Entered at the postoffice at Lincoln, Nebraska, as second class mail matter under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

The football game will start at the Armory, tomorrow afternoon at 2:15.

The team and band did not have much encouragement from the students yesterday afternoon. The rally was pitiful, but that was because of the sign "no rally" posted on the bulletin board, just outside the west entrance of Memorial hall.

Convocation yesterday was postponed for a rally, and because no speakers could be secured for 11 o'clock the rally was postponed until 3:40. Then, instead of having the sign read "no convocation" as it should have done, it was "no rally," which gave the impression that there would not be one at all. There is no wonder that only twenty women and sixty men were in the east end of the gymnasium to wish the team luck.

It is plainly evident that the person responsible for the signs on the bulletin board misunderstood the facts. But all that is past. The thing to do now is to make that team feel, from this minute on, that we are with them, wanting them to win, that we believe in them, that we are backing them, whatever the results of the game are.

They are in good form. They are going to meet a good team on their home field, on the Iowa homecoming day.

And the fact that it is Iowa homecoming, with all of the alumni there pulling for their team, backing them and cheering for them,—that fact alone can, as we all know, do wonders in winning the game for Iowa.

But Nebraskans can do as much for their team.

And whether the team comes home victorious or beaten we will be proud of it and know that it did its best.

"The convocation program Tuesday will be a Thanksgiving program. The chorus will sing a Thanksgiving anthem, 'Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem.'" This was the notice sent in last night.

Now, a musical Thanksgiving program may be all right at certain times, but on the last day of school before the biggest game of the year, the one with Notre Dame on Thursday, a big football rally would be far more helpful in winning the game.

We need pep. Everyone admits it. We have a quantity now, but that quantity has possibilities of being increased by ten.

There is only one hour, the convocation hour, Tuesday, when there are no classes. That is at 11 o'clock.

FORUM

Lincoln, Nebr., Nov. 22, 1916.
 Editor Nebraskan:

Mr. D. J. Haykin, in commenting on Slav suffixes, makes this statement in yesterday's Nebraskan: "The Russian equivalent of Paul is Pavi, not Pavel." Why, then, do Russian encyclopedias and dictionaries make no mention whatever of "Pavi," but instead give several columns of "Pavels," among them several czars of Russia as well as universally known characters from the apostle Paul down to the present time?

Russian grammarians and language scholars are the best and most reliable authorities on such deminutive suffixes as "ova," "ovna," "evna," "ichna," etc., as exemplified in common names like "Pavlova," "Ivanovna," "Andreyevna," etc. Mr. Haykin can find useful and enlightening information along this line on page 58, article 43, of P. Smlnovsky's Etymological Grammar of the Russian Language, also on page 12, note 9 and BB. 290-261 of Boyer and Speranski's Grammar (Notes on Patronymics); and likewise on page 79 of Motti's Grammar.

BRIEF BITS OF NEWS

Sue McDougal, a junior here this year, has been elected to teach the third grade in the Cozad public schools.

Dean Charles Fordyce will spend this afternoon in the Fremont public schools studying the methods and at the close of the afternoon will address the teachers on "The Methods of Measuring Teaching Efficiency."

Dr. Nicol, in charge of the educational work of the Presbyterian church in Syria, will address the medical students this morning at 11 o'clock in N. 3 on "The Medical Problems in Syria." At 5 o'clock, in N. 2, he will talk to the pharmacy students on their problems.

According to reports received by the department of animal pathology there has already been considerable loss of cattle in cornstalk fields, which would indicate a larger loss from this trouble this season than usual. There is no system of feeding while cattle are in the stalks that will protect them against this disease. The only sure method of prevention is to keep the cattle out of such fields.

C. C. Tippets, ex. '18, is now machinist repair man with the Dodge Bros. Motor company of Detroit, Mich.

THE DAYS GONE BY

Eight Years Ago Today
 The Cornhuskers defeated the Haskell Indians 10 to 0 under very adverse circumstances, since the field was almost covered by water and the team was in poor condition.

Governor Sheldon entertained the University Republican club at the governor's mansion.

Five Years Ago Today
 A monster Cornhusker rally was held in the Armory to work up enthusiasm for the Michigan game. All classes were dismissed and both teams were present to be praised and compared by their respective coaches.

The Colburn players gave the convocation program, telling the history of their troupe. The chorus sang "The Song of the Vikings."

The cross-country team left for Iowa City to represent Nebraska among thirteen other states.

Many students started home.

A Year Ago Today
 The seniors beat the juniors 13 to 6 in a hard fought game of football. The junior team, with Ralph Lahr as captain, excelled in forward passes and trick plays.

Governor Morehead read the Thanksgiving proclamation at convocation. The chorus gave a program of special Thanksgiving songs.
