PRICE FIVE CENTS

LOWER CLASSMEN TO OPEN DEBATES

Freshmen and Sophomores Begin Hostilities Tonight

JUNIORS ARE ORGANIZED

Third Year Men Preparing for Clash With Seniors in Hopes of Copping Championship

Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock the freshmen and sophomore debating teams lineup for the annual forensic battle in Law 202. All has been arranged for the regular class debates except choosing the judges and it is expected that the talent to be displayed this year will equal and possibly exceed that of any year previous.

The teams for the two classes are as follows: Sophomores: R. A. Robinson, Harriett Ashbrook, John Koehler, for the affirmative.

Freshmen: Reuben Clausen, L. E. Slater, Leo Sturgeon, for the negative.

The subject for debate: "Should the government control the Railroads," is one of national importance and deals directly with conditions confronting the present administration. It is therefore of universal interest and a large attendance is expected at every debate.

The juniors have already organized their team and promise to give the senior representatives a good fight as soon as the latter have formed a team. The winners of these two debates will then meet to decide the class championship later on.

Summer Army Camps Attract Over 450 Men

About 450 men students at the University of Wisconsin have already signed up for the R. O. T. C. summer military camps for college students which are being arranged for by the war department. The number of men to go to the camps from the University will probably exceed 500.

Five men will go to the first class camps open to men in the senior division of the reserve officers' training corps. Ten will enter the second class camps which are open to men who will be 20 years and nine months of age by May 1 and have had 300 hours of military training since January 1, 1917. About 441 have signed up for the third class camps open to younger men.

GOOD ROADS CONFERENCE BRINGS PLEASING RESULTS

Members of University Faculty Take Active Part in Important Discussions

The attraction of the campus centers this week about the Good Roads conference now being held at the city and farm campus grounds at which principles upon which the development of good roads in Nebraska are being discussed.

Acting Chancellor Hastings welcomed visitors in behalf of the University at the opening session Tuesday at which other members of the faculty took an active part in the discussion and in outlining the policy to be followed in the further development of the roads in this state.

Dr. G. A. Condra, Prof. L. W. Chase and Professor Chatburn were the other speakers beside Chancellor Hastings. Professor Chatburn gave a talk on the economic principles underlying the demand for better roads explaining the unnecessary expense incurred yearly by farmers of this state in the transportation of their products.

Dr. L. W. Chase explained the purpose of the meeting and told of the things held in store for the visitors. Dr. G. A. Condra gave a talk in the Tuesday morning conference and a slide lecture in the evening in which he showed the great possibilities of road construction in Nebraska due to the favorable condition of the soils and the abundance of other materials needed in the process of construction.

Mildred Easley and Jack Clark, ex-'19, were married in Lincoln Friday afternoon. Both Miss Easley and Mr. Clark attended Kansas University last semester. Miss Easley entered the University here this semester, but has now left school. Up to this fall Mr. Clark had been attending Nebraska. The marriage was a very quiet affair, only a few close friends being present. Mr. Clark was a member of Sigma Nu fraternity here. Mr. and Mrs. Clark have left for Stella, where they will reside on Mr. Clark's farm for the present.

READY WITH PLANS FOR CODY CAMPAIGN

Campus Will Be Solicited Tomorrow for Fund

A QUARTER OR MORE IS KEY

Students and Professors Will Be Asked To Give Price of Six Car Checks for Soldier Baseball Equipment

Tomorrow you and your room-mate will be asked to surrender unconditionally one quarter of a dollar—two bits, two shillings; the price of two packages of cigarets at a respectable dealer's; or any other way one might designate the sum or equivalent of twenty-five cents. The basis for surrender will be that the person who solicits you believes that you would rather give that quarter to help a former Cornhusker at Camp Cody enjoy himself at the great American game of baseball than you would invest it in a package of smocking tobacco or a "popular-priced" matinee. The surrender is termed unconditional because this same solicitor believes when he gives you "the once-over" that you are financially able to pay out that amount from the exchequer without depriving yourself of any of the contemplated luxuries aforementioned.

The amount needed for the Camp Cody division of former Cornhuskers and other Nebraska boys in the national army at Deming is $250, which means that one thousand students and professors can raise the amount by donating a quarter apiece.

The campaign has been thoroughly planned and few University people will be missed in the canvass. Whether or not the amount is raised, then, will depend upon whether or not Nebraskans are willing to give a quarter that soldiers may have baseballs, gloves, basketballs, footballs, and other athletic equipment which will make their leisure time worthwhile.

