The Nebraskan announces with pleasure the appointment of Katharine Newbranch of Omaha as the new editor and the selection of Gaylord Davis of Lincoln as the new occupant of the managing editor's chair. Miss Newbranch, in her term of service on the paper, has become thoroughly familiar with student life and the policies of the paper and students may be assured an efficient management. Davis has served a severe apprenticeship at the news game, owing to the difficulties under the military regime, and will be able to handle his new work in an especially competent manner. In a year when most student enterprises are disorganized and many have been abandoned the publication board is indeed fortunate in being able to secure students so experienced in the college newspaper game as these, to carry on the work.

If the visit of "Dad" Elliott and his three stirring addresses bring nothing more than the pledge of the S. A. T. C. men to "clean thought, clean speech and clean living" he will feel that he has been well repaid. The high standard of morality found among the soldiers of the American troops abroad has been one of the most potent factors in rendering our armies so highly efficient in the field and the pledge of the Nebraska trainers is a step in the right direction.

Too many enter the army with the pre-conceived idea that one must lower his moral standards if he is to become a "regular" soldier. If they do not smoke, they feel they must master that fine art along with their I. D. R.; if they do not use profanity they are sure they will be looked down upon if they do not add the required picturesque expressions to the vocabulary.

On the contrary the man who lives a clean life, insuring clear thinking and physical fitness, will find he has the respect and admiration of those men whose opinions really count. "At no time," says "Dad" Elliott, "does a man need his religion more than when he enters the army." The large number of men who signed the pledge are to be commended for the action they have taken and it is hoped that eventually every man in the corps will fall in line.

With the coming of Dr. John Wesley Carter, representing the War Camp Community service, S. A. T. C. men are assured long-hoped-for entertainment for their off-duty periods. Beginning Saturday, an elaborate program including dances, car rides, dinners and theatre parties is being planned and every effort is being made to satisfy the desires of the soldiers for diversion.

In every camp in the United States is found the community service, directed in such a manner that every soldier and sailor, no matter where he may be, will find a home and entertainment. In Lincoln, Dr. Carter has accepted the generous offer of the Elk's club rooms and will make his headquarters in this building. Here men in the service will find a hearty welcome whenever they wish to take advantage of the facilities for their comfort and entertainment.

How great an enjoyment to the soldier is the service of the community workers only the soldier can know. Young boys, leaving home for perhaps the first time to enter the service, flock to the entertainments and there comes a time when even the oldest veteran longs for the comforts of a club room. A taste of home life; the enjoyment of a dinner or a dance after a hard week's work will take many pounds off the weight of the "rookie's" pack.

Nebraska student trainers will always feel grateful toward the citizens of Lincoln who make possible the community service. "They also serve."

PERSONALS

Lieutenant Harry Gildersleeve is spending a few days in Lincoln. Lieutenant Gildersleeve is on his way to Camp Custer, Michigan. He has been in the school of fire at Fort Sill and also at Columbia University in New York.

Rose Skudler is ill at her home in Atkinson with influenza. A brother, James Skudler, died last week of the same disease.

Professor Gaba of the mathematics department is confined to the hospital with an attack of influenza.

Mrs. Eugene Holland, who is teaching in the French department, is taking a few of the classes in French at the state farm. So far no definite arrangement has been made for the classes which she is unable to attend at the university.

A GOOD POISON

Poison that is good for the heart of the soldiers, is the subject of the pharmacy, '21, class this week. The students take Beladonna leaves from the university drug garden, dry them, and extract the juices which are put in medicines. The medicine is used especially to strengthen the hearts of the boys at the front when they are recovering from shell shock.

CARD OF THANKS

Through the columns of The Daily Nebraskan I wish to thank all those who by their sympathy and kindness at the time of Evanlegine's illness and death helped to make the burden of sorrow less. I shall always remember them with gratitude.

MRS. M. C. PELTON.

UNI NOTICES

Nautical Astronomy

There will be two sections of the class in nautical astronomy, one meeting at 11 o'clock on Tuesday and Thursday, and the other at 4 o'clock on the same days.

Physical Education

The department of physical education for women has arranged a schedule which should prove satisfactory to all. The girls will meet once a week for a lecture by Dr. Hallie Ewing, medical advisor for women, and report two days a week for outdoor sports and games. A list of the girls whose suits are finished is posted in the locker room. The girls may call for them from 10 to 12 o'clock Wednesday morning. Girls who have no suits may be measured for them at this time.

Omicron Nu

Omicron Nu, honorary home economics sorority, will hold its first meeting at 7:45 o'clock Thursday, November 7, at Union hall. All members will be expected to be present as many things of importance will be presented. All meetings after this will be held at one of the club rooms of the new Woman's Hall.

Home Economics

There will be a home economics club meeting in Faculty hall Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. All girls taking home economics are eligible to membership. Freshman girls are especially invited. IMPORTANT MEETING.

Freshman class meeting Thursday at one o'clock, Law 101, for the purpose of electing a vice-president, secretary, treasurer and sergeant-at-arms.

Christian Science Society

The Christian Science society of the University will meet Thursday evening at 7:30 in room 204, Temple building. A cordial invitation is extended to all students, alumni, and faculty of the university.

Meeting at Temple

Professor J. G. Gillen of the University of Wisconsin speaks tonight on civilian relief at the Temple at 7:30 o'clock. Students in the military detachment will be especially interested in his talk. Professor Gillen is director of the central division of civilian relief.

"What shall the harvest be?" sang the amateur gardner last spring. To his credit let it be said in the majority of instances he is raising what he thought he was going to raise when he planted.

Keep Your Saving System Going

It is poor policy to figure to cut your deposit one week and make up the deficiency next pay day. This course will

Announcement

¶ This notice is paid for by the First Congregational Church not for profit but just to let University people know that they are more than welcome at its services. ¶ Dr. John Andrew Holmes, who has made a specialty of preaching to State University students and professors during a period of ten years, has charge of the service at 10:30 every Sunday morning. ¶ At 12 two student classes, one for student girls, led by Mrs. E. L. Hinman, one for both men and women, led by Dr. Hinman. ¶ The Young Men's class meets at 9:30, instead of 12:00. ¶ The subject for next Sunday's sermon is, "Joshua gives orders to the Sun." ¶ At 6 the Young People's Society give a fellowship luncheon and at 7 its regular meeting is held, which is attended principally by students. ¶ Sometimes also there is an evening service at 8, as occasion requires. ¶ Come to everything. You will feel at home.

soon break up your saving system, you'll find. Get a little money ahead and then you will wonder how you could have enjoyed yourself a minute while you were living from one pay day to the next, constantly putting off your creditors and without a cent to fall back on should you become ill or lose your job.—Norton Spirit.

It Helps Some

Remorse is like a wooden leg. It helps a man on his way, but he can see where he would have been happier without it.—Idaho Statesman.

Housewife's Duty

The housewife's first duty is to see that every member of her household is properly nourished.

Optimistic Thought

A humble lot in security is better than the dangers that encompass the high and haughty.

Always Busy

A girl roomer always has a batch of finery to wash.—Kansas City Journal.

Hospitality

There is no unconcern, almost ostentatious, to equal that of the hostess who pours the clotted cream on the guest's peaches as if clotted cream were an everyday incident in that household. Blessed is hospitality.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Should Say Not

"It's all right to pay as you go," observed the almost philosopher, "but if you have to pay 25 cents street car fare to get there and back, the chances are you won't go."
