STUDENT COUNCIL ASSURED

The appointment by Chancellor Avery of a Student Council charter commission means that there will be student self-government at Nebraska University before the end of the present semester. It is inconceivable that this committee, in which both faculty and students, men and women, are so ably represented, cannot draw up a plan for the council that will meet with the approval of the students and of the Senate.

The chancellor has very clearly pointed out that the selection of a Student Council will really add to the dignity and importance of the Innocents and Black Masques and strengthen the tradition that is connected with them.

The charter commission should commence its work at once. Student organizations and individual students should be ready with suggestions and a complete discussion of the problem should be had. This is one of the most important questions that has ever come before the Nebraska student body.

MR. NEFF AND MR. TULLY IN THE LIMELIGHT

The appointment of a senior man and a junior woman as members of the Student Council charter commission is in the hands of Mr. Neff, the senior president, and Mr. Tully, the junior president. The appointments are the most important these two gentlemen will make and will be a test of their fitness for office.

A Student Council, to meet the approval of the student body, must avoid any taint of politics. These two class presidents must appoint as representatives, students known to be broad-minded and known to have made a study of the Student Council question and to be in sympathy with the movement for it. They must appoint without regard to political favors past, present or future, and with the sole purpose of getting on the commission, students who can act intelligently and unselfishly.

These appointments should be made before the week end, so that the charter commission will not be delayed in its work.

USING THE FORUM

Nebraska students are neglecting an opportunity for a wholesome exchange of student opinion, by failing to keep the Forum department full of letters every day.

About the only letters that come in are from those who have a grudge against the editor, and while it is a lot of fun to get these, they do not help make general conditions around the University any better, and it is doubtful whether they even improve the editor.

The Student Council problem now before the students is an invitation to a public discussion of the question through the Forum columns. The invitation should not be neglected.

The Cornhusker staff has guaranteed to put out the annual on time if students have their individual pictures taken by this week end. The seniors and juniors should make themselves individually responsible in this—and then the staff can have no excuse for failure to make good on its bargain.

A few more days like yesterday, and the "bench workers" may be expected to make their appearance.

NON COMPOS MENTIS

Our Daily Thought
If politicians don't pass a lot of things around they don't pass themselves.

Have you seen 'em on the campus
Shakin' hands and lookin' glad
And a'tellin' how they love you,
You so much like dear old dad.

Have you noticed the air of satisfaction,

Have you heard the arguments
Don't you see that something's brewing
When there's so many on the fence?

Have you seen the "Jobs" gain numbers

Have you heard the word "pull"
Don't you see all the fore-runners
Of election spiked to kill.

Spring is here

As far as
Muddy streets and spring hats
Are concerned,—

Also yellow neckties.
Strange how all three
Increase the number of rubbers.

Muddy streets are inconvenient,
But easily

Passed from view.
Not so with the

Yellow bonnets and orange chokers.
This is a season for yellow,

Yellow hat, yellow shoes,
Yellow hair and

Fruit yellow—
But to return

To the original topic
Of yellow neckties,
How can they be?

The men refuse to
Allow the women
To vote

Because they say they are Irresponsible.

What is more so than
A piece of silk
Dipped in the

Curse of civilization
And four-in-handed
Around an innocent

Youth's neck?
A yellow tie,
(And there are

Too many of them)
Is the sign of
Weakening tissues

Under the skull;
An advance poster
For malaria mosquitoes,

A flag of distress,
May the day
Come

When all of the
Yellow neckties are used
Only for the purpose

Of warning the ordinary
Harmless citizen
Of Approaching Danger

And Genuine Distress!

THE CHALLENGE

In days of old
All men were bold
When all their tools of war were words.

Now comes a call
To brave men all
And proof of bravery affords.

Ye who did boast—
A Valiant Host—
How much you loved your native land;

Ye who defied
Foes far and wide,
The time has come to show your hand.

Not words but deeds
The nation needs:
Strong men who dare to show their might,

To give their all
At Duty's call,
For home and nation and for right.

—Scuffy.
