FRATERNITY MEN UPSET TRADITION

Aim Blow at Subscription Dances
—Limit Expense of Formal
Parties

Will Not Send Flowers to Girl
Partners As Has Been Custom of Past

The inter-fraternity council of the University of Nebraska has taken a definite stand against so-called subscription parties, and will use its influence to boycott and discourage such affairs in the future. The council also went on record as being opposed to undue extravagance in fraternity formal parties, and limited the sum above which the total cost should not go, to $150.00.

The following resolution was passed unanimously by the inter-fraternity body at a meeting held Sunday afternoon: "Resolved, that the inter-fraternity council goes on record as being opposed to subscription dances and as far as possible will discourage the attendance of university men at such dances." The measure adopted by the council applies to all dances given at down town halls by university people, and also to the dances given mid-week at public dance halls. The experience of the past semester has proved that most of the class hops have lost money largely because the university people have been attending subscription parties, and consequently have not supported the university parties as they should have done.

Action On Formal Parties

The expense of all fraternity formal parties was limited, by the council, to $150.00. The items to be included in the list of expenses have been defined as those incurred for music, hall, decorations, entertainment, programs, invitations, refreshments, favors, and cab hire for chaperones. Other expenditures besides those mentioned may be incurred beyond the extent of the $150.00 limit.

In other years it has not been unusual for formal affairs to cost as high as five and six hundred dollars. The action of the council at this time, therefore, is a radical departure from the practices of the past. The expense of social affairs is so high this year that the limit set by fraternity men will make it impossible to enjoy other features at these parties beyond the absolute necessities such as, hall, music, refreshments, and invitations.

Each fraternity will be required to prepare an itemized statement of expenses for each formal party, this to be handed to the president of the inter-fraternity council. If any member of the council over-steps any of the rules of the body, the organization shall have power to revoke any charter, or expel any members of a fraternity from the university. The council holds absolute power over all member-fraternities, and will enforce its dictums to the limit.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION ASS'N HOLDS MEETING

The Nebraska Physical Education association held a luncheon, Saturday noon at the city Y. W. C. A. After luncheon a business meeting was held and it was voted to keep the same officers for this year. A discussion of ways and means of insuring better playground facilities for Lincoln followed.

Dr. H. K. Wolfe, medical examiner in the city schools, was present, also Dr. Ewing of the University of Nebraska physical education department, and Miss Hill from the Whitton-Carlyle school. Plans were made for four more programs this year and a program committee was appointed to prepare for them.

JOUVENAT HOME WEARING THE FRENCH WAR CROSS

Lieutenant Richard Jouvenat recently returned to his home in Lincoln from New York city. Jouvenat joined the foreign legion of the ambulance service at the beginning of the war. While in this service he was decorated with the Croix de Guerre.

When the United States entered the war, he resigned from the ambulance service and returned to America, enlisting in the U. S. aviation service. He took his training and received a commission. He was in New York, preparatory to going overseas, when the armistice was signed and all overseas orders were cancelled.

Jouvenat arrived in Lincoln last week. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and was very prominent in university circles.

FRANKFORTER MAY BE R. O. T. C. COMMANDANT

Former University Professor May Accept Place if Transfer Can Be Arranged

Captain C. J. Frankforter, formerly a professor in the department of chemistry, may be the next commandant of the R. O. T. C. according to advices received from Washington.

Chancellor Avery in accord with his desire to have a former university professor head the military organization, has recommended Captain Frankforter for the position, and a telegram received by the chancellor Monday indicates his acceptance providing his transfer can be arranged with the war department.

The R. O. T. C. unit will begin operation with the opening of the second semester and the presence of a permanent officer to start the program of the military department is almost a necessity. With this end in view the war department is expected to announce the assignment of a commandant to the University of Nebraska within a few days. Captain Philo M. Buck has found it impossible to secure his release from the intelligence division to return to the university.

Captain Frankforter, who is now in the chemical warfare division, was for a long time captain of infantry stationed at Camp Grant, Ill. He is peculiarly well fitted for the work, having taken an unusually active interest in the affairs of the military department before his entrance into officers' training camp.

NEW GEOGRAPHY COURSES PLANNED NEXT SEMESTER

The department of geography and conservation announces that several new courses will be given next semester. Among them Dr. Condra states that there will be a course on the survey of road materials. The department itself has charge of the road surveys of the state, and this course will try to prepare advance students for work which they might desire next summer.

Professor N. A. Bengston, who has been in Washington the past year working in connection with the technical branch of the war trade board, has returned to the university to resume his work in the department, and will conduct a new course next semester on Europe. This work will be pursued under the title of Geography 3. It is opportune at this time, because of the war just closed. As Professor Bengston has been in the governmental service this year he has been in very close touch with the important European conditions and with her changing geography. This course will also deal with the revision of the European map, and will be one of the most important classes conducted next semester, because it concerns the most vital topic of the present age.

