WAR TAKES VALUABLE MAN FROM HUSKER SQUAD

Stanley Henry Is Called by Draft
—Must Report Home
at Once

LINE IS SHOWING STRENGTH

Swiftly and without warning, the first serious effects of the big rumpus Kaiser Bill is kicking up across the pond reached the Cornhusker football camp last night when it was announced that Stanley Henry had been drafted and must report at his home town immediately. The news puts a big crimp in the outlook for a successful season as Henry has been showing stuff on the field in the last few practices that has out-shown the work of any of the other men on the squad.

This is the first year that Stanley has had a chance to seriously try for the varsity, as he has been compelled to work most of the time during his other years in school. He has provided all the expenses of his education since a junior in high school by working odd hours, nights and summers. Last year, while out for football every day, he worked every night and as a result was not in condition to give competition to varsity men. This year he has managed to get out for football regularly and has been training.

Henry has worked as hard as any man on the squad this fall and had cinched a place on the team. He has speed and a good head with plenty of weight and has shown an unexpected ability in the last few night's practice, of being able to slide out of the grasps of would-be tacklers, with great skill.

Freshman Scrimmage
The scrimmage with the freshmen yesterday was somewhat a repetition of the day before, with the varsity going through almost at will and the first year men unable to gain but little ground. The freshmen, through experience and the addition of some new men, including varsity candidates have been able to present a rather formidable front in the two practices of the week, but it has been unavailing in stopping the rushes of the varsity backs.

Kellogg, McMahon, Dobson, Henry and Schellenberg were again the aggressors in the ground gaining and could not be stopped, on most of the occasions when they carried the pigskin, until they had gone several yards beyond the line of scrimmage. The line is gradually assuming the shape of a real stonewall and with the seasoning of the first two games of the schedule, should be in fine shape by the time Notre Dame invades Cornhuskerland.

ART CLUB EXHIBIT RECEIPTS TO RED CROSS

Pictures Have Been Secured From
Mrs. Melville Johnson of Richmond, Ind.

The Nebraska Art association held a meeting at the commercial club, Monday, and decided to give all door receipts of the exhibits to the work of the Red Cross.

The annual exhibit will be held soon after the holiday days and all necessary work of installing the pictures will be volunteered work, so all the money from season and single admission tickets will go to the Red Cross.

The board of directors have secured the exhibit from Mrs. Melville Johnson of Richmond, Ind. Mrs. Johnson has charge of a collection of pictures assembled to be sent to the larger cities of the middle west.

The collections will be arranged by Mrs. Harrison.

Captain Bolby, class of '05, visited Dean W. P. Stout today. Captain Bolby is graduate of the engineering college and recently obtained his commission in the twentieth engineers corps.

PRE-MEDIC SOCIETY HOLDS FIRST MEETING OF YEAR YESTERDAY FORENOON

The Pre-Medic society was re-organized yesterday morning at the first meeting of the year. President Richard Carlson presided and all other officers elected last spring took up their duties.

Membership to the society is open to all pre-medic students. Anyone wishing to join should see E. Studley the secretary and deposit a fee of one dollar.

A smoker will be held for members of the society Thursday evening at 7:30 at the Alpha Sigma Phi house, 1340 R street.

FRENCH MORE POPULAR THAN GERMAN AT OHIO

Decrease of From Forty to Fifty Per Cent in Enrollment for Kaiser's
Language

Present relations existing between the United States and the various European countries, owing to our entrance into the war, have caused a decrease of 40 to 50 per cent in registration in the German classes in the Ohio university, while the French classes are filled to overflowing. This estimate was given recently by Prof. M. Blackmore Evans of the department of German. The enrollment in first-year French on October 1 last year was only 520, while this semester there are already 512, and more coming in each day.

The faculty has made no changes in the department here except, as is usual in time of war, the dropping of several enemy alien professors from the faculty.

"PACIFICISM MILITARISM ANARCHISM" AT CONVOCATION

Dean W. G. Hastings of the College of Law Speaks on Interesting War Subject

"If Tolstol's altruism cannot be followed to the limit, can't be made an absolute principle, and we are liable to have too much of it, then surely individualism, as represented by Nietzsche, and state absolutism, as preached by Trietschke, cannot be made absolute and unlimited principles. And the three together represent the pacificism, anarchism and militarism up-to-date," Dean William Granger Hastings, dean of the college of law, summed up his address at Convocation at 11 o'clock in Memorial hall yesterday morning.

Dean Hastings read a short pamphlet by Tolstol, "The Demands of Love," which gives the essence of Tolstol's doctrine of altruism. The pamphlet depicts the ideal life of one who believed not only in word but in fact, the brotherhood of man. It describes the experience of one who gives up position and wealth to help the poor. It brings out the fact that there is no place to stop when such a course of action is begun.

"If there is a limit to the line of action, a point where the person feels he must do no more, then the motive is not altruism, but hypocrisy," the pamphlet states. The last years of Tolstol's life were spent carrying out these "Demands of Love," outlined in the pamphlet.

