HUSKERS ON TOES FOR DRAKE CLASH

Last Night's Practice Bodes Ill for Bulldogs

CANCEL RETURN GAMES

Des Moines Crew Refuses to Fulfill Contract—Canines Will Play Hard

Pep was the keynote of the practice last night in preparation for the coming mix with the Drake Bulldogs which is scheduled for Friday and Saturday of this week. The men are working hard in anticipation of the coming conflict, and every indication is that the games will be of an exceptionally high class caliber. The fact that Drake has cancelled the other two games that were scheduled with her for March 11 and 12 is only adding a zest to the Cornhusker crew to make this series a grand and glorious slambang win, and so show the Bulldogs that Nebraska then so far outclassed that they couldn't get near enough to the Husker camp to even get a look at the husks.

Drake for some time, has been trying to cancel two of their games, but heretofore Coach Stewart has refused to comply with their requests, owing to the fact that he did not wish to reorganize the whole Lincoln schedule. So, as a result the two games at the Armory Friday and Saturday will be played as was originally planned, even if the Drake doggies have refused to allow us to come over to their town and engage them in a little return match in the art of ball-tossing. And so, as matters stand at present, the two games with the Kansas Farmers will end Nebraska's part of the Missouri Valley mix up this year, and the members of the squad are just naturally stung out of a perfectly good trip to the Iowa metropolis.

Will Not Affect Valley Standing

However, the cancelling of these two games with Drake will not in any way effect the possible outcome of the Missouri valley race. Granting that the team comes through with a clean slate for the rest of the season, Nebraska cannot hope to land at the top of the pile, but nevertheless a couple of more games added on to the credit side of the Cornhusker account would not have come in very much amiss.

There is no doubt but that Drake will put up a mighty good fight of it. She has one Hawley who was an all-state man last year and who is reckoned as one of the best guards in the conference. He has speed and ability and it was mainly through his basket-shooting that the Kansas Aggies were held down to as low a score as they were.

Doc Stewart has been working the team hard during the practices this week and all the men will be in the pink of condition when the starting whistle blows for the fray. Every loyal Husker rooster is going to be out with his best rooting lung in A-1 working order and help to show up the Des Moines canines to the limit.

MAKE ANNOUNCEMENTS FOR SUMMER SESSION

Additional Four Weeks' Course Will Be Special Feature of School

The February issue of the University Journal, which came out yesterday, contains the preliminary announcement of the summer session.

The special feature of this session is the additional four weeks' course. Regular work will be given the first eight weeks, and then several departments offer special work continuing for four weeks to finish extra work.

Previous to this year, registration was limited to nine hours, but this

President Jack Landale of the freshman class, announced yesterday the names of twelve first year students for places on the two committees of the class. Ralph Coates is named as chairman of the hop committee, and Glendon Danbom, master of ceremonies. George Newton is chairman of the Ivy Day committee. The committees are as follows:

Freshman hop committee: Ralph Coates, chairman; Glendon Danbom, master of ceremonies; Arline Abbott, Florence Lewis, Ada Stidworthy, Raymond Jobs.

Ivy Day committee: George Newton, chairman; Mildred Meyers, Melvin Bekins, Nellie Schwab, Eleanor Murray, Clarence Parsons.

MARCH 16 TO BE DATE FOR WRESTLING MEET

College Book Store Will Award Silver Medals to Six Winners

An all-University meet to decide the championship in the six different wrestling classes will be held in the Armory March 16. Every University man is eligible to this tournament and sixty men have already entered.

BASKETBALL TOURNEY WILL SMASH RECORDS

High School Meet Will Eclipse all Previous Ones

LINCOLN HIGH FAVORITE

Comparative Scores Give Local Lads Slight Odds Over Omaha Five

Plans for a record-smashing basketball tournament are now rapidly nearing completion. Doc Stewart, who is engineering the affair announces that at the present time, if things keep coming along as well in the next few days as they have in the past, there is no doubt but that it will far exceed anything ever attempted before.

The dopesters have been trying for some time to pick the probable winners in the various classes. In Class A Lincoln and Omaha seem to be the prime favorites, with the odds on the Lincolnites. Omaha and Lincoln have played two games so far this year and each took one. But the Lincoln bunch beat the freshmen in a practice game Thursday afternoon, by a score of 22-16 while the freshmen trimmed up the Big Town lads last week, 27 to 13. Since Beatrice, who usually makes a bid for the championship, is out of the game because the members of the team refused to obey training rules, the Lincoln five stands a pretty good chance of winning unless some dark horse from out in the state comes to the front.

In the lower classes very little can be determined in advance. All the teams are running a nip and tuck race and there are sure to be plenty of thrills for the gallery.

UPPERCLASSMEN MUST COMPLETE PAYMENT ON CORNHUSKER PICTURES

Seniors and juniors who have had pictures taken at Townsend's for the Cornhusker should make arrangements at once for completing their payment on the pictures if they have not already done so. Many upperclassmen have had their pictures taken but have neglected either to turn in the proofs or to complete payment. Such payment must be made by Tuesday. A complete list of those who have had pictures taken but have not made such arrangements will be run in The Nebraskan Tuesday, in order that a final warning may be given. Sophomore individual pictures should be taken by next Friday.

Regulation intercollegiate wrestling rules will govern the tournament, and the winner will be determined by the elimination process. Partners are to be drawn on the day of the meet. Each match will be of six minutes duration, the winner to be decided by decision or fall. Dr. R. G. Clapp and Ralph Anderson have been secured as referees.

Six silver medals, donated by the College Book store are to be awarded to the champion of each class. The winners will also receive a "Nebraska Wrestling Team" monogram.

