First meeting of the Engineering society will be held at 7.30 p. m., Wednesday, September 26, M. E. 206. Roll will be called and all engineers are expected to be present. By order of Dean Stout.

News From the Camps

Henry C. Harper, '17, 2nd lieutenant, and Frank W. Carpenter, '18, 1st lieutenant, two Nebraskans now in Company I of the 351st Infantry, send word expressing their desire to keep in touch with the "dear old school."

Carpenter is acting commander of his company and has helped his men to establish for themselves the reputation of being the "best drilled company in the regiment."

So far, only the first five per cent of the first draft has reached the camp. These the letter describes as "splendid fellows" who will be the non-commissioned officers of the company. The second contingent was expected to arrive from St. Paul the day after the letter was written. After these have arrived "the real work will begin," but Lieutenant Harper expresses confidence that "the fine spirit of the drafted men will make the work pleasant although the job is a big one."

Sergeant R. L. Cruik of the "Dandy Sixth," writes a very interesting letter from Camp Cody, Deming, N. M., stating that the camp is rapidly reaching completion. There are several Cornhusker boys stationed there and Sergeant Cruik says that they are all anxious to receive the "Rag" and learn what the University is doing.

"The Sixth reached Camp Cody Monday, September 17," reads a part of the letter, "and it has rained every day since we have been here, with the exception of today." That day he goes on to describe as resembling one of "our Nebraska autumn days." The nights are very cold and the boys suffered some severe chills until they learned "the art of wrapping up" in their blankets.

Football and baseball teams are being organized at the camp, and provisions are being made for track, tennis, and all kinds of sports, so the soldiers will have a part of the "good old days" after all.

They are located only two miles from Deming, but "can never see what the town looks like for soldiers. The streets are crowded, especially after a regiment has been paid."

"Two or three Y. M. buildings are already completed and more are under construction."

Axel C. Swenson, ex-'17, who was given a lieutenant's commission at Fort Snelling, is at Camp Dodge, Des Moines, Iowa, with the 3rd Depot brigade, which is soon to be sent to Deming, N. M.

First Lieutenant Richard Guthrie, '12, of Lincoln, who entered the army last spring by examination, was in Lincoln for four days on his way from Fort Leavenworth, Kan., to Sparta, Wis., where he is now stationed.

AFTERWHILE

Afterwhile we have in view
The old home to journey to;
Where the Mother is, and where
Her sweet welcome waits us there,
How we'll click the latch that locks

In the pinks and hollyhocks,
And leap up the patch once more
Where she waits us at the door;
How we'll greet the dear old smile
And the warm tears, afterwhile.

ORPHEUM—LAST HALF

"AMERICA FIRST," a patriotic spectacle, received the official O. K. of most of the commanding officers stationed at Fort Douglas, soldiers and sailors and an audience which filled the spacious Orpheum theater on the occasion of its presentation last night. To say that it was thrilling and a vehicle to rouse the red patriotic blood of an audience is but a mild expression. Everything theatrical has been eliminated, and as a serious attempt to arouse a nation it scored a huge success. It proved genuinely inspiring. Martin Van Bergen, as a singer of patriotic renditions, well merited the encores accorded him. The military band played several numbers that kept the audience on edge; the scenery is the last word in scenic art, and to the author there must be granted a word of commendation, especially when he introduced into the spectacle two of the prettiest girls ever presented to a Salt Lake audience. There is nothing lacking in the production. No detail is omitted and the performers' evidence the result of careful training.

Prominent in the audience last night were Governor and Mrs. Simon Dam-berger, Colonel Alfred Hasbrouck and sister, Colonel and Mrs. R. W. Young, Lieutenant and Mrs. B. H. Roberts and Major Henry Kearns.—Salt Lake Tribune.—Adv.
