

THE DAILY NEBRASKAN

VOL. XIX. NO. 67.

LINCOLN, NEBRASKA, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 14, 1920.

FIVE CENTS PER COPY

HEAVY VOTE ON TREATY AND LEAGUE REFERENDUM

Over One Thousand Students and Eighty-Three Faculty Members Express Opinions on Ratification of Peace Pact.

SLIGHT PLURALITY FAVOR NO RESERVATIONS

Faculty Gives Choice Favoring Compromise on Reservations as Enumerated Under Proposition No. 6.

Three hundred and seven students and faculty members of the University of Nebraska out of one thousand one hundred and fifteen voting, gave a slight plurality to Proposition I, the unqualified ratification of the League and Treaty, in Tuesday's referendum. The vote was unusually large and was the greatest student and faculty vote ever obtained in such an election. The heaviest vote of the day came in the morning with a general decline at all polls in the afternoon.

Proposition VI, favoring certain restrictions and compromises was the next most popular opinion of the voters, receiving two hundred seventy-seven votes, thirty-four less than the number cast for Proposition I.

Following is a tabulated table of all votes cast by students and faculty members:

Prop.	Faculty	Students	Total
I	20	287	307
II	3	64	67
III	9	162	171
IV	19	146	165
V	8	126	134
VI	24	253	277
Total	83	1032	1115

While the student vote gave a plurality to Proposition I, the faculty vote gave a plurality in their vote to Proposition VI. The following table based on the figures shown above, gives the percentage of the faculty and the percentage of the students voting for each proposition and an addition of figures based upon the total vote:

	I	II	III	IV	V	VI
Faculty	24	4	11	23	9	29
Students	28	6	16	14	12	25
Total	100	100	100	100	100	100

Three hundred and fifty American colleges vote on these six propositions today. As soon as a complete report is obtained an interesting comparison can be made, not only in regard to the winning proposition, but also to the number of students actively interested in this question in other schools.

The committee in charge of this vote is very much pleased with the large number of students voting and the active interest and discussion evident by the diversified vote.

TWO HUNDRED STUDENTS HEAR BISHOP STUNTZ TUES. EVENING

"The student body of today will build the Kingdom program of tomorrow," said Bishop Homer C. Stuntz last night while speaking to nearly 200 students at the Grand Hotel. "And so I would say," the bishop continued, "in all your fun let there be this thought: I am responsible for future failure or success of the Kingdom program."

Speaking on the subject, "The Students and the Kingdom Program," Bishop Stuntz defined the Kingdom as the reign of Jesus Christ over the whole life of man. "When Christ has had his way with the world," the speaker declared, "the world will be like heaven."

Declaring that there is nothing we can legitimately do which cannot be made fit the Kingdom Program, that there is room for every variety of talent, the speaker urged teamwork as the only way of achieving this program. Doctors, lawyers, clerks, engineers, politicians all can aid in realizing the Kingdom.

Throughout the hour and a half he spoke, Bishop Stuntz held the closest attention of his audience. His keen sense of humor and his seemingly inexhaustible supply of anecdotes kept his listeners on the alert.

A large number of Wesleyan students attended the banquet and exchanged yells and songs with the university students between courses.

Obvious
Teacher—Why are the muscles in my head smaller than those in my arms?
Pupil—Because you don't use them so much.

PUBLICITY DEPT. TO SEND OUT WEEKLY NEWS BULLETIN OVER STATE

The university publicity department has added a new feature to their work in the nature of a weekly news letter which is sent to the different editors in the state and to the schools in the middle west and south as exchanges.

The first issue was printed January 7, by Miss A. C. Hunter, and contained an article by Dean Buck on the Reorganization of the Arts and Science College. The news letter contains various articles of interest about the university and its activities. Short clipped sheets with summaries of speeches and feature stories concerning the news of the school are included.

In the new issue of this past week Professor A. A. Reed discusses the vocational work and the teacher shortage. A short report of the past year and the progress of the schools is also given.