University co-eds have volunteered to take over the burden of the soliciting, and they will be under the direction of Katharine Newbranch. The complete list of the workers will be run in The Nebraskan tomorrow.

The way University men are taking to "one old cat," University co-eds to the sunny campus benches, and University professors to tedious lectures, it would seem that the campaign to facilitate a "merry spring-time" to one little corner of a great army training camp would be successful.

STATE CHAMPIONS TO MEET FRESHMEN

Yearlings Promise to Stage Come-Back Against Lincoln Five Tonight

The Lincoln fans will again have an opportunity of seeing the Lincoln high school championship team in action this evening when they meet the varsity freshman in the armory. The game is called for 8 o'clock and promises to be a whiz. Although the Lincoln bunch recently took the freshmen to a defeat, the first year men promise a comeback tonight.

The freshmen recently gave the Omaha high team a severe drubbing and promise to show better form now than at that time. The Lincoln lineup will be the same as that used in the tournament while Doctor Stewart will probably make up his team with Patty, Bailey and Newman at forward positions, Bekins at center and Wray and Howarth at guard. Everything indicates that this will be one of the fastest games of the season and since it will possibly be Lincoln High's last appearance here it is probable that the armory will be packed.

PAYMENTS DUE ON HUSKER PHOTOS

Post List of Delinquent Individuals and Organizations

WILL OMIT PICTURES

Those Failing to Make Final Settlement Immediately to Be Refused Representation

A large number of students and organizations of the University still remain delinquent in their payments for Cornhusker photos, despite the urgent requests that have been made by the management. A few paid for pictures Tuesday, but there are many more who have as yet failed to make the payments. If they are not made within the next few days, the pictures will be omitted entirely from the Cornhusker, and the time spent in taking the pictures will have been spent for nothing. In order that the photos be published it is necessary that the final payments be made. The deposit made at Townsends when the pictures were taken is not sufficient, and the remaining fee must be paid before the pictures will be sent to the engravers.

All payments for junior and senior photos must positively be made today. The time has been extended for the sophomores because they have had less time to arrange for their pictures. The time limit for sophomore payments has been set for Friday. If payments are not made by them, the work of publishing the Cornhusker will be commenced anyway, and the unpaid-for pictures will be left out of the Cornhusker altogether.

In order that students may have no doubt about the matter, and so that the delinquent students and organizations may know that they have not been credited for making their payments, a list is printed below of those who have yet to pay their fees.

Following is the list:

UNIVERSITY CO-EDS TO ENLIST IN WAR WORK

Will Hold Mass Meeting at Convocation Tomorrow to Discuss Forms of Service

A mass meeting to enlist girls in Red Cross work and to inform them of other ways in which they may be of service will be held at 11 o'clock Convocation tomorrow morning in Memorial hall. The Girls' club will have charge of the program. Miss Kowgill, Mrs. Whitfield and Prof. Sarka Hrbkova will be the principal speakers.

Miss Kowgill, who has charge of supplying the cantonments over the state with nurses, will tell how University women may become nurses.

Mrs. Whitfield, prominent Red Cross worker, will tell of the needs of the Red Cross. Professor Hrbkova, head of the department of Slavonic languages here, will give a short talk on war work.

Dramatic Club Makes Semester Elections

Only three out of the twenty-nine who tried out for the English Dramatic Club Monday night were elected to membership. These three were Robert Moodie, Alfred Reese and Grace Staton. The judges were Clarence Clark, Louis Brown, Rev. Dow, Ethel Hartley and Prof. Alice Howell.

MANY ENTRIES FOR WRESTLING MATCHES

Thirty-Six Athletes Already Enlisted for Meet

TO AWARD LETTERS

Winners in Saturday's Bouts Will Be Honored With "N"—Registration Open Till Friday

Thirty-six entries have been received to date for the big wrestling tournament which is to be held this coming Saturday afternoon commencing at 1.15 o'clock. It had been planned that no admission would be charged for the matches, but the proposed Ball and Bat club fund for the University of Nebraska men at Camp Cody, Deming, N. M., has caused the management to alter their plans. As twenty-five cents will be charged and it now stands, an admission fee of the proceeds will all be turned over to the Ball and Bat fund, to help buy athletic material for the University boys at the border camp.

The number of entries up to the present makes it certain that somewhere near 40 or 50 matches will be staged Saturday afternoon in all of the five classes and the fact that so many will participate assures us of the fact that the affair will be far from slow. Added to this is the fact that the winner of each class will be awarded a wrestling "N" which makes it certain that the matches will be hard-fought all the way through. The entry list will be open until Friday noon and anyone who wishes to enter can do so by registering with Hugo Otoupalik in the athletic office at any time previous to then.

