Practically Every Sorority in School to Be Represented-Association Will Give Silver Cup to Winness

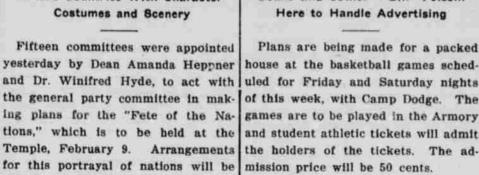

Arrangements are being made by the Women's Athletic association for an inter-sorority basketball tournament, to be played between teams representing all the sororities of the University. The first game of the tournament will be played Saturday, February 9, at 1:30 o'clock, all-University parties. While complete plans for the meet have not yet been made, it will be used for the entertainment. The winning team will be awarded a silver loving cup characteristic entertainment in a by the association. separate room. Every show will be

Inter-sorority basketball is a new venture in Unifersity of Nebraska athletic circles, but is expected to prove as popular a custom as the inter-fraternity tourneys which have been held regularly for several years. The teams are well matched, and there is enough rivalry to make the games interesting, although they will probably not be so bloodthirsty as those played by the men. The association is asking that everyone who is interested in athletics come out to the tournament, and promises them a series of real games. Blanche Higgins will be in charge of the games. Following is the list of the teams and members that will take part in the meet:

Alpha Xi Delta: Jane Beachler, captain; Irma Quesner, Helen Larsen, Agnes Olson and Lucille Kieth.

Gamma Phi Beta: Bertha Bates,

The games are to be of the same been attempted by the committee for nature as the game played two weeks ago with Camp Funston. All proceeds will be donated directly to the Camp Dodge athletic fund. This fund is intended to be applied in purchasing athletic equipment for the soldiers, and in defraying team expenses of all kinds. It is generally conceded that corners of the world. Each country this cause is one of the most worthy will be individual and will give its of any of the war aids. The soldiers in the camps are working hard, and must be provided with good, wholesome amusement. As Americans do, they naturally first turn to athletics for this amusement, and there they find most of their recreation. Athmittee to have dancing in the Armory letics are expensive, however, and the for the latter part of the evening, but government does not aid enough to arrangements for dancing can not now defray all expenses, so it is up to the friends of the soldiers to help them all they can. These games will offer a begin at 7:15 o'clock and close at chance to see two fast mixes, and at the same time, to help provide entertainment for a great number of ex-Cornhuskers, now in the camp.

The Nebraska team is improving daily. The game with Funston taught the squad a lot, and it will be a different aggregation that will face Dodge this week. Phillips and Hubka are both back at center, and Adkins is again taking his place at guard. There is also a chance of Ted Riddell, captain of the team, entering the game again. In spite of the all-star personnel of the team that is coming here, Coach Stewart expects to give them a hard rub, and promises that if there are enough rooters out to give them encouragement the team may spring a few surprises. As an added attraction, preliminaries for ecah game will be provided in the shape of games between the Freshman five and Doane and Cotner, The Freshmen have been setting a fast pace, and are expected to take their opponents' measure. An advertising campagin for the games is to be started soon under the direction of Lt. "Bill" Folsom. Lt. Folsom was expected yesterday, and will start right into his work as advance agent for the team, trying to get a record crowd out to both games.

Plans Provide for Thoroughly Representative Book at Low Cost-Cooperation of Students Essential

Wayne L. Townsend, '18, editor of the 1918 Cornhusker, yesterday announced the staff which will work with him in getting out the first warfeature annual the University has seen. Only fifteen students are listed in the appointments but the sections will be apportioned so that the same amount of work will be done with a larger staff. Some departmental editors are yet to be named. Following are the staff members announced yesterday.

Bids for the printing and engraving of the annual will be let this morning at 10 o'clock and the contract will be let immediately, according to Townsend last evening. The cover this year will be entirely different from that of any cover of the past and the paper used will be unique among that used for other annuals. Both will be especially appropriate for the war-time book.

Although the price will be cut to nearly the $2 mark the 1918 Cornhusker will be fully as complete as the larger books. Every organization in school and every student activity will be represented, only the superflous joke sections, so-called beauty sections and lengthy editorials being eliminated. This plan is in accord with the sentiment expressed by the student representatives appearing before the publication board and agreed to by them.

Special War Section

In addition to all of the regular departments of the book will be the special war departments. It is planned to make this the special feature and a permanent record for future Cornhuskers will here be made of Nebraska's contribution to her country

It is now the duty of every student and of every organization to see that they do their part in getting the book out on time. The work has been delayed longer this year than in nearly any other year and it will require the entire co-operation of every student if the plans outlined can be carried out and the book delivered on time.