"The artist-philosopher is introducing into the world an absolute altruism, absolute non-resistance, then he bewails that they do not fit," Dean Hastings said.

"It is true that force is to be avoided most of the time," he admitted. "The state recognizes this in private matters, yet it believes in public force. The sum-total of government compulsive force has been reduced."

No fantastically conceived idea of benevolence should be tolerated that endangered and well-fare of humanity, Dean Hastings asserted.

"The pitiful and awful results come when the individuals say, 'My country can do no wrong,' he said. The doctrines of morality applied to individuals should be applicable to nations.

School Spirit Shows Itself Among Nebraska Men At Funston Camp

By Special Correspondent

Camp Funston, Kansas, October 1. When headquarters company of the 355 infantry swung into its first long march to the order of "rout march" it stepped to the cadence of U-U-Uni. When spirits run high or when noise and enthusiasm are at their height no single call will start such a response as anything that harkens back to Nebraska University.

The occasional copy of the Nebraska that sifts out of the mails into the Nebraska barracks has more readers than any other one paper. The whole regiment is from that state and in every company there are representatives from the university. They have been first to organize football teams, any every other kind of rival organizations between companies.

In Y. M. C. A. building No. 8 last Friday night, the men were asked to cheer for the state they came from as the name of the states were called. Nebraska came last. The response would have done credit to a football rally when the law college yelled unmuzzled and a certain expressive hot

TICKETS FOR WESLEYAN GAME ON RESERVE TODAY

Reservations for Student and Faculty Seats to Be Made at Activities' Office

COYOTES STRONG THIS YEAR

Tickets for the Wesleyan game may be reserved by faculty and students at the student activities office in the basement of the Administration building any time today. Reservations will be made here this year instead of at Harley's as was announced.

This year a special rooster's section will be reserved in the best block of seats for the whole season. This section will be in the center, on the south side. All student tickets will be reserved in this section free of charge except for the Notre Dame and Syracuse games. Unless student tickets are reserved in this section they will count only as general admissions and there will be an additional charge for reservation for each game. It is thought, however, that students will take advantage of the free offer and will get together in the rooster's section. This will be one of the means of getting the concentrated spirit which produces the psychic wave that Dr. Stewart has been working on ever since he came to Nebraska.

Tickets for First Game
So far students have bought less than 200 tickets for the opening game. In former years nearly a thousand have been sold before the first big game. Students decide they want the tickets after one game has been played and thus lose that much. The athletic committee urge that all students purchase their student ticket at once for four dollars and get out for the first game Saturday.

The Coyotes are coming with an unusually strong line-up this year and the dope is that they will spring some surprises on the Huskers before the final whistle sounds. With the varsity force weakened with the loss of Henry from the backfield there will be some important changes in the line-up Saturday that will interest supporters of the team.

The business men of Lincoln promise to have a record breaking crowd at the opening game and it is hoped that the student body will do their share in starting right the biggest football year Nebraska has ever had.

Miss Amy Armstrong, A. M. '17, who is teaching at Park City, Utah, just outside of Salt Lake City, writes that she cannot complain of having idle time on her hands. "At present," she says, "I am teaching six classes in English, coach debating, dramatics, and basket ball, chaperoning dances, and guarding campfire girls."

FOUR HUNDRED FIFTY "N" BOOKS WILL BE OUT THIS AFTERNOON

Four hundred more "N" books have been received at the University Y. M. C. A. and will be ready for distribution at the Temple this afternoon. There were a number of students who wished the books when they were distributed before and it is probable that these on hand at present will not be sufficient to supply the demand.

GIRLS' FOOTBALL RALLY AT CONVOCATION TOMORROW

Chance for Women to Show They are Behind Nebraska Team
This Year

A girls' football rally will be held tomorrow morning in Memorial hall at 11 o'clock Convocation. The Valkyries, senior women's organization to promote school activities, have charge of the program.

The purpose of the rally is to interest University women in the football games. It is realized that many girls do not realize what they are missing when they do not attend the games.

Blanche Higgins, '18, will preside. Dean Amanda Heppner, Mrs. J. B. Lees, of the department of physical education, Prof. Sarka Hrbkova, head of the department of Slavonic languages, Coach E. J. Stewart, T. A. Williams, Capt. E. A. Shaw are among the speakers.

NO SORORITY ACTION YET ON FORMAL QUESTION

Are Asked to Make Decision and Report at Meeting
Tuesday

No definite action was taken in regard to formal parties, at the inter-sorority council meeting yesterday. Of the different policies presented, the plan of eliminating formals, was most popular. Five groups had taken definite action, but most of the sororities had not reached a decision.

Dean Heppner and Prof. Louise Pound, chairmen of Pan-Hellenic council, expressed a desire that each organization talk the subject over, and have some policy for the delegate to present at the next meeting, which has been called for Tuesday at 11:30 o'clock.