This movement was started with the co-operation of the representative people on the campus. A similar weekly bulletin is published at the state farm dealing with agriculture interests. Mr. C. A. Lewis is the editor at the farm.

FARM EQUIPMENT MEN TO MEET AT STATE FARM JANUARY 22

The second annual meeting of the Nebraska Farm Equipment Association will be held in the agricultural engineering building, university farm, Thursday, January 22, the week of organized agriculture. The association is a society for the furtherance of knowledge along the lines of farm equipment. Ivan D. Wood, assistant secretary, has announced the following program:

Address of welcome, E. B. Lewis, Superior.

Is the tractor a practical investment on a 160-acre farm? C. Y. Thompson, West Point.

The tractor testing law and tractor testing, C. K. Shedd, University of Nebraska.

The farm electric light plant, E. E. Brackett, University of Nebraska.

Sewage disposal by means of septic tank, Ray Carpenter, University of Nebraska.

Farm water systems: the gravity system, I. D. Wood, University of Nebraska.

The pneumatic system.

The fresh water system.

Modern ideas regarding farm buildings, O. W. Sjogren, University of Nebraska.

Hog houses for Nebraska, Dave Boesinger, Cortland.

The Nebraska State Poultry Association, the Nebraska Corn Improvers' Association and the State Florists Society will hold their annual shows during the week. The poultry show will be in the Lincoln city auditorium, the corn show at the university farm and the florists' exhibit in the Commercial club building.

No meetings are scheduled for Wednesday afternoon and the management is attempting to obtain speakers of national note for that time.

(Continued on Page Four.)

DEDICATE NEW TEACHERS COLLEGE BUILDING

The new Teachers College building will be dedicated Friday, January 16. Dean James E. Russell of the Teachers College of Columbia University will give the dedication address.

A musical program will be given by the university string quartet, composed of Mrs. Carrie B. Raymond, piano; Edward J. Walt, first violin; Mrs. August Molzer, second violin; William T. Quick, viola; and Miss Lillian Zsche, 'cello.

A joint meeting of the Nebraska Superintendents and Principals Association and the Nebraska Superintendents School Board Association will be held Friday in connection with the dedication exercises, meeting at 10 o'clock in the morning. This will be an informal meeting of superintendents School Board Association will be rooms, 204, 205, and 206, of the Teachers College building.

Dr. W. E. Sealock is chairman of the local committee in charge of the dedication. Other members of this committee are Charles Taylor, Frank G. Pickell, Lida B. Earhart, and Letta Clark.

NEW SYSTEM WILL REDUCE NUMBER OF FINAL EXAMINATIONS

Examinations will come more often but there will be fewer of them if the Quarter System, which is under advisement of the Quarter System Committee, is adopted. The new system will reduce the number of subjects taken by each student and hence will lessen the number of examinations in each of the courses. The new system is being considered by the departmental chairman in collaboration with the Quarter System Committee.

Under the proposed revision of studies there will be four quarters instead of two semesters in the school year. The quarters will be twelve weeks each and will extend as follows: First or Autumn Quarter will begin about September 15 and extend to about December 1; Second or Winter Quarter will begin about December 1 and extend to about March 1 with one week intermission between December 22 and 29. The third or Spring Quarter to begin about one week after the end of the Winter quarter and to extend until about June 1. Commencement to take place the following week; the fourth or Summer quarter to begin the same week as Commencement and to extend until about August 20, this quarter to be divided into two equal terms.

The courses are to be organized on a point system, points and half points to be given in place of the hour credits as used at present. One point will be equivalent of 5 hours of class or laboratory work carried for one quarter. One-half point will be the equivalent of half the work of a point course carried for one quarter or in case of the summer quarter, for one five hour course carried for a six week term. Two half points will equal one point. Thirty-six points in addition to drill and physical education will be required for graduation. This is equivalent to 120 hours on (Continued on Page Four.)