Geography 2 will also be given next (Continued on Page Four)

RED CROSS WORKER SPEAKS HERE TODAY

Miss Marie Gannon, Central Division, Talks at Convocation at 11 O'clock

To Explain System of Red Cross
Educational Course to Be Instituted Soon

"This is to be the foundation work of the biggest educational program that the American Red Cross has ever laid out," said Miss Marie Gannon of the central division of the Red Cross headquarters in Chicago, in an interview at the Lindell hotel last evening. Miss Gannon will speak at convocation this morning at 11 o'clock on the peace program of the American Red Cross and the part American women will play in it.

This movement is of national scope and is developed largely through the American bureau of Red Cross, which includes divisions of home service, military relief, home nursing and many others. This bureau is under the direction of Miss Jane Delano, who was in charge of the recruiting of nurses during the war and went "over the top" with a record enrollment.

Nurses Have Broader Views

Miss Gannon believes that nurses who have seen active duty will have a broader idea of service upon their return to civilian life and the American Red Cross will act upon this prospect by making it possible for every woman in every community to take elementary hygiene and care of the sick under the direction of a graduate nurse and to be thus enabled to take the place of a practical nurse in the home and in cases where it is impossible to secure better trained services.

Although more than twenty-five thousand nurses were trained in this country and abroad during the war, Miss Gannon pointed out that many of these women will be kept for some time in military and reconstruction work and that many others will be needed to train younger nurses in hospitals.

To Institute Red Cross Courses

The Red Cross hopes to put many of these classes in the schools although this will have to come about gradually. Mrs. Max Westerman is now teaching (Continued on Page Four)

"Old Glory Will Float Between Acts In Husker "Victory Annual"

Acts in Husker "Victory Annual" The "Victory Annual" will flaunt the national colors in some of its division sheet engravings, the ambitious staff has announced. For the first time in history of Nebraska annuals there will be three-color as well as two-color plates.

This work is to be another of the big features of the year book. There will be more of it and better work than has ever before appeared. Dwight Kirsch is making the drawings, which are especially good, and the Breen firm of Indianapolis, expert engravers, will do the color work.

This will no doubt be one of the very best annuals ever published at the university and will be unusually con-

HUSKERS OFF ON EASTERN JUNKET

Leave Early Wednesday Morning
For Games With Drake and Grinnell Quintets

Ames Still Huffy—Saturday Game
Emphasizes Crying Need For
New Gymnasium

Standing of the Teams
Missouri	4	0 1,000
Kansas	1	1 .500
Ames	1	3 .250
Nebraska	0	0 .000
Grinnell	0	0 .000
Drake	0	0 .000
Washington	0	2 .000

In the wee sma' hours of the morning before Old Sol takes a slant past the Statue of Liberty, the eight members of the Cornhusker basketball squad will pack up and be off on the 4:25 train tomorrow morning for a four game excursion into Iowa territory.

Wednesday evening they skin knees with the Drake Bulldogs in the Des Moines gymnasium and then journey on for two engagements at Grinnell Thursday and Friday. Saturday night will find them again on the frames of the Bulldogs at Drake.

The Drake affair Wednesday will touch off the spark which sets the Cornhusker's valley conference campaign in motion. The two victories over the Omaha Balloon school and the pair of losses at the hands of the Camp Dodgers last week have no bearing on the Cornhuskers' standing in the conference percentage table. At the present the Missouri Tigers are leading with four victories and no defeats while Nebraska, Drake and Grinnell have a zero standing with no wins or losses.

Bud Smith Back From Navy

Bud Smith, member of the freshman class last year and captain of the Lincoln high school state champion basket tossers two years ago, has returned to the university after over a year's service in the navy. His gold service stripe indicates overseas duty, having been stationed at Brest, France, for three and a half months. Bud was a freshman last year and expects to make up sufficient work to be eligible for the varsity team next semester.

Ames Still Crabbing

The authorities at Ames are still a little huffy over Nebraska's refusal to play the two games scheduled on the Iowa floor, after the Iowa Farmers had just notified Director Stewart that they would not budge toward Lincoln as long as the Cornhuskers had nothing better than an old shack for basketball programs. Stewart received a long distance phone call yesterday afternoon in which the Ames management insisted that the Huskers remain on their schedule and play the two numbers on their floor, inasmuch as their gymnasium is so large and (Continued on Page Four)

SCHEDULE OF CLASSES IN TEACHERS' COLLEGE

The schedule of classes for the teachers' college high school for the second semester is now complete. Each candidate for university teachers' certificate must take entire charge of a class and teach under supervision for one semester that his theories may be put into practice.

Anyone desiring to do this student teaching next semester should see the principal, or the supervisor, of the subject desired at once. This must not be put off till registration week. Preliminary conferences to arrange schedules will be held February 1. Class work begins February 3.

Between sixty and seventy candidates take this training each semester.