The faculty committee on student organizations decided at the last meeting that there should be less social life, of the kind that calls for formals and expensive parties. The policy of restricting social affairs of this nature, has been recommended to the Greeks, with whom the final decision now rests. A meeting of inter-fraternity council was called for today by Chairman J. T. Lees to find out the decision of the men.

PLAN FOR THIRD OFFICERS' TRAINING CAMP

Open Only to Enlisted Men or Those
From Colleges With Military
Instruction

The war department at Washington is making plans for a third series of Officers' Training camps, open only to men enlisted in the army or students from colleges giving military instruction. This announcement appears in a recent issue of the army and navy register. It is expected that those qualifying will be appointed second lieutenants in the army as vacancies appear. In regard to the plans, the Register says:

"Arrangements have been made in the war department for a third series of officers' training camps to be opened early in January. None of the training camp sites now being utilized will be employed for this purpose, it having been decided that the instructions shall be held at the divisional cantonments and under the division commanders. It is planned also that the instruction shall be limited to enlisted men of the military force, together with designated students at the colleges where military instruction is imparted. It is made known that there is no intention of including in this instruction young men from civil life. Those who qualify in the third series of training camps will be placed on a list from which appointments will be made to vacancies in the grade of second lieutenant in the army. By virtue of this eligible list it will be possible to have at hand qualified candidates for commissions without delay of examination."

Thus far the military department has received no official communication from the war department in regard to the new training camps, but information will undoubtedly be at hand within a short time.

PROF. SARKA HRBKOVA SPEAKS BEFORE LINCOLN BUSINESS WOMEN'S LEAGUE

Prof. Sarka Hrbkova gave a very interesting talk to twenty-five members of the Lincoln Business Women's league last Monday evening on "Making Democracy Safe for the World." Owing to the novelty of the subject, the talk was enjoyed very much by those present.

SMOKE OF ELECTION BATTLE CLEARS AWAY

Closest Race in Freshman Class—
Nelson Wins Over Dobson
of Juniors

GARRISON HEADS SENIORS

Class elections passed off yesterday with the usual number of casualties and the unexpected overthrow of several dope sheets.

The closest race was in the freshman class where only two votes gave "Hank" Albrecht of Lincoln the leadership of the first year group over Willard Green of Omaha. The contest between Paul Dobson of Lincoln and Jean O. Nelson of Sterling which promised to be one of the keenest resulted in a 3 to 1 victory for Nelson.

Everett J. Garrison of Summerfield won the senior presidency over John Riddell of Beatrice by 14 votes. Russell R. Best of Omaha the sophomore candidate had things all his own way and was elected with no opposition.

Political Machines Active

Political machines were active during every minute the polls were open and there was hardly a time the whole day that the space in front of the Army was not crowded with vote-getters. Hearty handshakes, friendly advice, pleasant smiles and assuring glances all had their place and were employed with a zest and persistence that would cast shadows over many a professional. The freshman especially showed excellent organization and the annual Lincoln-Omaha battle for first year president was as hard fought as ever.

Following is the result of the count last night:

Senior President—Everett J. Garrison, 86; John L. Riddell, 72.

Junior President—Jean O. Nelson, 165; Paul Dobson, 53.

Freshman President—"Hank" Albrecht, 187; Willard Green, 185, and Claude F. Peters, 70.

Many Drake Men in Camps—Every morning when the bugles are blown throughout the camps of the United States army, 225 Drake men will stand at attention, for that many have answered the call to the colors and are now at camps scattered from Maine to California, training for real warfare in France. Football, basketball and track stars of yesterday are army officers of today, and that same fighting spirit with which Drake men have gone into every battle is the spirit which is now pushing the men to the front.

DEAN HEPPNER SPEAKS ON VALUE OF FRIENDLINESS

Denies Statement That College
Creates Selfishness and Relates Incidents

Prof. Amanda Heppner, dean of women, spoke at Vespers Tuesday evening on "Investment in Friendliness and Friendship." Helen Humpe, '18, led the meeting.

"I think that there is a divine guidance," said Dean Heppner and she proceeded to tell several incidents in which many difficulties were solved by friendliness. The charge has always been made that college life created selfishness. It is for us to prove that it does not necessarily make the student think only of herself. A friendly word, a nod or a clasp of the hand may encourage some downhearted student to take up his work again.

"In the University of Washington the upperclassmen assume the guardianship of the freshmen. Some wonderful friendships have arisen through this responsibility. Service for others is the greatest happiness and a general interest in everybody, will be able to understand the greater problems of life."

NEBRASKAN FREE TO UNIVERSITY SOLDIERS

Believing that Nebraska men actively engaged in the war are just as anxious for news from the campus as their former classmates are for word from them, the management of The Nebraskan will send the paper free of charge to every Cornhusker soldier whose address is known. You can help by sending lists of addresses to The Nebraskan, either mailing them to Station A or telephoning them to the business office, B-2597.