HUSKERS SWAMP HASTINGS ALL-STAR AGGREGATION

First Game of Western Trip Proves Walk-Away With Scarlet and Cream Tossers at Long End of 47-9 Score.

TWO DIFFERENT TEAMS USED AGAINST NEBRASKA

Coach Schissler Plays all Twelve of His Men—Next Stop Will be at Colorado Springs.

By Orvin B. Gaston

FORUM WILL DISCUSS MEXICAN SITUATION

Ray Cowan will lead the discussion of the Mexican situation at the "Y" forum meeting at the Temple Thursday. The Bushnell Guild orchestra will give several selections before the discussion.

Five main points of the Mexican situation will be taken up.

1. Should United States intervene in the Mexican situation?
2. What should be the form of intervention?
3. What is the need of Mexico?
4. What is the underlying cause of the Mexican situation?
5. What should be the American attitude?

Everyone who attends the meeting will get a chance to take part in the discussion.

BISHOP STUNTZ ALL DAY AT UNIVERSITY

Speaks at Convocation, Faculty Luncheon and Student Banquet.

Bishop Homer C. Stuntz, one of the recognized religious leaders of the world, spent a busy day at the university Tuesday, making three speeches and conferring with students in the afternoon. He addressed convocation in the morning on the subject, "The World's Need for Moral Leadership." At noon he spoke at a faculty luncheon at the Grand Hotel and in the evening addressed two hundred students at a banquet.

At the convocation Bishop Stuntz in his opening sentence emphatically said that beyond all other needs, the crying need of the hour is the need for moral leadership. He said that his work called him to all parts of the world, India, China, the islands of the sea and elsewhere and then stated that "Wherever I have been privileged to live, moral leadership is the supreme need. Look at our own country. Since the days of Winthrop was there ever so much unrest and simmering beneath the surface? When before have we exported dangerous aliens and advocates of Bolshevik doctrines?" Bishop Stuntz continued in part:

"No political bargaining will ever solve our difficulties. They are too deep; too fundamental. Selfish interest against selfish interest will never make progress. Now look at George Washington. He was deeply religious. Do you remember reading how he spent hours in prayer with the troops at Valley Forge? He, with fine altruism, pledged all to the cause against the mother country. "Every man must have a lofty ideal and live up to it. Some of you have probably seen the great monument to American heroes at Saratoga Springs, New York. One side of the monument is blank. Here should have been the face of Benedict Arnold, who gave up his leadership and renounced the faith and ideals that he possessed, at the crucial moment. Never did we need leadership more than now!"

Praises Ex-Soldiers
"I'm proud of the young men who gave themselves to the great cause in this world war. That struggle is over; but the battle for international leadership among men is yet to be won. If you doubt it, cast your eyes down the Potomac to Washington. There, all is squabbling. The nations were not at the Peace Conference for the moral good which they were to derive from it, but to get for themselves more lands, more possessions, more power. If George Washington were alive he would speak another message on foreign entanglements to the American people. Monarchical despotism is trying its best to save its neck right now, and kings are chopping wood for a livelihood.

"Let us digress for a moment. What's the use of talking about isolation in America? I've seen cablegrams that got to their destinations nine and a half hours before they were sent. The ocean today is only (Continued on Page Four.)

Hastings Neb., Jan. 13—Playing two different teams, the Nebraska basketball fitters continued their winning streak and registered their fifth win here this afternoon. They met the Hastings All-Star aggregation the first half of the game and rolled up a 21 to 6 score against the Hastings hoopers. When the second half started the Hastings College quintet took the floor against the rampaging Huskers and Schissler's team took the measure of the collegians to the tune of a 26 to 3 score, making the total count 47 to 9 in favor of the Cornhuskers.

The Huskers were supreme at all times throughout the entire game, completely outclassing both Hastings teams in every phase of the court game. The college team was unable to gather more than one free throw. The famous All-Star five, composed of season veterans was helpless against the lightning-like tactics of the Cornhuskers.