The tournament has been classified into six classes. They are feather, light, welter, light-heavy, and heavy weight classes. If there are any other men who wish to participate in any of the classes, they should see Otoupalik at once.

Washington

The department of journalism in Washington State University has been changed to a school of journalism, by vote of the board of regents. This will enable students entering from high school to select those subjects which will prove most useful in journalistic work.

Students Join in University Season Fun Fest Tomorrow Night.

Plans Completed for Nebraska's Annual Stunt Carnival

TICKET SALE LARGE

Few Seats Left for Stragglers—Program Most Complete in History of Nebraska's Greatest Event

Tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock the doors of the city Auditorium will be thrown open upon one of the peppiest University Nights ever staged. University Night was instituted at the University about eight years ago. It has been a great success every year, but this year is promised to be the most novel event of the school year. Everything is in readiness and there will be something doing every minute from the time you enter until you leave. The sale of tickets has far out-numbered that of former years and the Auditorium will probably be packed to the roof.

"The Shun" will be distributed at the door. This paper promises to contain some of the choicest and rarest scandal that can be found on the campus. In fact, the humor that it contains will so far out-shadow the Awgwan jokes that they will no longer be considered as such. The Shun staff working under Mr. I. Gifa Damm have been hiding in ever corner in an effort to pick the best scandal about school. If your best friends have an interest in the Shun, don't be surprised to hear that they have betrayed some of your hobbies, for no stone has been left unturned to make the paper a success.

Will Be Rough on Auditorium

If the city of Lincoln ever planned to build a new Auditorium, they will probably have a chance to think about it again when the mist is cleared away tomorrow night. According to all dope given out so far, the old building is going to fairly rock when the fun begins. Along with the merriment, there will be a couple of little acts somewhat more serious for the less jovial folks, but these will only be long enough to lessen the tension of the laughter.

The most efficient entertainers in the University will be there. The individual stars will be Gwynne Fowler and Betty Brown. Their share of the program will consist of an act that will rival anything ever put on by a pair of Orpheum actors. Another big bit of the evening is to be the comic Pre-Medics. When they get started, they forget they ever expect to be doctors and make their audience think that medicine is the most enjoyable course in school.

The University band, the Dramatic club, the laws, and the military department will all have a share in furnishing entertainment for the evening. Finally, the engineers will stage a little act entitled "A. Y. M. C. A. camp in France."

Tickets Went Fast

Although a great deal of expense is entailed for the use of the Auditorium, the properties and the hauling, it is expected that the affair will be a financial success on account of the big seat sale. Practically no complimentary tickets are being given out and the house is about sold out. A few tickets can still be obtained at the low price of fifteen cents. Any one who feels that he has not received full value for the price will probably be mobbed if he dares say anything about it.

The Y. M. C. A. general committee will consist of Will Urbach, chairman; George D. Driver, G. L. Stone, Harold Rhth Hutton, and Theda Waterman. Long, Ray Cowen, Florence Bishop. This committee will have general charge of the evening. They will act as ushers and will manage everything off the stage.

Committee Chairmen

The chairmen of the various committees are Eleanor Fogg, Carl R. Carlson, Guy Henninger, Glen Foe, Gilbert Eldridge, Phill Jones and Eva Miller. Each one of these chairmen will be responsible for some particular part of the program.

Everything will be keyed up to the highest pitch when gong is sounded, and then every effort will be turned to making it one of the liveliest evenings ever lived during the short lives of the University students. Even the faculty promise to depart from their usual dignity and partake of the gay festivities. Everyone must be out on time tomorrow evening. Bring your best girl with you if you are afraid to come alone. Step up, walk up, roll up, or ride up, any way to get down to the Auditorium tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock for the big party. It is a closed night so everyone will be expected to attend.

Whiskbroom Solicitors Asked to Submit Reports

Everyone who has been soliciting subscriptions for the Whiskbroom is urged by the business manager to turn in their money an receipt books at once to the Students' Activities office. They should get receipts for the cash turned in from the office. The solicitors are also asked to collect the full payment on the books so far as possible, before they report.

SOPHOMORES CHOOSE OFFICERS FOR TERM

Class Will Give But One Party Because of University Ruling

Carolyn Reed was elected vice-president of the sophomore class yesterday morning, at the first meeting of the semester. Elmer Schellenberg was elected treasurer; Genevieve Loeb, sergeant-at-arms, and Gaylord Davis, secretary.

Lawrence Shaw, president of the class, had planned to make announcement of the committee for the second hop to be given this semester, but because of the ruling of Dean Engberg, the class will not be allowed to give but one social function this semester. The 1920 class was penalized last semester, and was not allowed to give the class hop. This reason, but one party will be given this semester.

CLASS TOURNAMENT TOMORROW MORNING

Co-Ed Basketball Teams Will Play for University Honors

COMPETITION IS CLOSE

Will Be Above Standard Set in Previous Years—List of Players

Prospects increase every day for exciting games in the girls' inter-class basketball tournament which will be played Saturday, March 2, from 9 to 12 o'clock in the Armory. No admission will be charged. From the quality of playing done in the two former tournaments, the inter-sorority and the Rainbow, it is safe to say that Saturday's games will excel all previous ones.

Co-ed basketball this year is far above the standard of other years. More teams are playing than ever before and on the whole, there is more skill shown by the players than ever in the history of the school.

Competition is very close for places on the teams. The inter-sorority tournament turned out some very fast and skillful players, and the rivalry among the teams in the Rainbow tournament brought out every ounce of possible effort, as some very close games were fought.

Skilled Players in Meet

There were also considerable com-
