DEAN G. W. A. LUCKEY
RETURNS FROM MEETING
 Attended Superintendents'
 Convention and Visited
 Several Cities in East

Dean G. W. A. Luckey returned Tuesday from a ten-day trip to the east, during which he attended a superintendents' convention at Atlantic City and visited several other cities. The trip was made by way of Chicago in a special car which 25 other Nebraska educators.

At Alliance, Ohio, the party was joined by Dr. Bertha M. Luckey, director of the psychological clinic in the Cleveland city schools. After the meeting at Atlantic City, Dr. Luckey and brother went to Columbia university, at New York City, and from there to Boston, where they visited George P. Luckey, who was in the army aviation in the institute of psychology at Harvard university. Mr. Luckey has since been transferred to the submarine station at New London, Conn. From Harvard they went to Clark university, at Worcester, where they spent a day with G. Stanley Hall, Dr. Burnham Wilson and other friends. On the return trip Dean Luckey spent a day in Cleveland, observing the special methods used in training children in the schools, and a day in Decatur, Ind., his childhood home.

Disappointment Expressed

In speaking of the meeting of the superintendents, Dean Luckey said there was considerable disappointment expressed concerning the meeting place. It was too far to the east to satisfy the central and western superintendents. Another criticism was of the scattered conditions of the hotels. There were sufficient accommodations for many times the number present, but the meeting places were scattered over a distance of six miles or more, making it very difficult to attend two sections in the same afternoon.

The meetings were well attended, and there was a seriousness in the discussions that was quite unusual. The war is having a notable effect upon the attitude of school men to the problems of student life and the nature of education. Some of the meetings were unusually interesting, and the scientific work carried on in an effort to better conditions is quite remarkable and encouraging.

JACKSON TO HEAD
BASKETBALL TEAM

"N" Men Choose Acting Captain of Past Season

FRESHMEN STILL PLAYING

First Year Men Practice Hard for Two Games With the Kansas Aggies

At a meeting of this year's basketball "N" men held yesterday morning, Cabel Jackson was elected to pilot the team through the next season. "Jeck" held a like position this year and displayed exceptional ability as a leader. He has been out for the squad for the three years that he has been in school and has won two letters, and all around is one of the best and steadiest players that Nebraska has ever turned out in the basketball line. His election to the captaincy of next year's team makes it certain that the Cornhuskers will have an A-1 team and will make the rest of the valley sit up and take notice.

Freshmen Play Lincoln Again

The varsity freshmen will put in another strenuous evening's workout in preparation for the coming two days' battle with the first year men of the K. S. A. C. when they meet the championship Lincoln high school five in a return engagement at the Armory tomorrow night. The game promises to be one of an especially exciting nature as the freshmen bunch cleaned house on the Lincolnites Wednesday evening, and the champs are naturally anxious for some sweet revenge. Twenty-five cents admission will be charged, the proceeds to be devoted to getting the Lincoln team gold basketball trophies. The high school will turn out in a body to root their team to victory, so all loyal Nebraskans should be there and be there with bells. The game will commence promptly at 8 o'clock.