Coach Schissler used all twelve of the men who made the trip. "String" Jungmeyer, lanky Husker center, lead in the scoring with five baskets. Bob Russell and Jesse Patty each gathered four counters and Austin Smith hung up three.

The Cornhusker squad departed tonight via the Burlington for Colorado Springs where they are scheduled to play a pair of games with the fast Colorado College five. From there they go to Boulder to meet the University of Colorado team in two games.

NEBRASKA TO PLAY SOUTH DAKOTA IN LINCOLN NEXT FALL

A game with the University of South Dakota to be played at Lincoln on October 23, 1920 has been booked. This game completely fills the 1920 Cornhusker football schedule. The last time South Dakota and Nebraska clashed the final score was a tie, although the Nebraska team was a championship team that year.

MEETING OF BOTANISTS HELD IN ST. LOUIS

A meeting of botanists from all parts of the United States was recently held in St. Louis, Missouri, in conjunction with a convention of a number of national scientific societies. Professor Coulter from the University of Chicago presided, his address covering "The Evolution of Botanical Research." About two hundred papers were read in the botanical section of the convention. The world-famous botanical gardens located at St. Louis were a source of great interest.

A large number of alumni of Nebraska University were present. Among them were: Dr. C. W. Edger-ton, University of Louisiana; Dr. A. K. Peiterson, University of Vermont; Professor F. L. Pinal of Purdue University; Dr. Albert F. Woods, president of Missouri Agricultural College; Dr. C. Shear of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington D. C.; Dr. John L. Sheldon, University of West Virginia; Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Clement, the Carnegie Institute; Professor Ernest A. Bessey, Michigan Agricultural College; Dr. G. H. Coons, Michigan Agricultural College; Professor H. W. Barre of Clemson College, S. C.; and Dr. T. J. Yuncker of DePauw University.

The directors of the St. Louis Zoological Gardens entertained the botanists at a dinner at the Athletic Club. Two rare vegetables were served at this dinner. One was Dash-reen, which resembles the Irish potato. It was served baked and tasted like baked potatoes, except that it was a little more fibrous. This vegetable has been introduced into southeast United States and is widely used. Another vegetable, the arrachoca, which comes from Venezuela, South America, was served for the first time at a public dinner.

Five Hundred Men Will Attend Feast For Heroes Of Gridiron

All loyal, faithful and enthusiastic Cornhusker men will be called to arms by the familiar reveille of "come a-runnin' boys" as it calls them to the feast of the Huskers which will be held in the main dining room of the Lincoln Hotel Friday evening at 6 o'clock. The banquet will begin a half hour sooner than announced before in order that the men may attend the Sophomore Hop and other parties which have been scheduled for that evening.

Tickets have been almost entirely disposed of and only a limited number are yet available. The banquet is in charge of the Innocents society, and one of the most interesting programs ever presented before the university has been carefully arranged. A touch of dignity will be present at the banquet amid all the hilarity. The rowdiness which at one time was prevalent at the rally will not be tolerated this year.

The toast list to be announced soon will include a number of prominent university notables as well as a few speakers from civic and community circles. The members of the 1919 football squad will be guests of honor at the dinner and will probably be called upon to express themselves after the banquet has been disposed of. The toasts and other amusements closely following the feast will be over shortly after nine o'clock. After the toast list has been disposed of, music by the Rag-a-Jazz orchestra and vocal "ditties" by the University Quartet will top the evening's fun.

If the affair is to be what it has been in days gone by every ticket must be sold, and every man must be present to enter into the spirit of the occasion. The aim of the banquet is not only to honor the members of last season's gridiron team, but to imbue into every university man the true Cornhusker spirit which has been so characteristic of Nebraskans since the beginning of the school. The freshmen especially should be aroused to the recognition of the spirit of their alma mater. Members of the class of 1923 still have to learn the secrets of true Cornhusker feeling and enthusiasm. This they will learn in a bigger way Friday night than they have learned in the months which they have spent at the university. Every man actively connected with the university should uphold tradition Friday night and attend the banquet at the Lincoln.