the defense that arrangements may have to be made for a larger court room to accommodate the crowd.

One of the witnesses announced by Attorney Bryson as the principal witness for the state is Miss Ruth St. Denis and it is expected that the appearance of Miss St. Denis in the witness box will prove "a drawing card." General admission to the court room is free, but a limited number of reserved seats have been placed on sale at one dollar a seat. No tickets held after 12:30, so the public is advised to get to the court room early and avoid the rush.

HOLD FOOTBALL PARTY IN MEMORIAL HALL

CHAPEL WOULD NOT HOLD AS MANY STUDENTS

Crowd Will Come to the Battle Fully Expecting Cornhuskers to Win

"We're going to give the rooters something to be happy over," was Coach Stewart's parting shot as the football team was pulled from the Armory to the Rock Island station to board the train for Iowa City yesterday afternoon.

"The team is going to fight Saturday. When they get to the twenty-yard line they're going to have the punch to keep on going. The boys are desperately intent on winning the game, and they are going to give Iowa their best."

Memorial hall, and not the Temple, will be the scene of The Daily Nebraskan football party tomorrow afternoon. The arrangements for the wire at both ends have been completed, and this morning a loop of copper was run into Memorial hall and a telegraph machine placed. The chapel holds more people, that is why it will be used.

The news from Iowa City, play by play from the time the whistle blows, will be telegraphed directly to the chapel, and the machine will click the report to the ears of the operator. He will write the story on his typewriter as each word comes, and the story will be given to the thousand students and faculty who are expected to occupy the hall.

A blackboard will be prepared with the lines marked off upon it to represent the gridiron in the city of the enemy. As the play is received over the telegraph, a marker on the board will follow the position of the ball to indicate as each line buck, end run or forward pass is made, the position of the ball and the gain or loss following the play.

Rapid Ticket Sale
Tickets have been going rapidly for the party and reporters and would-be journalists who have been selling them have been returning to the Nebraskan office time after time for more tickets.

Although the Nebraskan intended merely to cover expenses, and not to make of the affair a charity party in any sense of the word, some have even ventured to buy a ticket when they had no intention of going, merely to help contribute to the expenses of the undertaking.

The thought that the Nebraskan would not make any money on the project, but that all profit, if there is any, would be turned into the fund for the relief of the prisoners in Europe, has met with approval.

The game is scheduled to start at Iowa City at 2:30. Since Iowa and Nebraska are in the same time zone, the battle should start in Memorial hall at the same time.

Ivan Beede, the associate editor of The Nebraskan, who was sports editor for a year, and who is thoroughly versed in football dope, will dictate the story to the telegraph operator at Iowa City as the game progresses. The first word to come will give the lineup, then the whistle will blow and the battle will be on.

LIT. STUDENTS TO VISUALIZE SCENES

Dr. Stuff Will Send His Classes Out in Groups to Keep their Eyes Open

Beginning students of English literature under Dr. Frederick A. Stuff are to be sent out upon Lincoln in groups later this term to keep their eyes open, size up situations and people and later visualize what they have seen in writing. They will work in groups and as a general thing will not work on fires, accidents or other out-of-the-ordinary scenes, but on everyday situations, which ordinarily do not arouse more than passing interest.

In making this announcement, Dr. Stuff said that he is positive that the students will find this classwork very interesting, that they will be aroused to a deeper appreciation of the things that go on about them and of the value of literary understanding in meeting the problems of everyday life.

The outside work in groups is not coming today or tomorrow, but it's coming and will be of much value. That is the promise of Dr. Stuff.

CORN SHOW COMING ORGANIZED AG WEEK

Special Attention Will be Paid Nebraska Youngsters Who Are Growing Corn

A corn show is to be one of the big features of Organized Agriculture week at the University farm, January 15 to 20, when twenty-eight agricultural societies meet simultaneously for annual sessions. The corn show is to be held in connection with the apple, flower, and potato show, both occupying the city auditorium. The home economics association is arranging to have an exhibit at the University farm campus.

Special attention is to be paid to Nebraska youngsters who are growing corn. Separate classes will be provided for boys who have grown their corn without help from adults, and for boys who personally and independently select the ears they wish to netter from corn brown on land operated by a relative, entries being limited to boys 10 to 15 years of age inclusive.

U. S. Harkson, '16, is on a locating party for the Northern Pacific. His work is in and around Billings, Mont., with the present camp about twenty miles distant. Harkson was business manager of the Daily Nebraskan the first semester of last year.
