REVENGE IS SWEET FOR HUSKER CREW

Take Count on Wesleyan Goal Tossers in Two Games

FRESHMEN TROUNCE OMAHA

First Year Squad Has Merry Time With Metropolis High School Representatives in Preliminary

Nebraska 18-24, Wesleyan 10-20

Revenge is sweet, so the old saying has it, and the Nebraska quintet of ball tossers certainly enjoyed it to the utmost when they trimmed up the Wesleyan five in the two games last Friday and Saturday nights. The first game, played at Wesleyan, was won by a score of 18 to 10, while the last contest, staged at the Armory, came in to the tune of 24 to 20. The games were both of the pep factory type, each team scrapping to the utmost from the moment the starting whistle sounded until the last second of play. Nebraska, however, clearly had the best of it, and not once was there any danger from the Coyotes' attack. Captain Jackson was easily the star of the affair, and it was his work and enthusiasm which pervaded the whole series and seemed to inspire the team to the highest fighting pitch. In the second tussle Thomas played an exceptionally good game, making several spectacular goals and playing a wonderful guarding game against the big Wesleyan forward, Warren. For the Methodists, Warren was the biggest man on the team, making 14 of the 30 points scored by them in the series.

Freshmen Rim Omaha
The freshmen, not to be outdone by the Varsity five, trounced the Omaha Central high quintet, 27 to 13. Patty and Newman for the freshmen and Konecky and Paynter for Omaha probably did more than anyone else to contribute to the efforts of their respective teams.

The First Game
Wesleyan started out the initial round by scoring in the first few minutes of the play. Then ensued a rapid fire fight for some time neither team seeming able to get the ball into the basket for the coveted points. Soon Hubka broke through for a goal, and he was followed in close order by Thomas and Shellenberg and the whole affair capped by Jackson slipping in four points before the Coyotes could get their breath. Things then steadied down and the rest of the game became a close battle, the Cornhuskers having little trouble in maintaining the lead gained. By way of varying the monotony of the thing, every man on the Nebraska team succeeded in registering some sort of a score. The line-up was:

Nebraska	Wesleyan
Jackson (c)	Warren
Shellenberg	Hinman
Hubka	Carman
Spear	Hefner
Thomas	Houser

Summary: Field goals—Jackson, 3; Shellenberg, 1; Hubka, 1; Thomas, 2; Spear, 1; Carman, 1; Grove, 1; Houser, 1. Foul goals—Jackson, 2;

NEBRASKA MAN LOSES LIFE IN SINKING OF TUSCANIA

The first Nebraska man reported to have lost his life in the sinking of the Tuscania is W. W. Bennett a graduate of the University of Nebraska forestry department in the class of 1912. The name of Mr. Bennett is among the list of "missing" from the passenger list of the ship. Mr. Bennett after leaving the University entered the government forestry service and was employed for a time in the Ozark mountains and the Black Hills. When the war broke out he entered the 20th Regiment of Engineers which was made up of experienced foresters. This regiment was one of the divisions which sailed on the ill-fated vessel, Tuscania, sunk near the Irish coast. Mr. Bennett's home was at Missoula, Mont.

Warren, 3; Keester, 1. Substitutes—Nebraska, Reynolds and Gerhart; Wesleyan—Keester and Tesch. Referee—Jones, Grinnell. Time of halves—Twenty minutes.

The Second Game

The second game was played on the Nebraska floor and was easily the Cornhusker victory from the start, ending with a final score of 24 to 20. It was a rough affair from the beginning and before long it seemed to be a sort of nip and tuck scrap to see which team could register the most fouls. Nebraska started out with a rush that nearly took the suburbanites off their feet. Largely through the efforts of Captain Jackson, they gained a good substantial lead, and maintained it till the whistle sounded the recall. The first period ended with the score 13 to 7. Coach Kline must have landed on his men with both feet during the intermission for they came back with a determination to win. It's a sad thing, however, when two perfectly respectable teams get it into their heads to go after the same thing for one of them must necessarily be sadly disappointed, and this time it happened to be the Coyotes, for although they fought hard they could not make any material gain on the Husker bunch and the game ended 24-20 in Nebraska's favor. The line-up:

Nebraska	Wesleyan
Jackson (c)	Warren
Shellenberg	Hinman
Hubka	Carman
Spear	Hefner
Thomas	Houser

Summary: Field goals—Jackson, 3; Hubka, 1; Spear, 2; Thomas, 3; Tesch, 1; Carman, 2; Warren, 3. Foul goals—Jackson, 6; Carman, 1; Keester, 2; Warren, 5. Substitutes—Nebraska—Phillips, Eldridge, Gerhart. Wesleyan—Tesch, Johnson, Keester. Referee—Jones, Grinnell. Time of halves—Twenty minutes.

The line-up for the freshman-Omaha game was as follows.

Freshmen	Omaha
Patty	Maxwell
Baily	Smith
Beakins	Paynter
Howarth	T. Logan
Newman	A. Logan
Gillilan, lg.	Konecky, rg
Kaser, rg.	Russell, rf

MANY ENTRIES FOR HIGH SCHOOL MEET

Ninety-Eight Teams Registered for State Basketball Tourney

STARTS NEXT WEEK

Tuesday, March 5, Expected to See Arrival of Nebraska's Youthful Athletes—Four Floors Employed

Ninety-eight paid entries for the world's greatest basketball tournament had been received by Coach Stewart Monday evening. Two other teams have given notice that they intend to enter the big event but have not sent in the necessary fees as yet.

