

CORNHUSKER TEAM ALLEGES MISUSE OF "N" SWEATERS

Freshman Coach and Husker Captain Ask that "N" Sweater Traditions Remain

They Say Cheer Leaders and Others, Not Athletes, Should Not Wear Letter

The Husker team at a meeting last evening voted unanimously that the matter of misusing the "N" sweaters should be brought to the attention of the students. They feel that the "N" sweaters are worn by those not entitled to wear them merely through lack of thought, not realizing that the sweaters are an emblem of athletic attainment. They simply want to call attention to it and think that no other action will be necessary to stop the practice which in their judgment is breaking down a tradition sacred to athletes.

The letter written by the Freshmen coach and the Husker captain follows:

The Letter

To the Editor of the Daily Nebraskan:

"The right to wear the "N" sweater is given to the men and women of the University for individual excellence in some particular branch of athletics.

"No one else has the right to wear the letter. No one else who stops to think for a moment would want to do so.

"Possibly, because they have not given thought to this matter, we notice that our university cheer leaders, have formed the habit of appearing at games, where they lead the cheering, wearing the "N" sweaters.

"It seems to us that these men could find suitable garb which would readily distinguish them from the crowd, and at the same time recognize the school colors, without detracting from the tradition of the "N" sweater.

"The matter was brought up at a meeting of the football team last evening and the unanimous opinion expressed, that the matter be brought to student attention.

"So we have taken your columns as the medium of expressing not only our thoughts, but what we feel is the opinion of every "N" man in the University, regarding the wearing of "N" sweaters.

PAUL A. DOBSON.

SPECIAL FOOTBALL EDITION FOR THURSDAY

On Thanksgiving day, November 27, the Daily Nebraskan will issue a special football edition. Extra copies will be on sale at the Nebraska-Syracuse game and regular subscribers may secure their issues in the student section.

This sixteen-page feature paper will have the individual pictures of the varsity football team and coaches. In addition to the football pictures, there will be many features concerning the school and various activities.

Elaborate preparations are being made for an exceptionally fine Thanksgiving edition, and already most of the feature stories are in the hands of the printer. There will be no issue of the Nebraskan on Wednesday, November 26, as every effort is being concentrated upon the big sixteen-page edition.

There will be no issue of the Daily Nebraskan on December 1, the Monday following the Thanksgiving recess.

Notices and news items will be received and printed in this number.

PLAN CORNHUSKER BANQUET DEC. 5TH

Announcement is Made as to Date and Place of Annual Celebration

Lincoln Hotel Again Accepts the Banquet Which is on Good Behavior Trial

The Cornhusker banquet, annual gala night for Nebraskans at the close of the football season, in honor of the team and for the enjoyment of the entire male student body, will be held at the Lincoln hotel December 5. This announcement was made officially by those in charge of the event, Monday afternoon although it has been scheduled for that date for many weeks on the university calendar. It was at first planned to hold the banquet at the Commercial club rooms but this was changed to the banquet room of the Lincoln at the last moment.

Tickets will be on sale on the campus the Monday following Thanksgiving vacation. The price has not been settled as yet but will be announced, probably in the special edition Thursday, and will include only the cost of the banquet proper and whatever entertainment is decided upon.

Cornhusker banquets have had disastrous histories at times in past years and the organizations back of the banquet this year are extremely anxious that it be made the largest, most enjoyable but at the same time the most sensible banquet ever held. Three years ago the stunt, so long associated with the close of the football season was outlawed because of rowdiness and it was not without a considerable effort that the custom survived the disapproval of the authorities. The annual banquet is still on its trial for good behavior and it is hoped that this year will prove beyond doubt that it should always be a legitimate celebration.

Last year the banquet was held in the Lincoln Commercial club and two years ago at the Y. M. C. A. Before that it had varied between the Lincoln and the Lindell hotels, but neither hotel would finally accept it because of the rough play of the celebrators. Now the hotels have agreed to try the Nebraskans at their best again.

