PLAN STUDY COURSES FOR MEN IN TRAINING

Men Stationed at Des Moines Cantonment May Continue Education

Every soldier stationed at Camp Dodge will have an opportunity to employ his spare time in getting an education or furthering his education. There will be instruction in simple reading and writing for who are deficient in these elementary subjects and there will be instruction in trigonometry and calculus for those who are prepared to study them. In fact, any subject will be taught when a demand for it arises among the encamped men.

The two great agents in this undertaking will be the colleges and universities in the territory served by the Des Moines cantonment and the Y. M. C. A. Director O. E. Klingaman of the extension division will have charge of the interests of all the institutions of higher learning in the district, and Prof. A. C. Trowbridge, another state university man, will direct the work of the Y. M. C. A. Both will have numerous assistants.

Duties are Separate
The work of the two agents will be distinctly separate. The duty of the Y. M. C. A. will be to mingle with the men in the camp and learn from them their educational wants. After it has found that a certain number of men wish to have instruction in French, or arithmetic, or geography the information is turned over to the organization of colleges and universities. And here is where the work of the Y. M. C. A. as an organization ends.

At this point Director Klingaman takes over the information supplied by the Y. M. C. A. with reference to the educational wants of the men. It falls upon his organization to furnish the instructors and give the instruction. The instructors may be drawn from the different colleges within the cantonment territory or from among the men already in camp who are competent teachers. Buildings of the Y. M. C. A. will be used for class rooms. The whole organization is so arranged that all thought of religious denomination will be entirely lacking.

Three Needs for Education
There are three great needs for education in the cantonments, according to Dean W. F. Russell of the state university's college of education, who has observed camp conditions in several military camps throughout the country.

There is the immediate need, such as the teaching of reading and writing to the illiterate, or the teaching of French or higher mathematics to those who use these subjects in their routine duties; the need of recreation, for soldiers are likely to have their evenings and one or two of their afternoons to themselves; and the need for fitting men for civilian life after the war.—Daily Iowan.

JAY HAWK'S FOOTBALL PROSPECTS ARE BRIGHT

Two Veterans Return to Ranks in Kansas Squad—Backfield Light But Speedy

Jayhawker football stock received an additional boost last week when two veterans of last year's varsity squad returned to school. Stem Foster, "K" man at quarter last fall, and Scrubby Laslett, end of varsity caliber, enrolled and are out for practice.

If early season playing is any indication, of the style of play Kansas will use in its valley contests, the aerial game will have a prominent part. The backfield is light, averaging about 164 pounds to the man and at least two men are speed-fiends. Casey is good for gains around the ends and handles the kicking for the squad, along with George Nettels.

Nettels, has not been able to play for the past two night on account of a bruised knee. His kicking is excellent and his work at tackle is pleasing Coach Olcott. Liggett and Stephens have been alternating at the other tackle with Fat Dennis. Paul Jones, a beefy guard from the frosh team of last year, is playing left guard while Warren Woody, a last year's veteran is playing the other position.

Tom Pringle, a heavy and smashing back of the 1916 squad, is playing a good game opposite Casey. Captain Nielsen, the man who carried the ball across the Nebraska goal line last fall, also is going good and capability fills his usual position at full. Doc Marquis, a former Drake star, Webb Wilson and John Bunn, from the freshman team of last season, are furnishing plenty of competition for Foster.—University Daily Kansan.

Prof. Frank Dickinson, '11, of Denver, Colo., has resigned his position as professor of philosophy and education at Kingfisher college, Kingfisher, Okla., to accept the professorship of philosophy at the University of Colorado.

THE UKULELE

THE languorous charm of the Hawaiian native instruments—so moving in appeal, so observably in vogue—is strikingly characteristic of the Ukulele. Its tone possesses that curiously beautiful timbre, that exotic charm of tonal quality which has made these instruments so sensation-ally popular.

The Ukulele has a pleasing grace of form. The finer models are made of genuine Hawaiian Koa wood. It is much in request today among the smarter college and other musical organizations.

It is easy to learn. Its price includes an Instruction Book.

Hawaiian Steel Guitar

Every chord struck upon this typically representative Hawaiian instrument is marked by a weird, plaintive harmony and strangely beautiful qualities of tone. It brings, to any music, qualities full of vivid color and varied charm.

Price $8.00 and upwards, including Steel and Set of Three Thumbies for playing, and Instruction Book.

Catalogs on application.

Lyon & Healy "Washburn" Ukuleles, $15.00; Leonardo Nunes genuine Hawaiian make, $7.50; Mauna Loa brand, $4. May be had of 12,000 leading music dealers. Write for name of the nearest dealer.
