ALUMNI

Lieut. Walter R. Raecke, '17, with the Fisk University training detachment, Nashville, Tenn., writes as follows to the alumni headquarters:

"I am at present stationed here training drafted colored troops. I was very much disappointed to have to leave my old regiment to come down here because I wanted to get over to France and there is not very much chance of that here. We train these men for a few weeks and then send them to technical schools in different parts of the country. Seven other officers came here from my old regiment, and about twenty others were sent to numerous other places. We do find, however, that the negroes respond very well to the training.

"I am wondering whether The Daily Nebraskan is to be sent to the men in the service as last year or whether I will have to subscribe for it. I certainly want to get it.

"Sincerely yours,
"WALTER R. RAECKE."

Harold Allen, ex-'21, is with the 67th Artillery, C. A. C., in France. He enlisted in the army May 29, 1918.

Private E. Anderson, '18, writes from Camp Humphreys, Va., that he is working hard for a commission in the engineers' corps.

W. F. Ellis of Beaver City writes that his son, Cally Leroy Ellis, '16, is with the 14th Provisional Co. E. R. T., Camp Forest, Georgia. His elder son, Harry H. Ellis, '17, is in the intelligence department of the infantry. He has been over the top three times, and is now in an officers' training camp in France.

W. R. Delzell, '15, assistant surgeon, U. S. N. R. F., is stationed temporarily at the New York naval hospital.

Corp. Ernest W. Lundeen, ex-'19, is an instructor in the development battalion school at Camp Fremont, Calif.

GOVERNMENT INSTITUTES EMPLOYMENT BUREAU

First Bureau of Kind to Be Inaugurated in State

The United States government has instituted at the University of Nebraska, a unique form of service. There has been inaugurated under the direction of Professor A. A. Reed, a Bureau of Employment for skilled labor. This title covers engineering, scientific work, teaching, etc. It is the only bureau of its kind in the United States and upon its success and experiences will be based recommendations regarding the extension of the work to other localities. It is the expectation that this bureau will establish contact with all engineering alumni of the University as well as other trained persons who may desire its services, and thus be enabled to serve quickly and efficiently, our trained men.

The trouble with most men is that they have to die to be appreciated.

FLYING CADET MUNNEKE SENDS WORD FROM COAST

Says Many Nebraska Men Are Found Every Place He Visits

"Nebraska men are everywhere," writes Flying Cadet Harold Munneke, in the university last year, from the U. S. school of military aeronautics. His graduating date is October 5.

The letter follows:
U. S. School Military Aeronautics, Berkley, Calif., Sept. 15, 1918.
Editor-in-Chief Daily Nebraskan:
I take this opportunity to furnish you with my present address, which you will find below. Contrary to expectations I am not very lonesome out here. Nebraska men are everywhere and the aviation is very well represented with them, too. Beachey Musselman graduated a couple of weeks ago, Art Ballis last week, Ray Farquhar in July, Button last week, Arch Brenker a couple of weeks ago, Aldrich and Ten Lonam in August, and many others I don't think of now. My turn is soon coming. I started the first of July and go into "K" week Monday. My graduating date is October 5th.

This is the only life and the several hundred men here are wild about it.

I would certainly appreciate the "Rag" once in awhile.

I wish I were back again this year, but will have to pay "Fritz" a visit first.

Cordially yours,
Flying Cadet Harold D. Munneke,
Squadron 59, S. M. A., Berkeley, Calif.
