FREE TRANSPORTATION FOR NEBRASKA STUDENTS WHO GO

Camps Will Last Four Weeks During July, August and September—Part of Nation-Wide Movement

A student military training camp at Ft. Riley, Kans., with free transportation and subsistence for those who attend, will be held next summer. Nebraska university students are invited to attend.

Three camps will be held, to begin on the second day of each of the months of July, August and September. Each camp will last four weeks. United States army officers in the regular service will be in charge.

Part of the camp will be devoted to hikes, and in general the plans contemplate the same course that was given at the Plattsburg, N. Y., camp last summer, at which over 10,000 college students and graduates were enrolled.

Local Representatives

L. E. Gann, superintendent of the Lincoln Telephone Company, is the local representative of the military training camp association of the United States, and Henry Pascale is the student representative. The central department offices of the association are in room 502, Federal building, Chicago.

Camps will be held this summer at Plattsburg, N. Y., Ft. Sheridan, Ill., and Ft. Snelling, Minn., in addition to that at Ft. Riley. Camps for boys between the ages of fifteen and eighteen will be held at Cheyenne, Wyo., Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind., and at another place yet to be selected.

Nebraska University's stock judging team won first place in the Western National Stock show at Chicago, according to a telegram received early Sunday morning.

Elliott Davis of the Nebraska team was high man, D. E. Walrath was second and B. G. Hays fifth. The team won cash prizes of $200 and four challenge cups.

This is the second notable victory by Nebraska University teams, the dairy stock judging team winning first place at Springfield, Mass., earlier in the year.

ALUMNAE PLAN FOR WOMEN'S DORMITORY

Proceeds of Cabaret Tea to Be Devoted to Campaign—Dean Graham Writes on Housing Problem

The proceeds of the "cabaret-tea," given by the Association of Collegiate Alumnae last Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Woods, will go to carry on the work of building a women's dormitory at the University.

Dean Mary Graham is in favor of a women's dormitory. In an article "The Housing Problem at Nebraska," published in the January edition of the Alumni Journal, which is just out, she says:

"Taking all things into consideration it has seemed wise to carefully consider the possibility of a dormitory system. The greatly increased registration makes it imperative that additional living accommodations shall be provided. The fact that the location of the University is definitely settled insures that whatever provision the University shall make shall be of permanent value.

"The dormitory system would overcome the disadvantages of the supervised rooming house. It would provide sanitary, comfortable, cheerful rooms at reasonable prices. Conscientious students away from home frequently overdo. Some girls exhibit false economy in choosing improper or insufficient food. Students who do not know how to organize their work, study late at night. Slight illnesses are disregarded or not properly treated. High social standards are not always emphasized. A dormitory with a recognized officer in charge would be the most economical, logical and adequate provision for the needs of the girl away from home."

NIGHT ART STUDENTS WORKING FROM CASTS; LIVING MODELS SOON

The night art class which was opened January 15 with Dwight Kirsch, '19, as instructor, is especially for the benefit of people who are busy through the day but who wish to learn to draw, the department states. Meetings are held on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday nights and Prof. Blanche C. Grant gives one criticism a week. At present the class is working from casts but it will be possible to begin with living models as soon as there is interest enough along that line.

This class is open to everybody, regardless of experience or age. The tuition is $4 for ten weeks.

artistic merit of the design, and its appropriateness as a design for a mathematical club.

The contest closes March 30, 1917.

ARGENTINE MATERIAL FOR PROF. PERSINGER

South American Statesmen Expresses Hope it Will Help in Establishing Friendly Relations

Prof. C. E. Persinger, of the American history department, has received from the government of Argentina a gift of a large amount of Argentine material for use in the course of "Latin America," which he gives next semester.

They come largely as the result of a visit to Argentina by Professor Persinger in the summer of 1914, and in the letter accompanying them the Argentinian director of commerce and industry offers to send any other material that may be of service in such a course, and expresses the hope that the material sent "may help in establishing friendly relations between the people of the state of Nebraska and the republic of Argentina."

The publications sent will be used partly in class and partly on Professor Persinger's "Latin American" bulletin board next semester.

WARING WITHDRAWS FROM IVY DAY RACE

Work at State House Prevents His Running—Carr and Frey Remain

Robert Waring, Geneva, whose unofficial announcement of his candidacy for Ivy Day orator started things going for this senior honor, has withdrawn his hat from the ring, giving as his reason his selection as clerk of the judiciary committee in the state house of representatives, which, he feels, will take up too much time to allow for the campaign. Waring's withdrawal leaves E. Everett Carr, Beaver City, a member of the negative debating team, and C. M. Frey, Lincoln, editor of the 1917 Cornhusker, and also a member of the 'varsity debating four, in the race.

Waring's letter follows: "To the Editor of The Daily Nebraskan:

"In view of the fact that I have been selected clerk of the judiciary committee in the house of representatives, I do not feel that I will be able to find time to make the campaign for Ivy Day orator. Nor should I be able to find time, if elected, to adequately prepare myself.