AMERICA HAS SCORE TO SETTLE WITH GERMANY

Prof. H. H. Wilson Says We Must Fight to Revenge Huns' Outrages

"This struggle was, essentially started by America, not in August, 1914, but in April, 1774, at Concord and Lexington, the first gun was fired not by the Germans but by the minutemen," said Prof. H. H. Wilson at Convocation this morning. He said that when America declared her freedom she had thrown the gage of battle to autocracy which it was bound to resent and to try to punish some day.

Professor Wilson answered the question of why we are in this war. It was inevitable, although we are a peaceful people. When President Wilson proclaimed our neutrality in 1914 he acted in accordance with the wishes of the majority of the American people. But he expected that our rights would be respected. When pacifists and pro-Germans protested against our sending arms and munitions to the belligerent nations Bryan answered that if we did not sell arms to which ever nation was able to come after them we would not only be unneutral but we would put ourselves in a position where we could not buy arms from any other nation in the even of our going to war.

Professor Wilson then reviewed the sinking of the Lusitania, the relentless submarine warfare of Germany and the proposal she made to us about our shipping. America refused all of these offers and entered the war because she could not help herself if she wished to keep her self-respect. And so, he concluded, this war will not end until we have forced the robber to give back his loot and avenged the murders of our innocent citizens and the outrages on the women and children of Belgium.

STEWART CALLS SPRING PRACTICES

Many Places on Eleven to Be Filled

ELEVEN "N" MEN GONE

War Knocks Big Holes in Line and Threatens Backfield—Early Work-outs Must Count

With the greatest football schedule in the history of the school and probably the greatest in the country starting them in the face, Coach Stewart and Captain Dusty Rhodes issued a call Tuesday afternoon for spring football practice, to begin next Monday. Preparations for filling the places of the eleven letter men from last fall who have already withdrawn from school will occupy much of the coach's time during the spring work-out.

Edson, Shaw, Ted Riddell, Hugo Otoupalik, Ed. Kostitzky and John Cook, the five third year men on the 1917 team were automatically lost to the squad at the close of the Syracuse game on Thanksgiving day. Since that time five men who have played but one year with the team have withdrawn. Day, Kellogg, DeTeau, Teter and Kriemelmeier, have left school and are in war service or soon will be. In addition to these there is a possibility of losing Rhodes and Wilder by the draft.

In spite of the great handicap occasioned by the loss of some valuable material the coach hopes by hard work to develop new stars to take the places of the old. As a nucleus for the 1918 team, there will probably be Rhodes, Wilder, Dobson, Schellenberg, McMahon, Hubka, Munn and Anthes. Several promising candidates are among the freshmen and should develop into good material.

Speed Will Feature

Whatever Nebraska may lack in experienced veterans next year there being only three third year men possible, she will make up in speed. Three of the Freshmen candidates weigh well over two hundred pounds and these with huskies such as Munn, Hubka and Wilder will give plenty of beef to the Cornhusker line. Speed will be plentiful, as McMahon, Schellenberger, Dobson and Anthes will be available in addition to a number of speedy first year men.

Coach Stewart puts much faith in spring practice and has shown several times that spring work develops the men along lines that cannot be given so much attention during the fall. The work this year will be light at first and only track suits will be worn, but later scrimmage, tackling, blocking and open field running will be taken up and full football armour will be donned.

Equipment will be distributed Saturday morning, between 9 and 12 o'clock. Practice hours will be from 4 to 6 o'clock.

NEBRASKA SOLDIERS REMEMBER ALMA MATER

M. C. Poteet and H. H. Reese Send Ivy Plant From Fields in France

The following letter has been received by Chancellor Samuel Avery from Lieutenants Marrus C. Poteet and Herbert S. Reese, who are with the American Expeditionary Forces in France. The letter accompanied a plant of ivy that the two former Nebraska students gathered somewhere in the fields of France.

"Amer. Ex. Forces, France, Feb. 17th, 1918.

"Chancellor Avery,

"University of Nebr.

"Dear Chancellor:

"I am sending under separate cover a plant of ivy gathered on the fields of France by Lieut. Poteet and myself. We never forgot our Alma Mater and during our short stay there has developed a great spirit of loyalty and pride. We are proud of our Alma Mater for the good work she is doing, for the advancement and progress she has made, and for the wonderful spirit she has instilled a spirit of loyalty
