MAKE FINAL CALL FOR CORNHUSKER PICTURES

Upperclassmen Urged to Arrange for Sitzings

STUDENTS ASKED TO HELP

Must Provide Representative Year Book for Nebraska Men in Camps

Only a small percentage of Juniors and Seniors have as yet made any arrangements for having their individual pictures for the 1918 Cornhusker taken, according to H. B. Thompson, business manager for the annual. The time set for having all these pictures in is not far off, and the management urges all members of the two classes to make engagements with the photographers immediately.

Some time ago, cards were sent out to all Juniors and Seniors whose names and addresses were available to the management, requesting that the pictures be taken as soon as possible. These warnings have been for the most part unheeded, and a large percentage of the pictures still remain to be taken. If there were any who were missed, and who received no card, it was not because their pictures were not wanted, but because their names or addresses were unknown to the management. Everyone's picture is wanted in the annual who classifies either as a Junior or as a Senior, no matter in what college or division of the University he may be enrolled.

January 26 Time Limit

There is no time to waste. To be placed in the engravers' hands, every picture must be in by January 26th, a week from tomorrow, and after that positively no pictures will be accepted. This leaves only a week in which to arrange for sittings. The pictures are preferably to be taken at the Townsend studios, because arrangements have been made there to provide for the best service possible. Extra photographers have been secured, and the crowd can be handled as fast as it comes. It would be advisable, however, to phone for a definite engagement before going for a sitting.

This is the last notice that can be given of the necessity for attending to this matter at once. There will be no Nebraska published during next week, because of the examinations, so the students will have to take it upon their own responsibility to get the pictures taken before Saturday.

Senior girls may have their pictures taken in their caps and gowns, and it is expected that most of them will avail themselves of this privilege.

Organizations also are requested to hurry their pictures in as rapidly as possible. The latest possible time that they can get the material in will be February 2.

Will Be Sent to Camp

The management is working under disadvantageous conditions, and asks the student body to give it all the support possible, in every way possible. If all the material is in on time, it will be a great help. It has always been the custom to publish a picture of every Junior and Senior, and of every organization of any kind of the school. It is particularly desirable that the classes and clubs

MAY LIMIT NEBRASKAN TO FOUR ISSUES A WEEK

Students Given Opportunity to Decide Future Policy of Campus Newspaper

Do students want a five day edition of the Daily Nebraskan?

This is the question that has been submitted by the student publication board for the student body to decide. The decision must come in the next drive to be made by the Nebraskan for subscriptions.

During the past semester not over five hundred students have been listed on the subscription page. Probably no less than three times that number have been the daily readers of its contents. It is evident that every reader and person on the campus should support the financing of such an edition without fail. It is necessary to have this financial cooperation if the present 5-day schedule of the Nebraskan is to continue. Unless at least seven hundred subscribers are counted on the list for next semester the publication board announces that it will reduce the number of publications to four a week. This plan will eliminate the Monday issue.

The power of determining the policy of the Nebraskan is placed by this question squarely before the student and faculty body. Fraternities and sororities together with other organizations are given an opportunity to show their interest in the welfare of University functions. The Daily Nebraskan is the only present representation that the University has with her sister institutions. It is the medium through which the spirit of our school is conveyed to other colleges. To allow it to drop in the number of issues because Nebraska students were not enthusiastic enough to support its subscription would be an unpleasant reflection on the general spirit of the school.

Organizations should take an active interest in this question and present it at their Monday night business meetings. Individuals should not hesitate to give their willing support to make the campaign for subscription beginning Wednesday the first day of the registration a complete enough success to insure a full five day issue of The Daily Nebraskan to the students and faculty members of the University for the remainder of the year.

The subscription price for the semester will be $1.

Marketing Course to Be Dropped Next Semester

The second semester's schedule of the evening classes for business men and women has been arranged as follows:

Business Law—Monday, 7:30-8:45 p. m.—Mr. Bullock.

Business Course for Women—Monday, 7:00-8:00 p. m.—Prof. England.

Banking—Monday, 8:00-9:00 p. m.—Prof. England.

The course in Marketing which was given last semester will be omitted this term, because Mr. Dana Cole, instructor in the economics department, has gone to the third reserve officers training camp.

For further information about these courses, apply to Prof. J. E. LeRouge, director of the School of Commerce, or to Prof. A. A. Reed, director of University Extension service.

ECONOMICS STUDENTS EXHIBIT NEW FOODS

Dasheen, Soy Bean and Pinto Beans Demonstrated—Meeting Closed Yesterday

The Nebraska Home Economics association held its last meetings Thursday on the state farm campus. At 9:30 o'clock in the forenoon the following talks were given in the assembly room of Agriculture hall:

"Marketing From the Viewpoint of the Dealer," W. C. Beachley.

"Marketing From the Buyers' Viewpoint," Mrs. W. H. Vining.

"Ideal Methods of Handling Dairy Products," Prof. Theodore Thorson, of the dairy department.

This was followed by an excursion to the dairy building where demonstrations of dairy methods were given.

The afternoon meeting was held at 2:30 o'clock in Agriculture hall with nearly three hundred people present.

The program was as follows:

Violin solo—Helen Possner.

"Our Textile Supplies"—J. E. Miller, of the Miller & Paine Co.

"Good Taste in Street Clothes"—Miss Ruth Curtis, of the Home Economics department.

"The History of Costume"—Miss Katherine Cranor, assistant professor of home economics.