"I therefore wish that you would state that I have withdrawn from the contest.

"R. B. WARING."

CO-EDS TO LEND AID TO CHARITY ORGANIZATION SOCIETY

"If there are any girls who would like to help us, we need friendly visitors," Miss Celia Harris, who was formerly student in the University, told the Business Woman's club last Friday afternoon. The members of the club were taken through the organized charity building by Miss Harris, who explained fully the work done by the organization.

The club expects to do some of this sort of work next semester. Viola Wetherill, president of the club, said Saturday. The club will be given a family or several families to visit each week, and will make reports of the visiting to Miss Harris.

About one hundred and fifty people attended the lecture given by David Varon, D. P. L. G. F., a noted architect, Thursday afternoon. The subject was "Architecture and Its Relation to Academic Studies" and Mr. Varon illustrated it with hasty sketching.

FRESHMEN AND JUNIORS PLAY BASKETBALL TONIGHT

Freshmen and junior basketball teams will clash tonight at 6:30 in the armory. Advance dope indicates a victory for the first year men, but the juniors say they will put up a hard battle.

FOGG MAILED ANNUAL SEMINAR LETTER

NEWS-LETTER TO FORMER DEBATORS FULL OF INFORMATION

Recalls 1916 Debates—Tells of Journalism Work—Full of News of Alumni

The seventh annual newsletter to members of the argumentation and debate seminar, 1902-1916, was sent last week by Prof. M. M. Fogg to the 137 members, living in practically every state.

The letter, 4,000 words long, tells of the 1916 debate, work in journalism, news from the seminary room, state activities in argumentation and debate, and news of seventy-five of the 137 members.

Concerning the scholarship of the members of the seminary last year, Professor Fogg wrote:

"Brilliantly maintained was the debaters' scholarship record by the four team members graduated from the college of law in June. All four Order of the Coif (Theta Kappa Nu) honors in a class of forty-one went to debating-team members, O. K. Perrin, '13, with both Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi honors—the sole Nebraska debater awarded both these distinctions; Joseph K. Polk, Guy C. Chambers, and Raymond A. Smith.

"Two-thirds of the debaters graduated since Theta Kappa Nu was established in 1904 won election to this law Phi Beta Kappa (which elects the highest tenth in the class). Twenty-four have won Phi Beta Kappa honors."

In the high school debating league, Professor Fogg reports a membership of 100 last year, and twenty-one new schools have applied for participation in the tenth annual debates. "So large has the league become that it has voted to reorganize the work to obviate the necessity of excluding schools and to permit team instead of individual debating at the state debate here in May."

Among the alumni whose activities are mentioned are Harry J. Burtis, '13, head of the department of public speaking at Hamline university, St. Paul, Minn., whose team in the intercollegiate debate won from Michigan last spring, and Burdette G. Lewis, '04, commissioner of correction, city of New York, who has a book in press, "The Offender," being published by Harper & Brothers.

HUSKERS WIN TWO ON HOME FLOOR

BRANDEIS OF OMAHA AND YORK COLLEGE ARE THE VICTIMS

Locals Show Strength, and Prospects of Developing into a Brilliant Team

The Nebraska basketball team opened the season on their home floor last Friday night by trimming the fast Brandeis five, of Omaha, by the score of 29 to 11.

After spending the first half in feeling out the power of the visitors the Cornhuskers started in with a vengeance in the second half and rolled up a total for the half of 19 to a scant 3 for the Omahans.

Captain Campbell and Jim Gardiner both played stellar games for the Cornhuskers, the guarding of the latter being one of the outstanding features of the game.

Jackson, Flynn and Wertz, the three men who had made their first appearance as regulars, showed to good advantage and give promise of developing into real stars with a little more experience. Fiothow, although playing only a few minutes, showed that he has plenty of fight and will develop into a valuable man.

Conquest of York

Saturday night the Cornhuskers took on the collegians from York. The score that night was 23 to 14 with the Nebraskans again on the long end.

The team work of the Cornhuskers was not as smooth as that of the previous night but the game was much faster, due to the fighting spirit displayed by the men from York.

Nelson was easily the Cornhusker star of this contest. In addition to holding his man scoreless and practically helpless he himself rolled up a total of 10 points by shooting five field goals, four of which were executed with one hand.

Campbell gladdened the hearts of the fans by dropping in seven foul goals, as against three for the night before.

The York team, which is coached by Earl Hawkins, a former Cornhusker basketball captain, had a great amount of speed and fight and the Nebraska five had to go at its very best clip to beat them.

The lineup of the first game:

Nebraska—29	Brandeis—11
Campbell	Burkenroad
Jackson	Rector
Nelson	Stryker
Flynn	Cohn

century. Professor Dann pointed out Durer's strongest characteristics as an artist and gave special interpretation of several of his masterpieces. This was the first of a series of lectures on art which the club has mapped out as a study for the year.

Dean Charles Fordyce addressed the city teachers' institute of Dunbar Friday evening.