Preparations are nearing completion for the tourney and will be practically finished by the end of the week, when the classifications will be made. When the time for the drawing arrives it is expected that as many or more teams will be entered than took part last year when 119 schools were represented.

The tournament this year, which is by far the largest in the country will be held on four floors, with games continually going on. The Armory floor will be the scene of the class A games, in which all the high class teams of the state will be competing. The Chapel, Y. M. C. A. and the Auditorium will furnish the remaining playing spaces, for the secondary classes.

Entertainment for Visitors

Plans will soon be under way for the entertainment of the high school visitors from the time they arrive in the city until the last straggler has left for his home town. Trains bearing the youthful athletes will arrive about Tuesday noon, March 5. Committees will be at the various stations to meet the teams and rooters as they reach the city, to direct them to the places at which they will stay while here.

Coach Stewart's corps of assistants, of whom there will be many, will be announced in a day or two. Varsity athletes in all branches of sport will be expected to form the nucleus for the reception committees and other assisting groups.

Individual, as well as team work was excellent. Lillian Wirt of the Purple threw 11 goals throughout the entire game; Annabelle Ranslan also did good work for the Purple. Louise Pedrett, center of the White, and Emma Fenzi deserve much credit for the team's victory over the Light Blue.

UNIVERSITY NIGHT TO BE ROOF RAISER

Huskies Employed to Keep Dome From Sky-Rocketing

TICKETS GO ON SALE

Scramble for Admission Cards Begins in Temple Lobby at 11 O'clock Today—Charge of 15 Cents

Today at 11 o'clock in the lobby of the Temple building the seats for the eighth annual University Night to be held at the city auditorium March 2 will be offered to the public at 15 cents each. The faculty members began at 8 o'clock to purchase their tickets and at 11 o'clock the students step forward.

The program will be the best in the history of the event and ticket sales promise to eclipse any that have gone before. The nine numbers will be given by the band, the University Players, the Pre-medics, the renowned comedians, Gwinn Fowler and Betty Brown, the Engineers, the Dramatic club, the Laws, the Military department and the Journalism sorority Theta Sigma Phi.

A squad of ten or twelve huskies are to be engaged with chains and cables to hold the roof on the auditorium which will be in danger of sky-rocketing upward from the minute the curtain runs up until it hits the stage with a thud at the end. It has been suggested by some members of the committee to install sound absorbers on all the doors and windows so that the city of Lincoln will not be disturbed by the uproarious laughter and applause. The weather man has given his promise that he will withhold all rain, snow, wind and cold on Saturday and he will have the moon's face polished brighter than ever. Dan Cupid has also consented to help by tempting all the young men of the college to step out on March 2.

Originated Eight Years Ago

The University Night was originated eight years ago by the University Y. M. C. A. and has been produced with increasing popularity under its auspices each year. Its object is purely to give the University a good time and give the aspiring actors and comedians an opportunity to show their ability. For years it was run at a financial loss and not until 1917 did it even pay expenses. The low admission price enables everyone to attend and the money taken in is used to pay the rent of the auditorium and the expenses of properties and hauling, etc. Complimentary tickets are given only to members of the casts and even the committee men and Y. M. officials are refused free tickets.

Chairmen of the various committees are Eleanor Fogg, Carl R. Carlson, Guy Henninger, Glenn Foe, D. Gilbert Eldredge, Phil Jones and Eva Miller.

The Y. M. C. A. general committee is composed of Will Urbach, chairman; George D. Driver, G. L. Stone, Harold Long, Ray Cowen, Florence Bishop, Ruth Hutton and Theda Waterman.

DARING CORNHUSKER ARTIST IGNORES TRAFFIC AND THE ELEMENTS

In spite of the rapidly-growing crowd, in spite of the chilly wind that roared around him, in spite of the fear that a policeman would come along and arrest him for obstructing traffic, Dwight turned up his collar so that only his nose showed, and drew on ("on" meaning on his water-color board). The cold fact was this—the prettiest-complexioned artist in the U. of N.—Dwight P. Kirsch was seated on a stool in the street at Eleventh and M sketching for the Cornhusker the view of University hall. He couldn't see from the top of the Star building, and he couldn't get on the top of the First National bank or Terminal building, so he set his little stool up, unfolded his easel, and did a full sketch—pencil and ink both—in the midst of cars, horses and bicycles. Unusual Kirsch is doing a series of sketches around the campus, also some page borders and a great deal of incidental decorating for this year's Cornhusker.

Sophomores Make Hearty Response To Call for Individual Pictures

The decision of the Cornhusker management to allow the sophomores individual pictures in a section of their own in the 1918 Cornhusker has brought a hearty response from the second-year class and many have had their pictures taken in two days since the announcement was made.

This is the first year in the history of Nebraska Cornhuskers that this concession has been made and as many of the men who are now sophomores will probably enter war service before next year it will be a valuable addition to the war number.

The management realizing that the present year is one of the most important and memorable years of the University, is making effort to produce a complete record of every phase of the war activities as well as the regular student life.

Every sophomore should do his part in making this new section of the book a success and should make an extra effort to have his individual picture taken at once. No time limit has been set, as yet but it will probably be impossible to allow more than a week in which they may be taken. Arrangements have been made with Townsend for rapid handling and if the pictures are taken immediately there will be but little delay on their account.

More of the sophomore pictures will be placed on each page than those of the upper classes and the cuts will be smaller. For that reason the charge for the cuts will be only $1.

No notices have been sent out to the individual members of the class but it is hoped that everyone will be represented.