Special committees on stunts and entertainment have been named from among the senior students. Prominent alumni are being consulted with a view to having them present for the banquet to talk to the active university men. The program when complete will be announced along with the price at which the tickets are to be sold.

OBSERVATORY OPEN

The Observatory will be open to the public Tuesday evening, from 7 to 10 o'clock. The topic of the lecture at 8 o'clock will be, "A Visit to the Mt. Wilson Observatory."

BASKETBALL SQUAD NAMED FOR PRACTICE

Others Who Show Promise Will Be Added to List Later

Coach Schissler announces the selection of the following men for the Varsity basketball squad:

John S. Collins
Byron W. Stromer
E. H. Schollenberg
R. M. Bailey
Chas. L. Gillilan
John S. Pickett
R. W. Newman
J. Z. Patty
H. S. Davis
Arnold A. North
Monte Munn
Floyd Paynter
Austin Smith
Robert Russell
"String" Jungmeyer
Herbert Dana
Harry Howarth
Melvin Bekins
Pete Anthes
Walter Jungmeyer
Will H. Hager
W. W. Norton

The above named candidates were selected by the coaches from the many who applied for equipment. Limited gymnasium facilities prevent a large string of varsity players. All the men on the college teams will be closely watched, however, and when any show varsity form, will be drafted to the first division.

Basketball practice begins in earnest next Monday night. Heretofore outdoor workouts have been held but work on the floor starts next week. No spectators will be admitted to the gymnasium. The players will be cramped for room and everything possible must be done to increase the floor space. After the first week, scrimmage will be held from eight to nine on Wednesday nights, when the public will be allowed to watch the team in action. The season opens December 18, when Morningside journeys to Lincoln for two games.

IOTA SIGMA PI

Iota Sigma Pi held an open meeting Saturday night on third floor of chemistry hall. A short program was given, consisting of two readings by True Jack, a talk on ancient theories of chemistry by Ida Carr, a talk on modern theories by Josephine Graves, and a short talk on gastric digestion by Ruth Whitmore. After the program there were several games, then delicious refreshments were served in a novel way. In place of dishes, beakers were used for cups, and watch glasses for plates, and chemistry spoons were used. About twenty-five were present.

Fraternities Plan Memorial For Their Soldier Dead

Tablets in Honor of Those Who Fell in Service of Nation Will Be Dedicated

Many fraternities at the university are showing a deep and reverent honor for their soldier dead. Fraternity men who have lost brothers very dear to them in the World War, are expressing their respect as well as their sincere admiration for those from their chapter who heeded the call, and then made the sacrifice of life for the sake of humanity.

This they are doing by something more than a silent appreciation. Bronze tablets, of other metals, and panels of cut wood will occupy conspicuous places in each fraternity house in a few months. Many chapters have already voted to select these tablets and many others have dedicated them with appropriate ceremony.

These tablets will bear the full names of all members of that certain

KOSMET KLUB OFFERS $100 FOR MUSICAL COMEDY

First of Klub Shows Since the War Will Be Produced Next Semester

Anyone Connected With the University Eligible to Compete for Prize

A prize of $100 will be given by Kosmet Klub for a new and original musical comedy written by anyone connected with the university, for production next semester.

For two years the annual Kosmet show has not been presented because of the war. This year the club intends to resume the production of a musical comedy and is making an early offer so that work on the play might start soon.

Prior to the war, the Kosmet show was one of the big events of the school year. It had become a tradition in the university and was only allowed to lapse because a large percentage of the club's members were in the service.

Kosmet shows have always been very liberally patronized not only by university students but also by the showgoing public of Lincoln. The shows and music have always been taken well. Each year a prize has been offered and given for the writing of the play.

First Play Since War.

The production this year will be the first since the spring of 1917 when "The Diplomat" was produced. In 1918 the club, instead of presenting the annual play, took charge of a number of war drives and campaigns on the campus. Last year it had charge of the production of the semi-centennial pageant.