ENTIRE AMERICA IS UNITED IN PURPOSE

Dr. Alvarez Says President Has Entire Sympathy of South American Countries

"The present era is the darkest and most critical through which civilization has ever had to pass," said Dr. A. Alvarez at convocation Tuesday morning. "No one can predict what the society of tomorrow will be like.

"After every war there are profound changes, which cannot be foretold. There will be many changes in the future life of European society, and a reaction upon American countries. There will also be changes in social and political science which refer to that social life. It is the duty of scientific men to study these changes from their very beginning. since such changes are not foreseen by the public at large. It is very pleasing to know that in this present crisis, the president of the United States has the moral support and entire sympathy of all the Latin-American countries.

"It is understood by all the states tinue in this war until Prussian militarism is crushed. The present time is the most serious for the Americas. The solidarity existing be- night.

REGISTRATION GOES

ABOVE 2,000 MARK "BUILDER OF BRIDGES"

Latest Figures Show Only Slight Loss in Enrollment -Results Are Pleasing

The totals for the registration for this semester were completed yesterday, and made public by Registrar Florence McGahey. The statistics show a total registration of 2,035, as compared with a total of 2,852 for the second semester of the year 1916-17. The registration by days runs as follows: Wednesday, 382; Thursday, 389; Friday, 442; Saturday, 566. Ninety-nine registered Monday and fortysix more enrolled by 5 o'clock yesterday. It is expected that quite a few more will come in before the end of the week. In addition to the total here, the medical college at Omaha reports an enrollment of 160, making the total of 2,035 for last week and Monday. The total enrollment at the beginning of last semester was 2,241, showing a loss of about two hundred. In view of present war-time condition, the University officials see that this registration is extremely encouraging. If the students who have dropped out to enter war work had remained in school, the enrollment would now have a decided gain over the previous year.

Miss Fannie Drake, secretary of the University Y. W. C. A. spoke at vespers Tuesday evening. "Duty Second" was her subject. Ruth Welch, '18, gave a solo, and Marion Reeder, '18, presided.

"What are we going to do the rest of the year and how are we to meet the crisis which may come?" was one of the questions asked of the girls by Miss Drake. "There is a greater call than ever for reality in life. We should not always think of our duty. We should do things because we feel that they are right and enjoy it. "Some say that college life is the best time for making friends, but one can do this anywhere We must make friends, not because of duty, but because we desire to do so. This one duty recedes into the background. We do not need to think about it very much In this way our living becomes bigger and more vital."

TO PLAY HERE SOON

University Players Scheduled in Modern Drama Early in February

"The Builder of Bridges," a modern drama by Alfred Sutro with a strong love theme, will be presented by the University Players at the Temple theatre some week night within the first two weeks of February-probably the seventh. The leading part-that of a middle-aged engineer - is taken by Gwynne Fowler, '19, who played "Red" in "Alias Jimmy Valentine," last year's road show play. Katharine Pierce, '18, who took prominent parts in 'Alias Jimmy Valentine," "Green Stockings" and "The Piper' 'and who is considered among the very best of the University Players, is the heroine. Elizabeth Erezim, the leading lady of last year's junior play takes a prominent part and Glenheim Foe, Walter Herbert, Gladyce Corrick and Herman Thomas are also in the play.

"The Builder of Bridges" was the play which was sent to Central City when that city asked for a play a month ago. Since it was extremly

The story is of a young girl who is engaged to two men at once. One she thinks she really loves and the other she promises to marry to save her brother who has embezzled bonds. The climax of the play comes when she discovers that she has fallen into her own trap by falling in love with the engineer, "The Builder of Bridges," whose true worth and sincere love she at last realizes.

ean Ellery Davis, head of the college of arts and sciences, is seriously ill at his home. Dean Davis has been on the verge of pneumonia for the past two weeks, and has been keeping up his University work, against all advice, on nothing but pure nerve and determination. He was taken home yesterday in a serious condition. The doctors reported that Dean Davis was resting easily yesterday. but his condition was still doubtful. They expect a crisis by the end of the week.

SEND ALL CHANGES OF SOLDIERS' ADDRESSES TO THE DAILY NEBRASKAN

The Daily Nebraskan is being mailed to nearly seven hundred soldiers daily, some of whom are in training camps and some in this country and some of whom are in France. At present many of these soldiers are being transferred and The Nebraskan has no way of following them except when the new addresses are sent in by friends who hear of the changes. If you want your soldier friend to get his copy every day hand his new address in at the Student Activities' Office as soon as you get it.