The Nebraska Home Economics association has held its meetings in connection with the organized agriculture since the work of the organization is so closely allied with the agricultural work. The meetings have been very well attended, averaging between two hundred fifty and three hundred.

The Home Economics department of the University has sewing exhibits and cooking demonstrations at the city Auditorium, in connection with the wheat, corn and apple show. Some very interesting new foods have been used in these demonstrations, the object being to show the great possibilities in substitutes for the staple foods, wheat and meat. Perhaps the most interesting product is "dasheen," a new vegetable which is taking the place of the potato. It looks something like a large potato, with big round sprouts, and grows under the ground. It tastes like a potatoe, also, and is prepared in practically the same way. The soy bean, a Chinese bean which has been used for fodder until recently, is now being used as flour for muffins, and also in salads. These beans are yellow, black and green. The pinto bean, a small red bean related to the Mexican bean, is used for salads and pinto bean loaf. The dasheen and soy bean are southern products, but grow well in other places.

FIRST SEMESTER OF SCHOOL CLOSSES TODAY

Final Examinations Begin Tomorrow, Followed by Registration Wednesday

The last classes of the first semester on the school year 1917-1918 will be held today, and final examinations for the term will start tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock, and continue through the following week. The examinations are held a week earlier than was originally planned, because of the shortening of the Christmas vacation to one week, instead of two.

On account of the examinations and the registration to follow them, no issues of The Daily Nebraskan will be published after today until the first week of school of the next term, when the new staff will take charge of editing the paper.

Registration for the next term will start Wednesday and continue through the rest of the week. Under the new regulations regarding registration there will be much less confusion and trouble in registering than before. Circulars will be sent from the Administration building to all students, instructing them how to register. Official examination schedules may be obtained from the registrar's office.

Cidmerp Round Table Discusses Vital Question

An interesting session of the Cidmerp Round Table was held last evening in Bessey hall. Constantine, Studley and Thomas upheld the affirmative of the question: "Resolved, That it be legalized for a reputable physician to administer death to malformed idiotic children or to adults afflicted with incurable diseases provided the consent of the individual if adult or the near relatives if infant is obtained." Those speaking on the negative were Moritz, Whitham and Kretzler. The judges, Dr. Wolcott, Dr. Whitney and Prof. Latimer, unanimously awarded the decision to the affirmative team.

An open discussion of the question used in debate will be held at the next meeting.

Plans Being Made for "Fete of the Nations"

Plans for the "Fete of the Nations" are rapidly reaching completion. The party will be held February 9. This night is closed to all other parties. It will be held in the Temple in order that no individuality may be lost for lack of room. Each nation will be represented by a booth with characteristic decorations. Dancing will begin in the Armory at 10 o'clock. The committee will be announced by Miss Heppner after semester examinations are over.

Men Needed for Field Work in Soil Survey

The State Conservation and Soil Survey needs men for field work. Nearly all the men engaged by this department during the past year have enlisted. Some are now in France. The department can use eight or ten men next spring, summer and fall for field work on soil, potash and road materials. Persons wishing to prepare for this work should consult with Dr. G. E. Condra or Professor N. A. Beagaton. A fair salary will be paid persons qualified to serve in this capacity.

STAGE ALL SET FOR CLASH WITH FUNSTON

First Game of Season Will Be in Auditorium at 8 O'Clock

"NEBRASKA WILL FIGHT"

Record Crowd Is Expected at Game for Benefit of Camp Funston Athletic Fund

The Nebraska University basketball season will be officially opened tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, in the city Auditorium, with a game between the Cornhusker varsity and a team from Camp Funston, composed of various former college stars now in Uncle Sam's service. An admission of fifty cents and $1 will be charged. Every cent of the money taken in at the door goes to swell the Camp Funston athletic fund, which is intended to provide funds necessary to secure the proper equipment for the athletic teams of the camp, and to defray their traveling expenses.

Unless something happens before the game, the Cornhusker quintet will go into the game in the pink of condition. Every man will be up on his toes all the time, and the soldiers will find that the Nebraska fighting spirit is the kind of spirit that wins games even against odds. The team was given a heavy scrimmage yesterday afternoon, and showed up as well as ever before. The squad has evidently gotten over the slump period, and is now developing unexpected form and speed at every practice. Today, the team will be given only a light workout, the last one before the game.

Funston is still an unknown quantity. Nothing definite is known of the line-up, save that it is sure to be a collection of stars. Kansas beat them last week, but the Funston team was made up largely of their second string squad. Every one of the first team that will play here tomorrow night. The soldiers will come here while on a trip on which they will also play Wesleyan and Creighton.

Nebraska Line-Up Not Known

Coach Stewart has not yet announced who will start the game for Nebraska, and since there are several men who are showing up almost equally well for some of the positions, it is difficult to guess just what does comprise the first team. However, if the coach plays his men according to the way he has lined them up in this week's practice, the list will read something like this: Right forward, Jackson; alternates, Strohmeyer and Eldrege; left forward, Schellenberg; alternate, Thomas; center, Hubka; alternate, Phillips; right guard, Adkins; alternate, Spear; left guard, Gerhardt; alternate, Kellogg. Thomas and Spear were given their varsity suits yesterday, and will complete the regular squad. The suits were not available to give to them before.

Promoters of the game are making preparations for a large crowd, and expect to have the Auditorium very nearly filled. They believe that the combined facts that this is the first game of the season, that it is bound to be a fast and close one, and that all receipts are going to the benefit of soldier boys in the camp, will draw the biggest crowd on record.