The manuscripts for the play must be submitted the first day of school after the Christmas holidays. They will be submitted to Herman Thomas at the Awgwan office. He will also be able to give those competing for the $100 prize, information concerning the nature of the play desired.

The club reserves the right to reject any or all plays submitted. If one of the comedies submitted is chosen for production, the writer will be paid the $100 prize.

With the play, the songs and music for them must be submitted.

Anyone now a student or faculty member of the university or who has ever been connected with the university is eligible to compete.

LAST DAY FOR SALE OF NEW DIRECTORIES

The sale of student directories will end today. Out of the first shipment of 1419 copies, 1350 were sold yesterday in the first day of the sale. The remaining copies have been delivered and are ready for distribution. The demand for the books has been brisk and more could have been sold if there had been facilities to handle them. The directory is the one handy book on telephone numbers and addresses. It is sold at cost.

Directories will be on sale today in the library, in the Social Science hall, the College Book Store, and U hall. If the weather permits a table will be placed at east entrance of U hall. The Aggie shop will have charge of the sale at the farm.

SYRACUSE LOST BY OVER-CONFIDENCE

Coach Schissler Returns With Report of the Indiana Game

Syracuse Believing Game Easy Awoke Too Late

Overconfidence was the chief cause of the defeat of Syracuse by the Indiana Hoosiers, according to Assistant Coach Paul Schissler who scouted the Orange-Hoosier scrap. Schissler is also of the opinion that the drubbing they received at Bloomington will make the New Yorkers fight all the harder against Nebraska and try to regain their laurels.

"The Syracuse defeat," said Schissler on his return to Lincoln, "was the most glaring case of overconfidence in all my football experience. The Orange players evidently looked on the Indiana game as a sort of cake walk and tea party, being a prelude to another victory over Nebraska and a cleanup of their western trip. Indiana simply got the jump on Syracuse, profited from the breaks of the game and piled up twelve points before the easterners could get into their stride. The Syracuse coach evidently planned to use his regulars only long enough to clinch a victory and then send in substitutes by way of giving the regulars a rest in advance of the Nebraska game. The second half was all Syracuse, but the Hoosiers waged such stiff resistance that the easterners had to be content with one touchdown during the closing period of the struggle.

Syracuse Will Fight

"I am sure as can be that the Indiana defeat will make the Syracuse team fighting mad, and that means they will battle more desperately against Nebraska than in any previous game this year. From a Cornhusker standpoint, it would have been vastly better had the Orange achieved a comparatively easy victory over the Hoosiers. That might have induced the same overconfidence against Nebraska that was in evidence in the battle at Bloomington. Having been humbled by a team which, in the dope, apparently stood no chance whatever for victory, Syracuse will be up on its toes and fighting the Cornhuskers, eye for eye and tooth for tooth, every inch of the game on Thanksgiving day. That's my judgment, and I predict Thursday will provide the proof."

With defeat staring them in the face, the Syracuse aggregation were compelled to open up against Indiana and use every thing they had. Consequently Schissler brought home a nice bag full of Orange plays and formations. These tactics were used by the Freshmen in scrimmage last night against the varsity and the first stringers were thoroughly drilled in breaking them up. Schulte also gave the varsity some new plays which were good for frequent gains against the Fresh.

Syracuse will come to Lincoln with a team bigger, heavier, and more experienced than the Huskers. According to Schissler, the Hoosiers looked like high school players beside the beefy Easterners. The range heavies are all veterans, mature college men. Schissler says that two of the New Yorkers are accompanied on the western trip by their wives, and this is something of which none of the Cornhuskers can boast. Whether the presence of their better halves will aid or hinder the Syracuse men in their gridiron form, is a matter of conjecture, but Nebraskans hope that the effect will be demoralizing. It is feared by some of the Huskers that if the two Syracuse benefactors should receive a little roughing, the fair spouses will rush onto the field and take matters in their own hands, with disastrous results for the Nebraskans.
