That Ohio State is not the only western conference school to have a bright football outlook was emphasized when Coach Zupke of Illinois issued the statement Tuesday that his team this year would be "as good as ever." At Illinois, as is was here, worry was felt as to the football outlook, but the first practice at Champaign brought out 37 gridiron candidates, which rejoiced the heart of the little Illini coach.

Among the candidates reporting were Captain Kraft, "Swede" Rundquist and Schlandeman of last year's varsity, and Ingwersen, Nickols and Larrimore, freshman stars. Coach Zupke also said, in talking of the coming football season, that he did not believe that the quality of the games would be lowered any this year.

 He added that Purdue, Indiana, Iowa and Ohio State would, in his estimation, have as good teams as they did last year, while Minnesota, with a world of material, would undoubtedly have another strong team.

Illinois plays the Buckeyes November 17, here, in the annual homecoming game, which from first reports promises to be as close as the conflict last fall which started Ohio on its first "Big Nine" football championship.—Ohio State Lantern.

THE STORE AHEAD

The Influence of the Military on Fashion

EVER since the days when clothes became more than mere crude coverings from the elements, modes have been altered, dropped or brought to the height of popularity by the most important events of the day.

Now, during field training, the student of Style will find perhaps something of interest in the promptness with which the spirit of the day has been interpreted in various parts of Dress.
